EDDIE O'DONNELL'S SKULL FRACTURED IN TRAGIC AUTO RACE; SARLES WINS BATTLE

BY WARDE FOWLER.

Gaston Chevrolet, Speedway champion of America for 1920, was instantly killed at the Beverly Hills Speedway yesterday in one of the most sensational accidents ever seen on a motor race track. Eddie O'Donnell has a fractured skull and his mechanic, Lyall Jolls, is already dead as a result of the same accident. John Brenahan, Chevrolet's mechanic, came through with minor scratches and is practically unhurt.

Shortly before midnight Dr. Charles F. Nelson announced at the California Hospital that O'Donnell has a chance to recover. As soon as his condition warrants it the X-ray will be used on his head. His condition is very critical, butthere are no symptoms that he is getting worse.

While the leaders of the race were in their 162nd lap there was a ripping crash on the grandstand turn, a tangling of green and gray cars, the shocking splinter of heavy board timbers, and almost dead silence. Chevrolet and O'Donnell, traveling well over a hundred miles an hour, had touched axles on the fastest turn on the whole course, smashed to the outer rail, plunged down the steep incline and landed on the gravel edge of the track. Chevrolet and Jolls struck on their heads and their necks were broken.

Without a pause, the leaders continued the race, paying no attention to the wreckage on the course or the still machines on the edge.

Roscoe Sarles, driving a Duesenberg, No. 10, finished the forty laps of the race in the lead, and won at the rate of 102.2 miles per hour. His time for the 250 miles was 2h. 25m. 20s. He missed the world's record for a race of this kind by only fourtenths of a mile per hour. He went the full distance without a pit stop of any kind.

Eddie Miller, Duesenberg, No. 11, finished second, in 2h. 27m. 14s., at the rate of 102.5 miles per hour; Eddie Hearne, Duesenberg, No. 14, third; time 2h. 27m. 27s.; Jimmy Murphy, Duesenberg, No. 12, fourth; time, 2h. 31m. 41 4-5s. All other RACE VICTIMS' RECORDS.

Gaston Chevrolet, killed yesterday on the Speedway, was born at Deaunt, France, Oct. 26, 1892, coming to America in 1901. He was the youngest of three racing brothers and was a mechanic for two years before he demonstrated that he was a driver of merit, which he did at the 900-mile Memorial Day race at Cincinnati. In this race he finished third. He drove as an outlaw after this race, with several other prominent racing drivers, until he was reinstated in the ranks of the American Automobile Association pilots. He raced on many dirt tracks in 1917, winning many of the events and a place in others. He won the 900-mile race on the Indianapolis Speedway May 31, last, covering the distance in the best time in the history of that annual event. His speed averaged 88.16 miles an hour. His last race previous to yesterday was at Uniontown, Pa., September 9, last, where he took fifth place. His widow was a spectator of yesterday's tragedy.

Chevrolet was not connected with the Chevrolet Motor Company, as-

Mob, on Way Home from Memorial Mass for MacSwiney, Starts Riot.

The British Flag Still Flies When Fuss Ends; Dozen Are Injured.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—The usual quiet observance of Thanksgiving Day here was violently interrupted today when crowds who had attended a high requiem mass in memory of Terence MacSwiney rioted at the sight of a British flag decorating the home of the Union Club across the avenue from St. Patrick's cathedral.

After a fight participated in by hundreds of Irish sympathizers, during which plate glass windows of the club were shattered by missiles hurled by members of the mob, order was restored by 200 police who rushed to the fighting. The Union Jack, which was the cause of the assault, was torn down at the first demonstration of the crowds and subsequently replaced, still was draped from the sidewalk with the emblems of Ireland and the United States until the fighting ended.

The clamor of the first onslaught of the offending banner was at once stilled by the Right Rev. Michael J. Lavelle, rector of St. Patrick's, clad in his pontifical robes, rushed out

AMERICA DEMANDS RIGHTS IN FIRM NOTE TO BRITAIN

Colby Insists, as Factor in Winning the World War, We Can't be Debarred from Share in the Benefits.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—The American government has informed Great Britain politely, but firmly, that it does not propose to be excluded from participation in the rights and privileges secured under mandates provided in the treaties of peace. Furthermore, it expects to be heard regarding the terms of these mandates before they are put in force.

The position of the United States is set forth in a note by Secretary Colby to Earl Curzon, British Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, and the specific question discussed is that of the Mesopotamian petroleum fields. Mr. Colby's note, is dated November 20 and was made public today following its delivery to the British Foreign Office early this week. It is in reply to a British note of last August 9, which has never been made public and which deals with the application of the principles of equality of treatment to the territories of the Near East to be placed under British mandate.

TAKES ISSUE WITH BRITAIN.

The American note takes issue with what is described as the British position that mandate agreements and treaties are to be considered only by states that are members of the League of Nations. It states that the United States, as a participant in the World War "and a contributor to its successful issue, cannot consider any of the associated powers, the smallest not less than itself, debarred from discussion of any of its consequences, or from participation in the rights and privileges secured under the mandates provided in the treaties of peace."

Mr. Colby says in his note that the American government accepts the statement of the British government that it has refrained from exploiting the petroleum resources of the mandated territories in question, "and welcomes your pledges" that it is far from the intention of Great Britain to "establish any kind of monopoly or preferred proposition in its own interest."

SEEKS EQUAL TREATMENT.

"I need hardly refer again," Mr. Colby continued, "to the fact that the government of the United States has consistently urged that it is of the utmost importance to the future peace of the world that alien territory transferred as a result of the war with the Central Powers should be held and administered in such a way as to assure equal treatment to the commerce and to the citizens of all nations. Indeed, it was in reliance upon an understanding to this effect and expressly in contemplation thereof, that the United States was persuaded that the acquisition under mandate of certain enemy territory by the victorious powers would be consistent with the best interests of the world.

MUST NOT BAR AMERICA.

"It is assumed, accordingly, that your statements with reference to mandate A (not described,) together with the statement that the draft mandates for Mesopotamia and Palestine have been prepared with a view to secure equality of treatment for the commerce and citizens of all states which are members of the League of Nations, do not indicate a supposition on your part that the United States can be excluded from the benefits of the principle of equality of treatment."

Referring to the statement by the British government that the draft mandates for Mesopotamia and Palestine, which have been prepared, will, when approved by the interested Allied powers, be communicated to the Council of the League of Nations, the American Secretary of State says:

"The United States is, undoubtedly, one of the powers directly interested in the terms of the mandates, and I therefore request that the draft mandates be communicated to this government for its consideration before their submission to the council of the League."

Mr. Colby goes on to say that "it would seem essential that suitable publicity should be given to the drafts of mandates which it is the intention to submit to the Council, in order that the fullest opportunity

THOUSANDS TO STARVE.

Rations Must Go to the Fittest.

Blind, Halt, Lame and Old People Are Doomed, Says China Missionary.

Only 10,000 of 120,000 in One Chinese Province Can Escape Death.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ANPING (China) Nov. 25.—The first American relief supplies for the Chinese famine sufferers sent from Manila by American Army people, civilians and foreigners in the Philippines have reached this country town in Western Chih-Li, 200 miles from Tien-tsin.

All the 5410 sacks of grain and clothing are stored in the Confucian temple, which the Rev. F. J. Griffith obtained as a granary. Beginning December 1 the starving will be fed.

This food, with another supply, starting up the river November 15, will be used to keep alive 10,000 carefully selected persons in Anping county, where the destitution is placed at 70 per cent of the population. Dr. Griffith realizes that all the 120,000 starving cannot be saved and he refused to feed any he cannot carry through until the June harvest.

Also he realizes that the other stricken counties are entitled to share in further contributions. He has eliminated the lame, halt, blind, elderly and laborers and will feed only the farmer who has a house and some land to till. He says that it will be useless to save any life that will not be provided with land and tools to go on with.

WORK IS SYSTEMATIZED.

Dr. Griffith begins distribution on December 1 to his 10,000 people, representing 2000 families. The heads of these families come in every tenth day and receive a tendays' supply of grain.

Dr. Griffith's greatest trouble will begin a month hence when starvation really begins with the starving ready to storm the granary. He has but twenty soldiers to control the hungry hordes after he has closed the soup kitchen December 1. Some travel on foot seven miles to carry home a single bowl of gruel, which provides a whole family with their only meal of the day.

Massed in the inclosure of the Confucian temple where the kitchen is installed are many cases of smallpox in the most communicable stage.

In Tsienhsien, the next county to the east, but which is a little more accessible and where it is possible to receive later supplies, the destitution is 100 per cent.

In some parts of Chih-Li Province the whole population will be left

PLAN REVOLT IN GERMANY; LIFE OR DEATH ISSUE.

Radicals Threaten to Spill Blood; First Great Thrust Impends, Say Leaders; Many Take Part in Meetings.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

HALLE (Saxony) Nov. 25.—German radical leaders declare that a program has been prepared with the aid of prominent Russian Communists to start a revolution in Germany to set up a dictatorship of the proletariat. They say the attempt to overthrow the government will be made as soon as the more extreme element of the Independent Socialist party has perfected an organization which, in the opinion of their leaders, would have some chance of success.

The radicals promise that the outbreak will come probably late in the winter or early next spring. They are of divided opinions as to whether they can overturn the existing government, some of them saying the attempt probably will fail, others believing they will succeed, but all apparently are unanimous in the belief the effort should be made.

SOCIALISTS' TURN.

A number of leaders of the moderate wing of the Independent Socialists, who split with the left wing over the question of co-operating with the Third Internationale at Moscow to bring about the revolution, also express the opinion that there will be a serious attempt to oust the present government. One of these, a member of the Reichstag, in an address before a right wing conference, declared Bolshevism would sweep successfully over Germany, and that it could not be prevented. After it had come and failed, the Socialists would have their turn, he said.

The more moderate Socialists generally were of the opinion there could be no successful revolution at this time, and declared the German people would never submit to a "dictatorship of the proletariat" or co-operate with the Russians in a policy of terrorism and destruction to promote the cause of the proletariat. They appeared willing to seek the establishment of "a comradeship government of the working classes, by violence, if necessary, but were opposed to a dictatorship or a campaign of ruthlessness.

RADICALS ENTHUSIASTIC.

Differences between the two wings of the old party were sharply accentuated by the visiting representatives of the soviet regime, who defended terrorism on the ground of its necessity at the beginning of a revolution, and strongly supported the absolute dictatorship of the proletariat. Through these arguments the right wing Socialists sat silent, except when some statement greatly angered them, but the radicals exhibited the wildest enthusiasm. The galleries supported them with applause, and "The Internationale" frequently was sung by a chorus of hundreds who stood at attention until the martial music ceased.

Among the delegates on the convention floor and in the crowded galleries were many women and girls. These appeared to be about equally divided in their allegiance, but the supporters of the Moscow adherents were more demonstrative.

The speeches of the delegates often were interrupted by thin-voiced protests of girls wearing the red button of the revolutionaries. Women and girls always joined in the singing of the proletariat's anthem.

The dull-gray uniforms of former privates in the army were conspicuous in the galleries, and those who wore them all seemed to know the words of "The Internationale."

LEADERS VETERANS.

The more influential leaders of the extreme radicals are gray-haired, veteran Socialists, who have been closely identified with government circles since the first German revolution. Others are young and eloquent district labor leaders who have been brought into prominence since the war by strikes and industrial disturbances.

"We are willing to subscribe unconditionally to the 'red program' to establish the dictatorship of the proletariat," a young radical said to a correspondent. "We don't want to be moderate. We won't be. There will be enough killings in the next revolution to spread a wholesome terror among the bourgeoisie. A revolution cannot be accomplished in a soft-mannered fashion. Blood must flow, and we are willing to shed our share of it.

"It is life or death for the proletariat, and the issue here has been drawn."

Asked when he expected the revolution would begin, he answered: "I could give you dates and figures, but of course I won't."

The plan of the radical leaders is to form organizations in the several districts and have them prepared to co-operate when the call goes out.

Independent Socialists opposed to the Moscow program are planning to correspond with radicals of all nations who are opposed to ruthlessness and agree upon a plan of action if possible. The headquarters of both factions are in Berlin.

MANY DOOMED TO STARVATION.

to starve, this being particularly true of the hilly country around Tanghsein, twenty miles southeast of Paotingfu. There is very little grain there in ordinary years. Now the people subsist on a kind of pgis' food prepared from grain husks, beans, leaves and herbs which they let sour in water.

Already through lack of nourishment many people fainting on the wayside fall over cliffs and are never heard from again. Twice monthly, the first and the fifteenth, the people have a treat when some of the pigs' feed is dried and made into cakes. This is their only solid food. The fields are barren of green stuff and the outlook is hopeless.

A village elder in Thenshien vouchsafed the following: In some villages the horrors of starvation have become so great that men of respectability have turned brigands. One instance was the seizing of the eldest son of a rich family and holding him for a ransom of $1000. The family offered $800, but this was refused, and the next morning the body of the son was found cut in half and nailed to the panels of the main gate.

CHILDREN ARE KILLED.

Near Liukiahwang wells have been poisoned by the throwing of bodies of children therein. In this little town there is little green stuff and absolutely no grain. At Tsangachachaio the destitution is utter. The people are dying by hundreds and the cold weather has set in. By midwinter the population will be virtually wiped out.

SEEK STRAY ROOTS.

Only women and girls are seen. They are grubbing in the already barren fields in hope of finding stray roots.

At Anping, the situation is less acute than Tienshien, but it is very bad. The Rev. Li Tsun Lan, native Episcopal priest, says a market price prevails for girls 12 to 13 years old, who are carried off to the cities in South China. He lacks sufficient funds to start an orphanage.

Dr. Griffith hopes that the American people will send him sufficient grain, when the river traffic reopens in the spring, to assure his carrying 10,000 people through until harvest. But the other 10,000 must starve, he says.

"Death will come sooner or later for them all," he said. "Only the weaker are dying now, but the grim reaper will appear in a month. From then on the death rate will be very heavy.

"When starvation deaths really begin, those still living will be too weak to dig graves, and too poor to buy coffins. They will be left where they die. Then will pestilence follow. I can save but 10,000. It may sound brutal, but the other 10,000 must starve."

MOB OF IRISH HURL BRICKBATS

of the church and pleaded in vain with the leaders to quell the disturbance.

DOZEN SLIGHTLY HURT.

After mounted and motorcycle police had dispersed the assaulting forces, a survey of the field of battle revealed casualties including a dozen or more slightly injured who had been struck by flying brickbats. All windows on the lower floor of the club had been smashed.

Before the beginning of the MacSwiney mass, the attendance at which taxed the utmost capacity of the great cathedral, a delegation of Irish members of the congregation requested that the British flag be removed. The club superintendent complied, but later, on instructions from club officials, the flag was replaced.

When the service was over, the flag again caught the attention of belligerent members of the congregation, who were angered at its reappearance. Stones and bricks were obtained from a near-by building under construction and the attack began.

MOB HELD AT BAY.

A riot call at first brought only fifty police, all on foot. These fought desperately, using their nightsticks freely, but were powerless against the heavy odds. Only after the arrival of reinforcements of three times the original number did the officers succeed in driving back at attackers, who had been prevented from entering the building itself by determined club members and employees who manned the doors. Several women effected an entrance at one time, but were driven out before any damage was done to the interior of the building.

Monsignor Lavelle paid a tribute to the former Mayor of Cork, calling him a "man whose high record proclaims him just, whose deeds make him a hero among his fellows and wose nae will live inthee mem whose name will live in the memory of the world."

FIRM NOTE IS SENT BRITAIN.

may be afforded to consider their terms in relation to the obligations assumed by the mandatory power and the respective interests of all governments which are or deem themselves concerned or affected."

"The fact cannot be ignored," continued Mr. Colby, "that the reported resources of Mesopotamia have interested public opinion of the United States, Great Britain and other countries as a potential factor in the economic situation."

TEST OF GOOD FAITH.

"Because of that fact they become an outstanding illustration of the kind of economic question with reference to which the mandate principle was especially designed, and indeed a peculiarly critical test of the good faith of the nations which have given their adherence to the principle. This principle was accepted in the hope of obviating in the future those international differences that grow out of a desire for the exclusive control of the resources and markets of annexed territories."

Mr. Colby then frankly states that the American government finds difficulty in reconciling the special arrangement set forth in the so-called San Remo petroleum agreement between Great Britain and France with the British government's statement that the petroleum resources of Mesopotamia and freedom of action in regard thereto will be secured to the future Arab state, as yet unorganized.

CANNOT HARMONIZE VIEWS.

"Furthermore," he says, "it is difficult to harmonize that special arrangement with your statement that concessionary claims relating to these resources still remain in their prewar position and have yet to receive, with the establishment of the Arab state, the equitable consideration promised by his majesty's government.

"This government has noted in this connection a public statement of his majesty's minister in charge of petroleum affairs to the effect that the San Remo agreement was based on the principle that the concessions granted by the former Turkish government must be honored. It would be reluctant to assume that his majesty's government has already undertaken to pass judgment upon the validity of concessionary claims in the regions concerned, and to concede validity to certain of those claims which cover apparently the entire Mesopotamia area. Indeed, this government understands your note to deny having taken and to deny the intention to take any such ex parte and premature action.

CANNOT CONSTRUE PROVISION.

"In this connection, I might observe that such information as this government has received indicates that, prior to the war, the Turkish Petroleum Company, to which you make specific reference, possessed in Mesopotamia no rights to petroleum concessions or to the exploitation of oil; and in view of your assurance that it is not the intention of the mandatory power to establish on its own behalf any kind of monopoly, I am at a loss to understand how to construe the provision of the San Remo agreement that any private petroleum company which may develop Mesopotamian oil fields 'shall be under British control.'"

Referring to "some allusions" made in the original British note to American supremacy in the petroleum industry, Mr. Colby says that to correct a misapprehension "which your notes reflect," he will state that "the United States possesses only one-twelfth, approximately, of the petroleum resources of the world," and "that the oil resource of no other nation have been so largely drawn upon for foreign needs."

CORRECTS WRONG INFERENCE.

"But it is not these aspects of oil production and supply, in so far as they are of domestic interest to the United States with which I am concerned in this discussion," says the Secretary of State in conclusion. "I have alluded to them in order to correct confusing inferences liable to arise from certain departures, which I believe I discern in your lordship's communication, from the underlying principles of a mandate as evolved and sought to be applied by the Allied and associated powers to the territories brought under their temporary dominion by the joint struggle and common victory.

"This dominion will be wholly misconceived, not to say abused, if there is even the slightest deviation from the spirit and the exclusive purpose of a trusteeship as strict as it is comprehensive."

Madame will be terribly disappointed if you overlook your table for New Year's Eve at the Alexandria.—[Advertisement.

PAST RECORDS OF THE RACERS.

cording to Louis Franck, his brother-in-law, of Brooklyn. The dead racer was associated with an automobile company in Detroit at the outbreak of war, and after being conscripted was assigned to duty there where he served until discharged.

The Chevrolet brothers, Gaston and Louis, have been entrants in practically every important automobile race in the United States in the last two years. Gaston Chevrolet married Miss Marguerite Bueron of Brooklyn in 1916.

Eddie O'Donnell is a native of White water, Wis., 31 years old. In 1912 he began his racing career as a mechanician and drove in his first race at Kalamazoo, Mich., in 1914, winning second place in the 100-mile contest. He took second place in the Corona (Cal.) road race the same year. In 1915 he started in ten races and finished in nine, each time in the money. Twice he won first place and three times he was second. Twice he was third and twice he won fifth place. He won the Ascot Sweepstakes, the Corona and Fresno road races in 1916. At the Kansas City race, July 22, 1917, one of his arms was shattered in a smashup. In efforts to have it set right, it was rebroken on the operating table several times. He did not race again until last year when he drove in two rades at Sheepshead Bay, New York. He come in fourth in the one, July 4, and second in the one in September. This year O'Donnell was placed fifth in the 250-mile inaugural race on the Los Angeles Speedway, February 28, and third at Uniontown, June 15. In the Elgin road race, August 28, last, he finished fifth, and fourth in the Uniontown race on Labor Day.

Lyall Jolis, mechanician for O'Donnel, was a native of Illinois. He was 26 years old. His true name was Heden. When he entered the racing field he took the name of his step-father, Henry Jolis ,who, with his mother, lives in Detroit. Jolis enjoyed a wide acquaintance among automobile racing men in this section, and was a familiar figure at race meets. He was engaged to be married to Mrs. May A. Esch of 201 South Bonnie Brae street, according to a relative of the latter. It was Mrs. Esch who yesterday apprised Jolis's mother of his tragic death. Jolis's last race in California, prior to yesterday's local speedway contest, was at Fresno in September of this year. Before that time he had raced as a mechanician at Uniontown and other eastern tracks.

The brave little wife of Gaston Chevrolet, who had seen her daring and courageous husband win six races, was ever optimistic when he entered a race. Instead of depressing him by fears for his safety, she encouraged him. She loved to see his car whirl onto the track and speed like the wind in a race. She had confidence in his skill and the god of fortune.

"A nervous wife who is always fearful of an accident is a bad influence for a racer to have near him. I have always had perfect confidence in my husband's ability as a driver. Not once have I had the least fear for his safety."

This was Mrs. Chevrolet's expressed philosophy.

SARLES WINNER OF AUTO RACE.

contenders were flagged before they completed the race.

For almost 200 miles, the fastest motor cars in the world circled the course without even a hint of an accident. The leaders weren't even stopping at the pits, and everyone was marveling at the tremendous speed and apparent safety.

Roscoe Sarles crossed the tape in his 162d lap and flashed around the right turn at terrific speed. Less than a quarter of a lap behind him came a bunch of three cars, jockeying for position, and with engines turned up to their maximum capacity. They passed the grandstand in a close bunch, gathering speed all the way from the back turn, and shot into the right turn. Joe Thomas in his bright blue Frontenac, hit the lower edge of the turn well above the white safety mark. Behind him came Chevrolet, with every ounce of speed that his car possessed, trying to pass. And above them all, riding close to the top of the track, was Eddie O'Donnell, with more speed than any of them, and intent on passing them all.

THE ACCIDENT.

As Chevrolet drew up with Thomas, he swung slightly to pass his team-mate. But as he did so O'Donnell thundered up even with him on the top of the steep turn. For an instant there were only inches between the cars. Hands of steel could scarcely have held those machines so close together. The inevitable crash came. As Chevrolet was even with Thomas's mechanic he swerved, perhaps only an inch or so, to the right. His front wheel clicked against O'Donnell's flying Duesenberg.

As the cars hit, they slowed up and Joe Thomas rode through the tangle to safety. But Chevrolet and O'Donnell were tangled and the terrible speed swung the machines in a half circle. As they came apart the gray Duesenberg was thrown directly down the track on its side and smashed into the gravel safety edge of the course. Chevrolet was thrown in the opposite direction, crashing into the heavy timber guard rail on the upper edge of the track. He struck the rail and demolished it for a distance of fifty feet, but did not clear the top. The car seemed to turn and, as it rolled over, fell toward the inside of the course. It landed a hundred feet from the Duesenberg wreck on the gravel edge.

Sitting close to the engine and with very little protection of any sort Chevrolet was crushed with the staggering machine. His mechanic, away from the wheel, had a chance in a thousand, and won it. He was thrown clear of the wreck and escaped with slight injuries.

Eddie O'Donnell was clamped behind the wheel and though alive when picked up, he had been through Chevrolet's experience. Lyall Jolis, O'Donnell's mechanic, lost the thousand-to-one shot and died.

Chevrolet was dead when a policeman picked him up. Jolis died ten minutes after he was taken to the field hospital. O'Donnell received a fractured skull, internal injuries and numerous lacerations over his legs and arms and possible internal [illegible]. Bresnahan, mechanician for [illegible], escaped as by a miracle.

Mrs. Ollie O'Donnell, wife of the driver, accompanied by a friend, a woman, who witnessed the fatal collision, fainted and was carried to the emergency hospital.

Chevrolet's little Airedale dog, which he always carried on the floor of his racing car to ward off cold, was crushed to pieces.

Dick Ferries, promoter of the Thanksgiving Day races, was moved by the cots of the injured men and with tears in his eyes, ordered them to console their friends and relatives.

Bresnahan, the least injured of the four racers, lay crying on his cot.

"I wish the other boys were as well off as I am," he said. "If we were I'd be tossing dice with you tonight."

Manhattan SHIRTS

"KNOWN AS THE BEST—THE BEST KNOWN"

Whenever a man wants the very best shirt that's made, he invariably asks for a Manhattan. Men all over this country have learned that a Manhattan shirt is worth two or three of another kind, simply because they know that the Manhattan Shirt Company knows shirts from neckband to tail, that they use fabrics woven for them exclusively in their own mills and that the most careful attention is paid to such generally neglected details as the tight sewing on of buttons, the finishing of button holes, the proper sleeve lengths and cuff widths.

Not all men like the same make of hat, or shoes, but we've noticed that most all men agree that Manhattan shirts are "The Best Known" and "Known as the Best." We've just reduced the prices on all Manhattan shirts—which means a big saving to you in doing your Christmas shopping.

GODOWSKY LISTENS TO GODOWSKY—THE ARTRIO ANGELUS

Famous thruout the musical world as an artist of the widest possible scope is Leopold Godowsky. As a symphonic artist with orchestra in the interpretation of the great concertos of Tschaikowsky, Chopin, Brahms and Schumann, Godowsky, perhaps, knows no equal.

Like many other great pianists, Godowsky finds supreme enjoymeht and satisfaction in listening to his own interpretations reproduced on the Artrio Angelus. For it he has recorded a large number of the works of the Great masters, thereby trusting to the Artrio Angelus a reputation that has been attained by a lifetime of effort. Could there be any greater testimonial to its supreme qualities?

Thru the Artrio, Godowsky will play to you at our stores at any time. We shall be happy to afford you the pleasure of hearing him thru his chosen medium for the perpetuation of his art. You will be made quite welcome.

SURVIVOR'S STORY.

"Joe Thomas was ahead," said Bresnahan, as he lay in the hospital beside the bodies of Chevrolet and Jolls, "and we wanted to pass him. Joe was above the white line, naturally, every car uses that particular turn to make speed and pass the rival cars, for it is there that the greatest speed is made on the turns.

"We were just winding up to pass Joe and started around him, but Eddie O'Donnell probably thought he could pass both of us. Anyway, when three cars are above the white one of them hasn't much of a chance. Eddie comes up and hits our rear and shot us into the rail. Then the crash came and I don't know what happened after that."

O'Donnell's car shot about 300 feet ahead of Chevrolet's car, turning twice over the body of Jolls, and landed at the base of the hill, bottom-side up. Both cars were reduced to heaps of junk.

All four men were lying about 50 feet from the point of the crash. When Patrolman W. D. Porter picked up his body, Chevrolet was dead. Bresnahan arose to his feet, crying. O'Donnell and Jolls both were lying a few feet from the battered wreck of their car. When Patrolman Allen picked up the body of O'Donnell he thought that he was dead. Ambulances, which rushed through the swarming throngs to the scene, carried O'Donnell and Jolls to the emergency hospital. Jolls died within ten minutes. The pulmotor was applied to O'Donnell, but he failed to regain consciousness.

Drs. K. C. Gummess and C. E. Nelson stated that O'Donnell had received a fractured skull, two fractures of the left arm, possible internal injuries and numerous lacerations over his legs and body. He was rushed to the California Hospital as rapidly as the congested roads would permit.

Mrs. Ollie O'Donnell, wife of the driver, accompanied him. Another woman, who witnessed the terrible collision, fainted and was also treated at the emergency hospital.

Chevrolet's little Kewpie mascot, which he always carried on the front of his racing car to ward off disaster, was crushed to pieces.

Dick Ferrier, promoter of the Thanksgiving Day races, remained by the cots of the injured men, and with tears in his eyes, endeavored to console their friends and families.

Bresnahan, the least injured of the four racers, lay crying on his cot.

Pennsylvania System

As rapidly as possible since the railroads have been turned back to private ownership by the government, the different systems have been re-establishing themselves in the more important cities.

The great Pennsylvania System has recently opened up a District Office in the Van Nuys Building, and because of inability to secure more adequate quarters at this time, both the Passenger and the Freight Departments are occupying the same rooms.

Frederick Webb is the District Passenger Representative and Edwin Linthicum the District Freight Representative of the Pennsylvania System.

The equipment of the "Pennsy" has always been proverbially "the best," and this applies to office furnishings as well. What more natural than that "Weber" furniture should be selected for the local requirements of this vast railway organization?

GREEK PRINCES BACK IN ARMY.

Constantine Says Foreign Policy Will be Unchanged.

French and British Premiers to Consider Action.

Former King Expects America to be Favorable to Him.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ATHENS, Nov. 25.—Parliament will meet three days after the plebiscite on the return of former King Constantine, December 5. Queen Mother Olga will read the speech from the throne, it was announced today. It is anticipated the Venizelists will raise the question of the legality of her regency, declaring that, according to the constitution, only Parliament can select a regent.

Princes Andreas and Christopher, brothers of King Constantine, who arrived in Athens Tuesday, are guests at Tatoi and have been reinstated as officers in the Greek army. Prince Nicholas and the princesses will arrive Sunday and be quartered in the old palace of King George in Constitution Square, which has been refitted.

It is stated that Prince Christopher will buy a new palace if his wife, who before their marriage was Mrs. William B. Leeds of New York, arrives. The palace occupied by the late King Alexander has been reserved for Constantine.

NO CHANGE IN POLICY.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LUCERNE (Switzerland) Nov. 25. Former King Constantine of Greece has officially notified England, France and Italy that he plans no change in the foreign policy of Greece and that any possible government of Greece will continue the friendly attitude of the country toward the Allies.

Constantine's notification was sent through Prof. Streeit, former Greek Foreign Minister and close friend of Constantine.

TROOPS LOYAL TO EX-KING.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LUCERNE (Switzerland) Nov. 25.—Gen. Papaoulas, commander of the Greek army in Smyrna, has sent a telegram to former King Constantine saying the Greek troops are awaiting Constantine's leadership for fresh victories. Constantine replied today, expressing his gratitude for the loyalty of the troops and saying he expects Greek military traditions to be carried out for the benefit and glory of Greece.

Members of Constantine's suite said today they expected the new American administration to be favorable to Constantine's return.

ITALY TO STAND ALOOF.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ROME, Nov. 24.—If France and England decide to intervene in Greece, Italy must stand aloof in order to remain faithful to the principle of self-determination, says the Messagero, it being stated here that the article was "evidently inspired." It says Italy must respect this principle, upon which her foreign policy is based, and that, in addition, she is not among the powers which in 1832 became protectors of that country. Therefore, she has no right to intervene in the dynastic affairs of that nation.

"Italy cannot agree to intervention," the article continues, "and cannot violate the will of Greece for the return of Constantine."

SHIPS TO MANEUVER OFF SAN FRANCISCO.

DETACHMENT OF PACIFIC FLEET WILL ENGAGE IN DRILL NEXT WEEK.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—Seven battleships, a cruiser and eighteen destroyers of the Pacific Fleet will participate in maneuvers westward of San Francisco Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, according to an announcement today by Rear-Admiral N. C. Twining, Chief of Staff of the Pacific Fleet.

The maneuvers will include progressive drills in cruising formation, in changing front, in changing line of bearing, deployments and battle approach; exercises in signals and communications; gunnery training, submarine protective screens by destroyers, exercises in forming scouting line and scouting by destroyers, night destroyer search and attack, enemy reports by destroyers and tactics.

Rear-Admiral Twining, discussing reports of the maneuvers, said that no arrangement has been made by which the coast defenses of San Francisco are to participate in the maneuvers, nor is any simulated or constructive attack on San Francisco contemplated.

MEMOIRS BARE WORLD SECRETS.

Amazing Witte Revelations Will Appear Exclusively in "The Times."

Astounding secrets of nations, of rulers and of diplomats, revealing the true and bizarre background of the World War and the Bolshevik revolution, were told by Count Sergius Witte, former Premier of Russia, in memoirs which were dramatically saved from the destruction the Czar had planned for them, and will be published in The Times exclusively in this city. The first installment of these unique revelations will appear next Sunday.

The memoirs are recognized as one of the greatest single contributions ever made to world history. They form, besides, a human document of the most intense and gripping interest.

LIVING WAGE IS NEARLY $3000.

Costs New York Family of Five $2632.68 a Year to Live, Says Union Head.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—A living wage for a family of five in New York City now is $2632.68, it was estimated today by John P. Mines, president of the Printing Press and Feeders' Union, in presenting demands for an increase of wages in the printing trade.

Expenditures were itemized as follows:

Food, $871.80.
Clothing, $529.96.

YOUR SOCIAL WELFARE WORRIES IOWA SENATOR

KENYON TO INTRODUCE BILL CALLING FOR SOCIAL WELFARE DEPARTMENT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Creation of a department of social welfare to safeguard and promote the social welfare of the people of the United States is provided for in a bill prepared by Senator Kenyon, of Iowa, for introduction at the coming session of Congress. The head of the department will be a member of the Cabinet.

The new department would have transferred to its jurisdiction the Public Health Service and the hygienic laboratory, now under the treasury; the Bureau of Education from the Department of Interior; the Children's Bureau, Women's Bureau, the Bureau of Industrial Housing and Immigration, the United States Employment Service and the United States Employees' Commission, now under the Labor Department, and the office of Home Economics from the Department of Agriculture.

The bill also would authorize the President to transfer to the department at any time the whole or any part of any bureau, office or other division or branch of the public service engaged in work relating to the social welfare of the people.

An assistant secretary of social welfare, to be appointed by the President at a salary of $5000 per year also is provided for under the bill.

TITTONI PLANS TO RETURN TO ROME.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

ROME, Nov. 25.—(Havas.) Tomasso Tittoni, head of the Italian delegation to the League of Nations Assembly in Geneva, will return to Rome to take part in the Senate's discussion of the Rapallo Treaty with Jugo-Slavia.

Signor Tittoni, who is president of the Senate, will be replaced by Signor Schanzer, who now is in Greece.

SPAIN PLANS TAX ON ARTICLES OF LUXURY.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

MADRID, Nov. 25.—The Minister of Finance today declared his intention of taking immediate action concerning an increase in customs tariffs on articles of luxury, probably by means of a royal decree, in order to restore the balance of trade which at present is unfavorable.

JAPS SCALE DOWN ARMY ESTIMATES.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

TOKIO, Nov. 25.—Military estimates for the next fiscal year, prepared by the War Department, total $115,000,000, a decrease of $5,000,000 over the present period.

The expansion of the aerial service is provided for, but otherwise there is a general scaling down.

"Music is the Spirit of Christmas"

The "Wonder Instrument" for Their Gift—

the World-Renowned DUO-ART Reproducing Piano

What could be more welcome in a family of music lovers than a magnificent Duo-Art Reproducing Piano? It is an instrument that opens wide the doors to the best in the musical world—it brings the genius of the world's greatest pianists to their very fireside. The giver is amply rewarded in the knowledge that his offering is the supreme instrument in the musical world today.

The unduplicated performance of the Duo-Art, when it acted as solo instrument for such famous musical organizations as the Symphony Orchestras of New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, San Francisco, Cleveland, Cincinnati and Detroit, under the direction of such great directors as Damrosch, Stokowski, Hertz and De Lamarter, has set a precedent that no instrument of its kind has ever been able to attain.

In addition to exclusively reproducing the genius of such great pianists as Paderewski, Bauer, Ganz, Hofmann and scores of others, the Duo-Art may be played by hand or as a Pianola.

Let us show you this wonderful instrument in the famous Weber and Steck grand models. It is also obtainable in Steinway, Wheelock and Stroud pianos, grand or upright styles, at prices beginning at $920. A nominal deposit will hold any instrument for Christmas delivery and you may pay for it on liberal terms.

CLOSE DOOR TO RED AGITATORS.

Government Using Caution in Viseing Passports.

Radicals Use Many Schemes to Seek Entry.

Some Gain Admittance by False Seaman Papers.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

THE HAGUE, Nov. 25.—American diplomatic officials abroad who are in possession of evidence of propaganda schemes originating in Moscow are opposed to any attempt to abandon the United States passport and vise systems now in operation. This is because they are convinced that the Russian soviet government has been attempting to send hundreds of dangerous agitators to the United States.

War-time passport regulations have been considerably modified, both for Americans and foreigners seeking American vises, in the past few months and every attempt will be made, it was said, to make travel as easy as possible abroad next summer. But the evidence which has accumulated during the past few months indicates a determined effort by the Bolshevik government to spread its jurisdiction to America, and the diplomatic officials do not wish to surrender their most potent safeguard against it—passport control.

SIMPLE PROCEDURE.

"So far as the would-be emigrant is concerned," one American official said, "things have just been so simplified for him that, in ten minutes time, providing his own government considers him a worthy subject and has so evidenced this by giving him a passport, he can answer all the questions we want to know about him. If he is satisfactory, he can get his vise the same day and be on his way to the United States speedily.

"The American traveling abroad will get all the assistance possible to give him. If he frets because of the necessity of securing vises from various other consulates, if he wishes to visit several countries and objects to frontier inspections, he must remember that perhaps the man who sat next to him in the railway car was a Bolshevik or an anarchist, en route some place with a bomb, who might be stopped at the frontier before he could throw the bomb.

"Americans coming abroad will save themselves much difficulty if, just as they go to the bank before leaving to get a letter of credit, they will secure at foreign consulates in American vises permitting them to enter all the countries they wish to visit."

NERVY REDS.

While most of the Bolshevik agents en route to America seek to get through on false seamen's certificates or by other surreptitious means, according to American officials here, there are a number of nervy ones who appear at American passport bureaus from time to time and request legitimate fees.

During a recent week at an American passport bureau in Holland, out of twenty-five persons refused vises four were known to be revolutionary agitators and three were international criminals.

The United States Surgeon-General's office has recently established at some of the big embarkation ports in Europe bureaus of sanitary inspection and quarantine, which, cooperating with the local medical authorities, seek to prevent diseased emigrants from going to the United States.

"The whole effort," one official said, "is, by passport control and medical inspection, to control the situation on this side, thus relieving Ellis Island and the other immigrant stations at home of much work."

CROWDS WITNESS THE FUNERAL OF DEPUTY.

HUNDRED THOUSAND THRONG STREET AS ITALIAN'S BODY, SLAIN IN RIOT, PASSES.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BOLOGNA (Italy) Nov. 25.—Nearly 100,000 persons witnessed the funeral of Deputy Giordana, the Constitutionalist, who was slain during the riot at the municipal hall on Sunday. The wife and mother of the dead man followed the hearse and as they passed along the street many weeping women kissed their hands.

The Nationalists have removed the nameplate from a street called by the Socialist administration after Sparataous, substituting for it a plate bearing the inscription "Giordana Street." In revenge, Socialists fired a dozen revolver shots at street car employees who declared themselves anti-Socialists while passing along this avenue. There were no casualties.

Police officers have searched the house of Martelli, a Communist leader who was arrested yesterday, and declare they found books showing bank deposits of 40,000 lire, Martelli is alleged to have attended Sunday's meeting carrying a basket which contained bombs covered with napkins.

LOW COTTON PRICES HURT CAIRO TRADE.

EGYPTIAN BUSINESS PARALYZED; BANKS FACE LARGE MERCHANDISE DEFICIT.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Nov. 25.—Continued fall in cotton prices is helping to paralyze Egyptian business, say a Cairo dispatch to the Central News under Wednesday's date. Banks are faced with a large deficit on merchandise, and the situation has been aggravated by unsettled conditions in the cotton industry in America.

The critical stage is expected to be reached within the next two months, the dispatch adds. If banks give necessary assistance without taking precipitate action, commercial stability is confidently expected early in the new year.

CO-OPERATIVE WHEAT MARKET PROPOSED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CALGARY (Alberta) Nov. 25.—Co-operative marketing of Canada's wheat crop through a farmers' pool was proposed here today in an outline drawn up by a committee of the Canadian council of agriculture.

Under the proposed plan, which embraced half of Canada's wheat territory, or about 8,500,000 acres, a board of representatives of grain growers' organizations would control distribution and prices of the 1921 crop. Contract holders will bind themselves to sell wheat only through the pool for a period of five years.

SHORTAGE IS FOUND; ORDERS BAND CLOSED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

COALGATE (Okla.) Nov. 25.—The Citizens' State Bank of Coalgate was closed yesterday by Fred Dennis, State Commissioner, following discovery of an alleged shortage of more than $300,000 in the bank's funds. Roy H. Hotchkiss, vice-president of the institution and formerly a State bank examiner, has been arrested, charged with operating an insolvent bank. He is under $5000 bond.

EXCITEMENT FATAL TO DENVER GROCER.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

DENVER, Nov. 25.—William F. Surber, 38, a grocer, fell dead from excitement today at Broadway Park when Fred Harsh, of the South Denver High School football team broke through the East Denver eleven and ran ninety yards for a touchdown.

The schools were playing for the city high school championship, which South Denver won, 27 to 0.

FITZGERALD

No Lower Edison Prices

May be Expected for at Least ten Years to Come

The price you pay now at Fitzgerald's for the New Edison is the lowest price for which anyone will be able to secure the instrument anywhere—at least for the next ten years.

This opinion is expressed by William Maxwell, vice-president and general manager of Thomas A. Edison, Inc., in a signed statement just issued—a statement that means much to you in the protection of your investment.

The price of

is on a permanent basis because it is on the RIGHT basis—it will not be possible, for at least ten years, to produce Edison quality for less than the present Edison prices.

Owing to the limited number of New Edison instruments available an early selection is advisable. Come in and hear the New Edison or let us send it to your home or the home of some friend, for a demonstration.

Rumania and Greece Fight Admission to League.

Council Asks Wilson to Mediate in Armenia.

Smaller Nations Insisting on Influential Role.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

GENEVA, Nov. 25.—Serbia, Rumania and Greece today formally notified the Assembly of the League of Nations that they are opposed to the admission of Bulgaria to the League.

The Council of the League of Nations today cabled President Wilson, at the same time as messages of the same purport were sent to the various powers, asking whether he will accept the role of mediator between Mustapha Kemal Pasha, the Turkish nationalist leader, and the Armenians.

Committee meetings again featured today's session of the Assembly of the League of Nations.

LINES OF CLEAVAGE.

Distinct lines of cleavage seem to be making their appearance at the meeting of the Assembly, delegates from the smaller nations insisting that the countries they represent should play an influential role in the work of the Assembly and the Council of the League.

Honorio Pueyrredon, foreign minister of Argentina, is one of the leaders in demanding that smaller nations should elect four members of the Council of the League, and he seems to have the support of a numbers of influential delegations. Sweden, Norway and Denmark evidently purpose to take the floor of the Assembly and fight for amendments to the covenant of the League.

MAY ADMIT AUSTRIA.

Austria is the only former enemy state which is likely to be admitted to the League without serious opposition. The majority of members of the subcommittee dealing with applications of Austria, Bulgaria, Albania and Lichtenstein, presided over by Lord Robert Cecil, are said to favor the admission of Bulgaria, but the Rumanians and Jugo-Slavs have declared they will fight against it, asserting that the entrance of Bulgaria into the League now would create a grave complication. This has been interpreted by some of the delegates as a menace that they will quit the League if outvoted.

The Montenegrin government is industriously circularizing the delegations and press representatives in support of its application for admission to the League, of which neither the Council nor the committee on new members have thus far taken notice, Montenegro being considered a part of the Serbian-Croation-Slovene state.

COAL MINERS' STRIKE IN COAHUILA ENDED.

MEXICANS ACCEPT GOVERNMENT TERMS OF 20 PER CENT WAGE INCREASE.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

EAGLE PASS (Tex.) Nov. 25.—The strike of coal miners in the State of Coahuila was ended today when the strikers returned to work on the Mexican government terms, according to reports received here.

The terms accepted by the strikers include a wage increase of 20 per cent. The strikers, about 11,000, quit work October 11 when their demands for a 100 per cent wage advance were refused.

Recently the Mexican government intervened on the ground that the strike was injuring Mexican industry and ordered mine operators to grant a 20 per cent increase. Two weeks ago the strikers seized several mines in the Monclova district and announced the properties would be operated by the workers. Federal troops were sent into the district and subsequently the mines were returned to their owners.

Recent reports of disorders in the affected area have not been confirmed, but many Americans in the district came to Eagle Pass at the suggestion of Mexican officials, after reports were circulated that the striking Mexicans objected to the presence of foreigners.

PLAN SETTLEMENT OF WATER DISPUTE.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

VISALIA, Nov. 25. — Representatives of the Kaweah River Irrigation district accepted appointment last night to the State Irrigation Association "Marshall Plan" advisory board, thus laying the first possible foundation for a settlement of the water dispute between Kaweah delta farmers and the Lindsay-Strathmore irrigation district.

The trial has been in court four years. The Lindsay-Strathmore growers already are members of the advisory committee and will work toward a general irrigation plan.

PRESIDENT PARDONS OPERATOR OF STILL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—President Wilson granted a pardon today to John F. Schweinsberg, who pleaded guilty several weeks ago in Cincinnati, to a charge of operating a liquor still. Schweinsberg was sentenced to serve six months in jail.

The court and prosecuting attorney recommended he be pardoned on the ground that he had been making liquor only for his own use, and was ignorant of the law.

SIXTY-NINE BARRELS OF WINE ARE SEIZED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MARTINEZ, Nov. 25.—Sixty-nine barrels of wine, valued at $10,500 were seized today at the Union Club at Bay Point by Deputy Internal Revenue Collector Henry, for violation of the Federal license tax law.

The club is owned by Peter Mamouras.

"THEY MAKE 'EM ANY GREENER?" THEY SURE DO NO SECH THING; SKUNK IS FOND OF MAGISTRATE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Nov. 25.—The Coconino Sun, under a caption, "Do They Make Them Greener Than This?" tells of a hunter who brought into Flagstaff the forepaw of a large bear, wanting to know whether he had shot a possum or a skunk.

At Glendale a Russian, whose wagon had broken down, calmly appropriated a wheel from another wagon that had been left near a cotton gin, had a blacksmith help him mount the wheel and went on his way. He has been advised by the courts that Bolshevik methods are not countenanced in Arizona.

Sheriff Harrington at Flagstaff searched far and wide for a stolen automobile, only to find the machine had been left just in the rear of his own home.

A Tucson negress was successful in her second attempt to break from jail, through a window, with a fifteen-foot drop to the sidewalk. In a few hours she reappeared, asking to be locked up again.

H. G. Franse, an Ajo poultryman, dissatisfied with his return of nine eggs a day from thirty-one laying hens, has brought his daily receipts up to an average of fifteen eggs. He has placed in his hen roost an alarm clock that not only awakens the flock well before the first dawning of day, but also turns on a 100-candlepower incandescent lamp. As a result, the hens begin to stir about a couple of hours before the former arising time, with a net result of more eggs.

In Jerome, Justice of the Peace Hughes went out with other officers of the law and participated in the capture of a bunch of bootleggers, a still, much "white mule" and a quantity of "mash." But the real item was furnished by the judge, who was stationed at a strategic point in a hen house, where he was joined by a large and friendly specimen of the cat tribe, genus Mephitis Americana. So the judge sat very still and the skunk, after a few moments, left the magistrate alone.

AMERICAN LEGATION RAISES OIL QUESTION.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

THE HAGUE, Nov. 25. — The American Legation here has taken up with the Washington government the question of the virtual barring of American oil interests from the Djambi oil fields in the Dutch East Indies if the Dutch Parliament approves the bill already introduced in Parliament under which the Batavia Oil Company, one of the Dutch group, would gain an exclusive concession.

The Batavia company is 60 per cent Dutch and 40 per cent British. The American principle of the "open door" recently expressed in regard to the Anglo-French oil situation in Mesopotamia, may apply in this case, it is said here.

FRANCE WANTS CRIMEA PACT.

Leygues to Submit Suggestions to Great Britain.

Favors Return to the Old Franco-British Policy.

Kemal Would Rule Turkey Subject to Provisions.

BY MAURICE LE CLERC.
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, Nov. 25.—I have learned from a most reliable source, the suggestions which the French Foreign Minister Leygues will submit to the British government on the Greek-Turkish questions during the conversations, which will probably begin on Sunday.

Greece being no longer trusted with the custody of Allied interests, in the Eastern Mediteranean, France will suggest the return to the old Franco-British policy of the Crimean war through direct collaboration with restored Turkey, Mustapha Kemal Pasha, being considerd the new Turkish leader.

TO APPROACH KEMAL.

Without official cancellation of the Turkish treaty, Kemal would be approached at once, under some pretext and probably by the League of Nations on the Armenian question. He would be told that, subject to his repudiation of his Pan-Islamic aims and co-operations with the Bolshevists, and subject to his promise to re-establish the old Turkish form of government with Franco-British financial advisers, the Entente—or at least France—would not object to his taking control of Constantinople and reconquering certain parts of pre-war Turkey as Smyrna and Adrianople, which were handed over to Greece by the treaty of Sevres.

NO HELP FOR GREECE.

No help would be given Greece to retain these occupations, and neither would be occupation of Constantinople by the Kemalists be approved immediately, but recognition of the new de facto government would come later.

The Armenian-Cilician questions could be considered on the following basis: Armenia would keep its self-government with Franco-British advisers, its military neutrality being guaranteed by Turkey, France would evacuate Cilicia, compensation for this being an extensive French protectorate over all Christians in Asia Minor.

OPENING MADE.

These views are to be gradually presented to the British government by M. Berthelot, director of the French Foreign Office today, and by M. Leygues on Saturday, if the first suggestion has not been fully dismissed. An unofficial opening has already been made through diplomatic channels.

The financial interests in Turkey, whose regrets for the old Turkish regime are well-known, have been most busy for the last few months trying to prepare some combination such as the above.

The first manifestations of British opinion, however, make it most improbable that the proposals will be accepted. British views inclining toward the execution of the drafted treaty with Greek co-operation even if Constantine is on the throne.

RELEASE OF MEXICAN RAIDERS IS BLOCKED.

PARDONED BY GOVERNOR, BUT WRIT OF MANDATE HOLDS THEM IN PRISON.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SANTA FE (N. M.) Nov. 25.—A writ of mandamus yesterday prevented release of sixteen Mexican raiders from State prison on pardons granted Monday by Gov. Larrazolo.

Albert W. Clancy of Santa Fe obtained the writ, on charges that the pardons were illegally granted in that they were not first submitted to the State Board of Pardons.

The Mexicans were sentenced for complicity in the Columbus raid by Francisco Villa in March, 1916. They were captured on Gen. Pershing's punitive expedition into Mexico and returned to the United States, fifteen pleading guilty to second-degree murder and one being convicted of murder in the first degree and sentenced to die. Sentence was commuted to five imprisonment.

JAP CONSUL FLEES FROM BANDIT FORCE.

RESIDENTS AT CHANG-TE, MANCHURIA, RUN WHEN CHINESE APPEAR.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

TOKIO, Nov. 25.—Reports today from Seoul, Korea, state that the Japanese Consul at Chang-te, Manchuria, has fled to Keizan with the Japanese inhabitants of Chang-te, owing to the presence of 800 Chinese bandits.

The Chinese inhabitants of Chang-te, according to the reports, declare the unrest in the region is due to the punitive operations of the Japanese force which recently entered Chinese territory to operate against Chinese bandits. They threaten a massacre of the Japanese residents as a retaliatory measure.

LAWS NEED ENFORCEMENT--TAFT

Disrespect of Legislation Makes Mockery—Wave of Crime Discussed—Some Innocent Must Suffer or Law Books May as Well Be Burned.

BY WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT.

Every constant reader of the news- has brought it out recently—per of today must be impressed though any examination of them by the number of felonious crimes for decades past would show the daily report. Homicide, bur- same thing—that a distressingly low glary and robbery are so frequent percentage of the crimes committed that victims of them lose sensation- result in the conviction and punish-ally. They prompt an intelli- ment of the offenders, and the pergence, however, to ask their centage is lower in cases of homifriends then to inquire whether cides and the attempts to commit murderers are being apprehended suicide than in crimes committed and prosecuted to conviction against property.
and punishment.

We have prided ourselves on being a law-abiding people, but we must admit we have lost ground in this respect. We are always in a hurry than the first. The sta- hurry When we hear of a crime we tistics of Fosdick and Raymond say that the man must be arrested and punished. Gradually our interest wanes, as the delay incident to apprehension and trial lengthens the distance of time between us and our first sensation. The man whom he killed is dead or the property which he stole is lost.

CONSCIENCE DULLS.

Other crimes which have been committed since that are the sensation of the hour and public interest in respect to the first crime lessens and the public conscience in respect to it is dulled. After awhile it is left to the convenience of the prosecuting officers and to the often maudlin mercy of a jury under the appeals of counsel who make the worst appear the better reason, and the prosecution fails.

Legislatures by specific enactment deprive the court of the power to aid the jury in its deliberation, to neutralize the effect of false appeal to it, and thus a bloody-handed mur-derer or a bold and defiant thief escapes the penalty needed to discourage crime in the community and to which the public, whose interests are always forgotten, is therefore entitled.

Delay in prosecution is the great refuge of criminals.

The present wave of crime is doubtless one of the sequels of the war. Four millions of men were taken from their usual means of livelihood and their places filled, now they have been thrown back upon the community. A small percentage of them have been stranded and are unable or unwilling to find work. This is a fruitful source of crime. The reaction from this war, like all wars, has, too, a demoralizing effect upon the moral restraints of the community itself, tempting to violation of law.

RIDICULOUS EXTREME.

For years the administration of the criminal law in many of our State courts has been humiliatingly inefficient and a real disgrace to our civilization. The theory that ninety-nine guilty men should escape rather than that one innocent man should be punished has been carried in practice to a ridiculous extreme.

The prosecuting machinery of the law is of human construction and must sometimes err in undue severity and in the punishment of innocent persons. If we insist that we shall not have prosecutions without absolute insurance that no accused person shall be unjustly dealt with, then we must give up prosecution altogether and have no criminal law.

The innocent man who suffers injustice under a properly framed code of criminal procedure is a sacrifice to a public cause, as clear as any martyr. We must recognize that the restraint of crime is essential to society, even though in securing it there may be in rare instances innocent victims.

DISRESPECT OF LAW.

We are suffering from over-enthusiasm in the devising of criminal laws to make people good and to reach results that cannot in the nature of things be attained in this way. The failure to enforce these laws always adds to the disrespect for law and greatly enlarges a class of violators of law immune from prosecution. For a time, at least, this must be the effect of prohibition laws. I am not discussing the wisdom of prohibition ultimately, but certainly during the outset of this new national policy we are witnessing a demoralization that calls loudly for a sterner enforcement of the law. Illicit manufacture and dealing in liquors extended through the community draws in its train all other forms of crime. This may be one of the reasons for the present dreadful statistics brought out by Mr. Fosdick.

POPULAR CLAMOR.

The time to give effect to popular opinion and to have proper regard to it is when laws are passed, not when they are being enforced. It is the possibility of enforcing them that legislators should consider in enacting them. Prosecutors are bound by their oaths to disregard a popular clamor which opposes enforcement.

The scope of the subject is such that an article like this cannot do it justice. But one may say this:

That there is no opportunity for reform so great and no need of reform so crying as the change of our procedure in the prosecution of criminals. In the humiliating contrast between those accused of crime in England, a country having the same common law as ours, the same guarantees of personal liberty, and the trials in many of the State courts of this country, we may find a reason to moderate our national pride.

THANKSGIVING IS OBSERVED BY CAPITAL.

Washington Quiet, Business Suspended; San Quentin Convicts Get Turkey.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Practical suspension of the nation's business marked the observance of Thanksgiving Day in Washington today. The closing of all public offices and most of the private institutions and places of business gave the capital a holiday aspect, but there were no public functions. Most of the Cabinet officers followed the example of President Wilson and spent the day quietly at home after attending church services.

President Wilson planned to spend the morning on the south portico of the White House, with a possible short drive in the afternoon. In the evening, with Mrs. Wilson, he will be the host to a few relatives at a turkey dinner.

MANY ATTEND MASS.

The nations of North and South America were urged not to rely on their innate might and ability but on the principles resting on eternal justice and a recognition of divine sovereignty by Monsignor Thomas, rector of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, in a sermon delivered today at the twelfth annual Pan-American mass.

The services at St. Patrick's, held annually on Thanksgiving Day, were attended by a number of members of the Cabinet, headed by Secretary Colby of the State Department, by Chief Justice White and justices of the Supreme Court and by practically the entire Latin-American diplomatic corps.

FOOTBALL AND AUTOS

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 25.—Clear skies throughout Northern California on Thanksgiving Day were conducive to outdoor sports and activities.

A football game for the Northern California championship between the Sacramento and Woodland High School teams, and a cross-country run in this city vied with golf tournaments for interest among devotees of outdoor life.

With valley and foothill highways in good condition for automobile travel, New York parties left early on red berry picnics or for trips to the snow line on the Placerville and Colfax routes.

CONVICTS GET TURKEY.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—Services in various churches, followed by various sport events, were leading features of San Francisco's Thanksgiving Day celebration.

At San Quentin State prison, turkey crowned the dinner bill of fare, but County Jail prisoners were served pork. Sheriff Tom Finn being unwilling to pay the 70-cent price per pound. The Salvation Army furnished dinners and entertainment to many destitute persons.

EX-EMPRESS' WILL CONTENTS PUBLISHED.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, Nov. 25.—The Daily Mail publishes details of ex-Empress Eugenie's will. Her net personal estate in Great Britain is valued at £221,622 sterling. It is understood that her total estate is valued at considerably more than £2,000,000 sterling.

To Col. Sir John Burgoyne, who helped Eugenie to escape from France, bringing her to England in his yacht, she bequeathed an extremely valuable head by Greuze, the famous portrait painter, "in remembrance of the chivalrous way in which he came to my assistance on Sept. 6, 1870."

There are a number of charitable bequests, notably 25,000 francs to a British society to be chosen by the executors for men blinded in the war, and 20,000 francs each to the French Hospital in London and Queen Mary's Auxiliary Hospital at Roehampton. The ex-Empress left 100,000 francs for the restoration of Rheims Cathedral.

THE Merchant Marine of the U. S. Shipping Board is being rapidly augmented by privately operated Merchant ships.

MANY CROPS LOST THROUGH DISEASES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Millions of bushels of grain, fruit, and vegetables, and a big tonnage of cotton, were lost to American farmers last year by plant diseases, according to figures compiled by the plant disease survey of the Department of Agriculture. The survey said that the statistics indicate that lack of prompt application of known measures of control was largely the cause of the loss.

The plant disease survey estimated the losses at 112,000,000 bushels of wheat, 50,000,000 bushels of oats, 80,000,000 bushels of corn, 50,000,000 bushels of potatoes, 40,000,000 bushels of sweet potatoes, 185,000 tons of tomatoes, 850,000 bales of cotton, 5,000,000 bushels of peaches and 16,000,000 bushels of apples.

WILL DEMAND HELP FOR WAR DISABLED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—National Commander F. W. Galbraith, Jr., of the American Legion in Washington yesterday announced that the veterans would devote first efforts at the coming session of Congress to urge measures for the care of war-disabled soldiers and their dependents.

"The Legion has not receded one fraction of an inch from its original stand for adjusted compensation, however," Mr. Galbraith said.

TO CLOSE DOWN MINE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BISBEE (Ariz.) Nov. 24.—One hundred men were laid off here today by the Shattuck-Arizona Mining Company, and announcement was made that the Shattuck mine would be completely closed down, Jan. 1, 1921. The Denn mine, controlled by the Shattuck Company, ceased operations November 1. Low copper demand was the reason given.

CLOTHING CUT A THIRD.

Big Chicago Stores Full of Bargains, Say Shoppers; Recession Irregular.

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—The big Chicago merchants estimate that retail prices of clothing are now on an average 30 to 35 per cent below the peak prices of some ten months ago. The cuts here and there since early summer, so experts of the shopping district figure, have chopped one-third off the top price. Some commodities such as silks have hit the toboggan with a vengeance; others, such as hats, have fallen on a trifle.

Socks and stockings have come down while shoes appear to have budged comparatively little. The recession of prices has been more or less jagged with many peaks and valleys, but during the last month the downward tendency has brought a new general level.

Prices, retail, are still far above the 114 mark. Two days in the shopping district, looking over the counters and talking with clerks, buyers and managers give one an impression that the present price level corresponds roughly to that of the period when the armistice was signed.

FULL OF BARGAINS.

The big stores are full of bargains, so experienced shoppers say. It would be quite easy to take out $100 for the air and bring back marked goods which would have cost $150 a year ago, or even ninety days ago. On the other hand a man who went forth looking for some particular article or other might run into a price tag still at top notch or only a trifling eight or nine per cent below it.

For instance he might find a great line of georgette crepe, all colors of the rainbow, selling for $1.65 a yard which at the peak was bringing $2.75 to $4 a yard while if he went out to buy a hat, he would find prices only slightly below the old high boys.

In clothing next spring's goods are expected to be lower than this winter's garments. One leading clothier says spring prices quoted by wholesalers and manufacturers are still far too high.

BUYING STRIKE.

The "buying strike" of the merchants is still on—nobody wants to be hung up with goods that may fall. One wholesaler who usually has on his books $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 of orders at this season has only $100,000 this year. Wool, cotton, mill wages have all come down and retailers figure this will force a further fall in cloths and make habiliments still cheaper. On the other hand the suspension of orders is closing down mills and garment factories, is leading to much curtailment of output.

D. F. Kelly of Mandel Brothers, today advised the trade that present spring prices are as low as they are likely to go on this swing and that merchants should start buying their stock, otherwise reduced production might shoot prices up again.

Such orders he points out might contain an agreement to protect the retailer from losses due to possible drops in the prices of the goods before delivery.

MAY COMPEL ADVANCE.

James Simpson, of Marshall Field & Co., similarly, in speaking of the stagnation in the textile mills says: "If the present consuming demand continues, it is not unlikely that there will be a scarcity of merchandise during next spring compelling advanced markets, unless merchants generally anticipate their wants in a conservative manner for the early months of 1921."

Throughout the retail district the general estimate of merchants is that retail prices of men's clothing is now about 33 per cent less than at the top notch figure of early 1920. Compared with pre-war prices they are high enough even at that, for the advance in clothing during the war period was far greater than in foodstuffs. Some large stocks have been liquidated at losses.

At the mills the finest grades of cloth are about as high as ever, so tailor buyers say, but other grades have come down.

SILKS CUT IN HALF.

Silks are now going at less than half the price of a year ago and are not much higher than in 1914. Hosiery too, is stacked on the bargain counters. Great quantities of socks and stockings, silk, cotton and wool have been unloaded by the wholesalers. There is the widest sort of variation in the prices offered by the manufacturers, but generally speaking the average price of standard makes of stockings is estimated at twice that of 1914, but one-quarter less than a year ago.

In underwear and gloves, at almost any store one finds prices ranging between 30 and 40 per cent below the price of a year ago.

Shirts—some are up; some are down, although of similar quality due to the variation of prices by the makers. One manufacturer of a standard line, hard pushed, may let go of goods that get to the retail counter at $2.50 or $3. The same sort of stuff from another maker, less hard hit, may be put on sale for 50 cents or $1 higher, a counter or two away.

Teachers Form Local Councils.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

BILLINGS, (Mont.) Nov. 25.—The Montana State Teachers' Association at the close of its convention last night adopted a committee report providing for formation of local councils of public school instructors, which, according to a statement by D. S. Williams, the chairman, may be affiliated with any national organization the local association may elect.

Army Signal Corp Experiments Successful; Florida Guard Reinforced.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—That a number of messages may be sent over submarine cables simultaneously through the use of alternating current and that the trunks of growing trees may be utilized at times in the place of sending and receiving antennae for radio apparatus, was disclosed by experiments conducted in the research laboratories of the Army Signal Corps during the past year, according to the annual report of Maj.-Gen. Geoge O. Squier, chief signal officer, made public today.

Intereting experiments, suggested by Gen. Squier's recent discovery that uninsulated conductors might be used under water successfully were aso conducted, the report says.

"With suitable apparatus, messages may be transmitted and received practically between any two points on the surface of the globe and the speed of this form of communication operates to place any two points on the earth's surface in practically instantaneous connection," Gen. Squier said.

MEET WITH SUCCESS.

It was stated that radio operators were trained and sent to the western aerial forest patrol, and the Alaskan military cable service, and particularly good success was met in developing the Army's carrier pigeon service.

Among the achievements of the corps, chronicled in the report, were the design and completion of a cavalry radio pack set for field service, and the completion of an army observation plane radio telegraph and telephone set with a range of eighty to 100 miles telephone and 200 to 250 miles telegraph, in addition to the designing of a large number of minor parts calculated to improve existing communication sets.

CABLE GUARD REINFORCED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

MIAMI (Fla.) Nov. 25.—Additional reinforcements arrived here from Key West early today to aid the crew of submarine chaser 154 in guarding employees of the Western Union Telegraph Company and to prevent them from connecting the cable across Biscayne Bay between Miami and Miami Beach.

The attempt by the Western Union Telegraph Company to connect its cable on the causeway across Biscayne Bay, between the cities of Miami and Miami Beach, was followed by the arrival here during the night of a second submarine chaser from Key West. The crews from the two naval vessels were patrolling the $1,000,000 causeway today.

The employees of the telegraph company, whose attempt to connect the cable, was prevented by armed intervention, were allowed to return to Miami late yesterday, but all night powerful searchlights from the sub chaser 154 played on the cable barge and the viaducts, which were guarded by armed seamen.

SPAIN ENDEAVORS TO END GENERAL STRIKE.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

MADRID, Nov. 25.—A dispatch from Saragossa says the government is taking energetic measures to end the general strike there. The government has threatened the arrest of the directors of the Saragossa Sugar Refineries if the establishments are not opened by Friday.

The trades union of sugar workers has been suspended by the government, which also has closed the offices of the syndicate.

Plan to Market Cotton.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

DALLAS (Tex.) Nov. 25.—Organization of a co-operative marketing system for handling the 1921 cotton crop in Texas was begun at a meeting yesterday of the board of directors of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation. Aaron Sapiro, marketing expert of California, was employed to take charge of the proposed work. A committee of twenty-one members will assist in initiating the movement.

An Arrangement in Grey

Doucet was lavish with grey fox on this grey cloth coat, sketched from the much be-furred December number of Vogue.

Dunlliet has a page of evening wraps, all furs and gorgeousness and supreme lines; and furs are discussed from the last luxurious Parisian decision on them to the "little furs" that are the companions of a modest tailleur.

Then there's the matter of black velvet, the fabric that accents the brilliance of blondes and encourages the black and white mystery of brunettes. This is going to be a black velvet winter. Paris says so, gives the most convincing reasons, and adds to them its final exquisite word on the winter mode in this new Doucet has cut his garment according to the fur and trimmed a stone grey cloth coat with flaring bands of grey fox. The coat is lined with grey velvet and fastened with grey frogs, and the embroidery is of grey silk with a thread or two of steel. The high and narrow plumed hat is one of those so much in favour this winter.

This issue shows ten drawings of black velvet gowns, and in addition you can see what Jenny, Worth and Molyneux consider their most successful evening gowns. And those Reboux turbans with charm in every curve and no trimming at all—there's a winter hint worth taking!

There's a page of coat-frocks from Paris that shows how difficult it is to tell a dress from a suit when one meets it on a Paris boulevard; and a page of charming designs for the utterly indispensable street coat.

If shoes are your pet extravagance you'll find that the newest and most come-hither of them all have been photographed for Vogue. Christmas presents—thirty pages of them!—give you a shopping grab-bag from which you can pull anything from a Brittany tea-set to a bottle of French perfume in a black satin box. Don't miss this number of Vogue!

Too Weak to Do Anything

The ordinary every-day life of most women is a ceaseless treadmill of work. How much harder the tasks become when some derangement peculiar to her sex makes every movement painful, and keeps the nervous system all unstrung until life seems hardly worth living. Every women in this condition should profit by the experience of these two women whose letters follow.

Read the Experience of These Two Women

Reading, Pa.—"I had organic inflammation, pains in the side and back which were so sharp that they pulled me to my knees, and I could not walk. I had an operation and still I failed, and in the eight years I suffered I had four doctors and none helped me. My mother-in-law advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was then in bed, and after the first bottle I could be out of bed, then I took Vegetable Compound Tablets and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and also used the Sanative Wash. I still take the medicine and am able now to do my own housework. My friends say, 'My! but you look well—what do you do? Who is your doctor?' And there is only one answer, 'Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines which I gladly recommend.'"—Mrs. Wm. Stein, 560 Douglas Street, Reading, Pa.

Gainesville, Tex.—"For three years I suffered untold agony each month with pains in my side. I found only temporary relief in doctor's medicine or anything else I took until my husband and I saw an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I mentioned it to a neighbor and she told me she had taken it with good results, and advised me to try it. I was then in bed part of the time, and my doctor said I would have to be operated on, but we decided to try the Vegetable Compound, and I also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I am a dressmaker and am now able to go about my work, and do my housework besides. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial as I am always glad to speak a word for your medicine."—Mrs. W. M. Stephens, 202 Harvey St., Gainesville, Texas.

SUBTREASURIES TO CLOSE SOON.

Federal Reserve Bank to Occupy New York Structure.

Building is Famous in History of Country.

Countless Billions in Money Reposed in Vaults.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Pursuant to an act of Congress, which provides for the abolition of the various subtreasuries scattered throughout the country, the United States Subtreasury in this city will cease to exist at the end of the year, and its functions and powers will be added to those already delegated to the local Federal Reserve Bank.

Many of the employees of the subtreasury, now numbering less than 100, will be taken over by the Federal Reserve Bank, which will occupy the treasury building until its own new home, in this city is completed, and other employees may go into the customs service.

COMMANDING POSITION.

The local subtreasury, for generations an integral part of the financial history of the government, occupies a commanding position in the heart of the financial district, and is on the site of the seat of the Federal Congress, where George Washington took the oath of office, as first President of the United States.

Its Grecian facade and broad approach have been the scenes of some of the most important and interesting events in the annals of this city and country. From its steps, standing in the shadow of the bronze statute of the Father of his Country, have spoken some of the most distinguished statesmen of this and foreign lands.

Many political demonstrations of deep significance have taken place there, including those held during the Blaine and Cleveland campaign and Theodore Roosevelt made his first open-air speech from its steps, when he ran for Governor of New York.

VARIED GATHERINGS.

During ahe World War, the subtreasury was the center of numerous Liberty bond rallies and other similar gatherings. Only recently its steps were thronged while speakers representing various patriotic organizations, voiced their protest against the mysterious explosion of September 16, which occurred within fifty feet of the Washington statue and caused serious damage to the new assay office building, next door.

In its many years of service, the subtreasury has been the repository of well-nigh countless billions of dollars in gold and silver and paper money, and its chiefs have included some of the most notable figures among the financiers of the city.

Martin Vogel, now assistant treasurer, will return to the practice of law, as soon as he is relieved of his duties. This will not be possible, however, until an official count has been taken of the vast sums of money still reposing in the underground vaults of the building.

BLUE LAW DRIVE NEXT.

Drys Plan to Stop Sunday Golf, Baseball, Auto Riding and All Amusements.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Forces which led the fight in Congress to make the nation dry are now preparing a legislative campaign for a blue law Sunday observance movement. One of the first moves to be made will be the introduction of a bill for Sunday observance in the District of Columbia.

This will be followed by introduction of measures in the various State legislatures and in Congress to prohibit Sunday baseball games, moving picture and other theatrical performances and other sports and amusements conducted for profit. This is the program of the committee on moral and social welfare of the United Lutheran church and the National Reform Association which will also urge enactment of uniform marriage and divorce laws. Both these organizations have enlisted the services of former active workers of the Anti-Saloon League.

MORE RADICAL MEASURES.

Still more radical measures are to be pressed upon Congress and the legislatures by an organization known as the Lord's Day Alliance, a church organization which seeks to put the ban on Sunday operation of automobiles, golf playing, railroad transportation and all forms of amusement.

Senator Jones of Washington is planning to introduce a Sunday observance bill for the District of Columbia when Congress reconvenes and a similar bill will be proposed in the House of Representative Temple of Pennsylavnia, who is a preacher.

MR. DINWIDDIE'S VIEWPOINT

"The South, which has a pure American population which has not even begun to be Europeanized, will naturally be in front rank in this movement. We can expect a united and aggressive force from that section. Many of the western States will readily fall in line. There must be an improvement in our Sunday or there will be a breaking down of the Christian civilization.

"It was said for years that the United States could not regulate the liquor traffic, but ew succeeded in putting through the Eighteenth Amendment. The first move in this fight will be to pass a Sunday observance law for the District of Columbia and the insular possessions of the United States and the Army and Navy reservations. That must be the entering wedge."

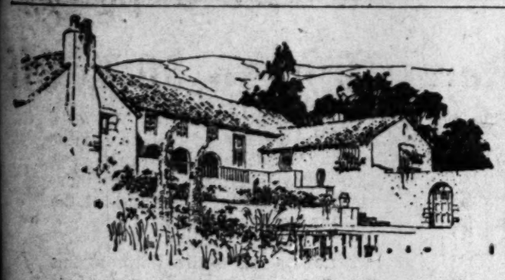
Every woman now may have captivating hair

Heavy hair no longer is considered a heritage of beauty. The glints, tints and pleasing undertones of warm color, so much in evidence in some hair, is the true beauty quality. It is the feature most women have ever longed to obtain. Now, through Cinderella Golden Glint Shampoo, this splendor is available for all—no woman needs to have dull hair. A conventional shampoo can not possibly do what Golden Glint does—there is no other shampoo like it. Through its use you are assured the greatest delight and satisfaction. It will vivify that rich sheen and smart lustre—bring out the glints and tints—make your hair glow with that becoming radiance you have so often seen and greatly admired—and your hair will in NO way be injured—the color will not be changed. Come to know the virtues of Cinderella Golden Glint Shampoo. Fashionable hairdressing parlors in all the metropolitan centers have adopted it—favor it. Visit your hairdresser—have a Golden Glint Shampoo—it will please and delight you as no other shampoo ever has. If you shampoo your own hair, purchase a package at any drug store, toilet goods counter or beauty shop.

Even though you are not a regular patron of beauty shops, you should visit them periodically. A good hairdresser can tell you about the peculiarities of your hair, its health and arrangement as well as give you much other beneficial information; the service rendered is invaluable to women who care.



Initial Cost and Ultimate Cost Favor "Heath" Hollow Tile

In the opinion of one of the largest building companies of this city, according to their published statement, the trend of construction price is upward—not downward. Recent advances have been noted in such materials as cement, brick and plaster. Homes recently completed by this company could not be duplicated at their original cost.

Hollow Tile—always recognized as the most economical form of permanent fireproof construction—has not advanced in price since the early part of this year, so that the economy of Hollow Tile construction is only emphasized by the advances in the cost of other building materials.

SINGLETON MURDER JURY DISCHARGED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—The jury in the trial of James Singleton, accused of poisoning his wife, was discharged late last night, and a new trial set for December 6. The jury took ten ballots and stood 7 to 5 for acquittal.

Mrs. Singleton died on the night of July 28 last. Singleton, arrested, confessed to putting the poison in a medicinal draught, but later repudiated the confession, alleging it was wrung from him by third-degree methods. The Singletons had been separated.

DENY SUBSTITUTE FOR RADIUM FOUND.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—A statement credited to professors of the University of Missouri that a perfect substitute for radium can be produced through a chemical process which purifies mesothorium, is disputed by British scientists, chemical authorities declared last night.

Among those who disagreed with the assertion are Sir Ernest Rutherford of Cambridge University, Prof. W. H. Bragg of London University, F. H. Glew, chemical radio expert of London, and Prof. Frederick Soddy of Oxford University, according to cable messages.

TRANSCONTINENTAL LINE A POSSIBILITY.

THE C., B., & Q., DENVER, RIO GRANDE AND W. P., MAY FORM AN ALLIANCE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 25.—The possibility of another transcontinental line, with the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, the Denver and Rio Grande, and the Western Pacific, forming an alliance, was admitted here today by P. S. Eustis, passenger traffic manager of the Burlington route.

Mr. Eustis said the Burlington had already begun through passenger service, in co-operation with the Denver and Rio Grande, and that December 1 would see a change in the merchandise routings that would mean practically a continuance of the line from Chicago to San Francisco.

DROWNS ON WAY TO THANKSGIVING FETE.

WASHINGTON STUDENT FALLS IN DITCH WHEN AUTOMOBILE LEAVES ROAD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TACOMA (Wash.) Nov. 25.—Elmar Riley, 28, of Tacoma, one of a party of University of Washington students, bound from Seattle to Olympia, to spend Thanksgiving, was drowned in an automobile accident six miles from here, today.

The car containing four men and two women, and driven by G. E. Graham of Seattle, skidded from the highway into a ditch, containing two feet of water. Riley was pinned under the water and Graham is in a serious condition from water on his lungs.

GOODYEAR CORD TIRES

Win Again Without a Stop

Taking First and Second Places in the 250-Mile Thanksgiving Day Event at the Los Angeles Speedway Thursday, November 25, 1920

Roscoe Sarles in one of the most spectacular exhibitions of driving ever witnessed on the coast, piloted his Duesenberg to victory, defeating a field of twelve starters in 2 hours, 25 minutes, 20 seconds, an average of 103 miles an hour.

Eddie Miller, also driving a Duesenberg, stormed across the finish line in second place close on the heels of the flying Sarles. Neither Sarles nor Miller made a stop for any purpose whatever and both depended for victory on Goodyear Cord Tires and Goodyear Tubes.

Yesterday's victory of Goodyear Cord Tires is but a continuation of their many triumphs on the various race tracks of the country during the last four racing seasons in exacting tests of speed and endurance.

These victories are of particular value to tire users because they prove the quality and dependability of Goodyear Cord Tires. The tires you buy are built like the tires used on racing cars, having only a somewhat heavier tread to withstand the wear of road use. Through our valuable experience in these races we have constantly been able to build tires which Protect our Good Name.

Off the track, too, they are daily establishing records for economy and trustworthiness. Our Goodyear Service Stations are equipped to take care of your tire wants. Pick out the one nearest you and secure for yourself the same tire dependability that carried Sarles to victory. All our service stations now have the latest price list, effective November 15.

GOODYEAR

SPECIAL DINNER FOR IMPOUNDED ANIMALS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Nov. 25.—All animals confined in the city pound here were served with a special Thanksgiving dinner today. An anonymous woman donor provided most of the funds to defray the cost. Others made lesser contributions after her benefaction had become known, so that plenty of food was provided for all of the impounded animals.

A long line of pans was set down and a dog was placed before each. Hot milk was the first item on the canine menu. There was a generous pouring for each. Next was served a stew of chicken and beef. When the dogs had eaten of this until their usually lean sides bulged again, each was given a cookie and a square of hard candy. Some spurned the sweet, but the dogs that did like candy ate their own portions and those of the dogs that did not like it.

For the cats in the pound the dinner opened with a saucer of real cream for each followed by a plate of shrimp and crab meat. Two impounded goats were served each with a package of rolled oats and a bundle of fresh hay.

"Our Thanksgiving to the animals was a decided success," declared Mrs. F. W. Swanton of the Oregon Humane Society. "I hope we may continue the custom from year to year of serving substantial food to our helpless charges on this day."

WOMEN'S WORK, WOMEN'S CLUBS.

BY MYRA NYE.

State Federation.

Gay with crimson butterflies and copper marigolds in baskets the Ebell dining-room welcomed to its board Tuesday for lunch the child which once it spurned, the State Federation of Women's Clubs. This function was the event of the fall in club circles. At the luncheon were officers and committee chairmen from all over the State and the program in the auditorium introduced prominent leaders in different lines of work.

It was from the Ebell Club that the State federation was first formed. Later the club withdrew and Tuesday for the first time within the precincts of Ebell was there harmony with an official State meeting. The event was made the occasion for felicitations by Mrs. Charles A. Toll, president of Ebell; Mrs. Matthew S. Robertson, past president; Mrs. C. Josiah Evans Cowles and Mrs. Robert Burdette, the two latter members of the club and speaking for both the State and federation.

Mrs. Sidney Thomas Exley, president of the Los Angeles district, presided both at the lunch and during the program introducing, besides those mentioned, Mrs. Aaron Schloss, State president, who said the five Federal issues upon which California club women would unite were: the home economics bill, Smith-Towner bill, providing a Federal educational bureau, the Shepard-Towner bill, which is a measure to encourage and protect maternity, the national library service and the bill which gives citizenship to an American woman married to an alien.

Mrs. Frank Gibson presented her intensive and carefully prepared plan for Americanization work in California. Mrs. Mollie Bloom Flagg, president of the San Joaquin district, told of the welcome the women would give delegates to the State convention meeting in the Yosemite Valley the last week in May, when in every town throughout the valley arrangements will be made to welcome those in automobiles as well as those coming by train.

Other speakers and guests were: Mrs. Robert Garner, State vice-president; Mrs. Charles Wiley, State treasurer; Mrs. A. W. Wohlford, president of the southern district, and Mrs. Annie Little Barry, who told the story of Mrs. Burdette's beautiful blue silk petticoat, worn when she first presided at a State convention.

Mrs. Burdette said the story of the petticoat was that all should be right from the inside out as all good club women should work from the inside out. Mrs. Little said the moral of the story, if moral there be, is that in those days blue silk petticoats were not often to be found in club circles and after Mrs. Burdette's was torn on the stairway (petticoats were longer then than now), all her followers loved her for her femininity as they had admired her for her executive ability.

The music of the afternoon was a group of songs by Mrs. William Mabee, president of Wa-Wan Club, and two solos by Helene Paulson with Mrs. Guy Bush at the piano.

Loads and loads of Thanksgiving goodies as well as the substantial gifts and clothing are coming in for the poor of the city as a result of the drive conducted by the P.-T.A. with school children as the agents. Mrs. C. I. Fuller, secretary of the P.-T.A., was telling Tuesday at the Friday Morning Club, where she is also a member, of the wonderful response of the children.

"I have worked in other cities in this same line of work," said Mrs. Fuller, "where more useless things were brought than good, but at the Ruth-street school yesterday there came nothing but the very best—wonderful fruits, four sacks of potatoes, quantities of rice, raisins, all kinds of nuts by the sack and even baking powder and other staples."

This, said Mrs. Edward Qually of the P.-T. A. federation is only one instance of many schools, the pupils of which have brought things in such an abundance that the Yale School clinic is overflowing with gifts bulging out of the doors and window. Wednesday these were distributed by a large committee of the federation. The supplies were taken to a woman with seven children of her own who, besides caring for them, was nursing a dying neighbor and taking care of her two children. She said "I do not need the food, I can manage; but I will be happy to have you give it to some one who needs it more. Will you let me be one of the givers and share the thanks?"

BREAKS A COLD IN JUST A FEW HOURS

"Pape's Cold Compound" instantly relieves stuffiness and distress.

"Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffling! A dose of "Pape's Cold Compound" taken every two hours until three doses are taken usually breaks up a severe cold and ends all grippe misery.

The very first dose opens your clogged-up nostrils and the air passages of the head; stops nose running; relieves the headache, dullness, feverishness, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

"Pape's Cold Compound" is the quickest, surest relief known and costs only a few cents at drug stores. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, contains no quinine—insist upon Pape's.—[Advertisement.

OUT O' ORDER STOMACHS

Indigestion, Acidity, Sourness and Gases ended with "Pape's Diapepsin"

The moment you eat a tablet or two of Pape's Diapepsin all the lumps of indigestion pain, the sourness, heartburn and belching of gases, due to acidity, vanish—truly wonderful!

Millions of people know that it is needless to be bothered with indigestion, dyspepsia or a disordered stomach. A few tablets of Pape's Diapepsin neutralize acidity and give relief at once—no waiting! Buy a box of Pape's Diapepsin now! Don't stay dyspeptic! Try to regulate your stomach so you can eat favorite foods without causing distress. The cost is so little. The benefits so great.—[Advertisement.

OLD-TIME COLD CURE—DRINK TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of this Hamburg tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve, and drink a teacupful at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.—[Advertisement.

PROTECT YOURSELF FROM CONTAGION

Formamint Tablets check the disease germs that lodge in the throat

EVERY time you breathe, you inhale thousands of infectious germs, and these immediately find a resting place in the soft tissues of your throat.

Keep a convenient bottle of Formamint Tablets in your pocket, dissolve one slowly in your mouth every time you are in a place where disease germs are prevalent—in street car, theatre, railroad train, store or on dusty street.

A pleasant tasting, but powerful antiseptic is released, and mixing with the saliva will quickly spread to every part of the mouth and throat, checking the germ life and preventing throat infection; possibly laryngitis, tonsilitis, "flu." Relieves hoarseness. Helpful for singers, actors, smokers, speakers, lecturers, etc. Children like them. 60c at all druggists.

Who shovels coal at your house?

WHY should the care of a coal-eating, dirty furnace be added to your wife's daily duties? The ordinary work of housekeeping—sweeping, dusting, mending and so on, are enough to fill the day to overflowing. And stoking a furnace is a job for a big, husky man.

Let the coal furnace follow the path of the coal range, the old scrubbing board, the obsolete broom. You can install in your home, at very moderate cost—

High Efficiency Gas Furnace

The High Efficiency Gas Furnace frees you from the burden of clambering up and down cellar stairs, for it is controlled entirely from upstairs. Once installed, it requires no attention, and the air can be kept at any desired temperature. The High Efficiency Gas Furnace is odorless, every molecule of gas being consumed and the burned gases sent up the flue. The warm air enters the rooms untainted and dustless. The High Efficiency is finely constructed, the coils being of high-grade iron and copper amalgam, preventing rust.

The High Efficiency is the most economical heating plant of its type on the market and the superior of any coal or oil burning furnace. This is a demonstrated fact. Let us prove it to YOU.

MRS. NANCY SHARP, of Los Angeles, who says she received one of the greatest surprises of her life when Tanlac completely restored her health after she had almost lost hope of ever getting well. Declares she suffered for twelve long years.

"After seeing the wonderful results my husband obtained from Tanlac I began taking the medicine myself, and now we both agree that it is the grandest medicine on earth," said Mrs. Nancy Sharp, a prominent and highly esteemed resident of Los Angeles, Cal., living at 921 Camulus street, whose husband is proprietor of the Merchants' Express Co.

"During the twelve years that I suffered with indigestion and stomach trouble I tried nearly every medicine I heard about, but nothing helped me and I lost faith in everything. So my wonderful restoration to health has been one of the greatest surprises of my life.

"I began to feel an improvement on finishing my second bottle of Tanlac, and now after taking six bottles I am like a new woman. I have a splendid appetite, eat three hearty meals a day, enjoy them thoroughly and am never troubled in the least with indigestion or any other disagreeable after effects.

"Before taking Tanlac most everything I ate caused my stomach to rebel and I would suffer for hours afterwards. I was so dreadfully nervous that many nights I never closed my eyes in sleep, but now I am not the least nervous, and I sleep like a child. My strength has been wonderfully increased and I have much more energy.

"I just wish it was so everybody troubled like I was knew about this wonderful medicine."

Tanlac is sold in Los Angeles, Pasadena and San Diego by the Owl Drug Stores. A personal Tanlac representative is at their Fifth and Broadway Store afternoons.—[Advertisement.

HAS RED HAIR IN HIS OFFICE.

Murder Case Attorney Shows Why Client is Gray.

Tresses Recalled by Witness Make Up Woman's Wig.

May Have Been Torn from Her in Venice Scuffle.

The mystery of the red and gray hair of Mrs. Maybelle Roe, on trial in Judge Willis's court for the murder of McCullough G. Graydon, was lifted yesterday by Jud Rush, chief counsel for the defense. After a question it was admitted by Mr. Rush that the gray hair, which is the striking feature of the appearance of Mrs. Roe during her trial, is not the same in that prominent to the eye at the time of the fight over possession of the bungalow on Sherman avenue, Venice, which resulted in the death of Graydon.

Miss Joan Marshall, sister of McCullough Graydon's widow, testified at the trial that when she saw Mrs. Roe at the time of the fight that led to the death of Graydon, she had red hair, but that later her hair was gray.

"As a matter of fact," said Mr. Rush, "the gray hair is Mrs. Roe's own hair, and the other—a wig—is in my office. After the affair at Venice a woman brought the wig to my office. I do not remember the woman's name, but she may have been a nurse at the hospital at Venice where Mr. Graydon's injuries were treated. The wig, though, is not red, but brown."

Mr. Rush said, however, that the dye with which the wig was saturated was washed out of it before it got it.

It was stated that in the general mix-up at Venice, which resulted in Graydon's death, Mrs. Roe lost her wig, or that it was later removed by hospital nurses to dress a wound on her head, and never returned to her. Just a bit of evidence it was returned to her attorney.

It is probable that evidence regarding the red and gray hair will form a part of the defense testimony, which will be presented to the jury today when the trial is resumed in Judge Willis's court. It was intimated that the theory to be advanced by the defense attorneys will be one of self-defense on the part of the two defendants accused of killing Graydon. Mrs. Maybelle Roe is now on trial for the murder, and subsequent trials will be held for Mrs. Nella Doane and Edward Doane, owners of the bungalow over which the fight started, and Oscar Bowen, who is said to have wielded a pair of brass knuckles in the general fight in which Graydon lost his life. Asst. Dist.-Atty. Van Cott is conducting the prosecution of the case.

POSTPONEMENT STIRS SOCIETY.

Geraldine Graham and Whitney Warren Change Date of Wedding to May?

Society in Montecito and Santa Barbara is stirred by reports published in San Francisco to the effect that the wedding of beautiful Geraldine Graham, who captured the homage of the Prince of Wales, to Whitney Warren has been postponed to May. It was originally announced for January. It is reported that Mr. Warren has sailed for Paris. Miss Graham and her mother, Mrs. William Miller Graham, with Earl Graham, the latter's stepson, left Montecito last Sunday for New York. They stated they will return in December. Friends in Santa Barbara says they have no information about the postponement of the wedding.

Given Damages for Attack by Angry Rooster.

Mrs. Eleanor Olmsted of West First and Vendome streets had Plymouth Rock rooster for her Thanksgiving dinner as a result of a decision of Justice Palmer, assessing her $50 damages in favor of Mrs. Margaret Hathaway, a neighbor, because the rooster attacked Mrs. Hathaway with beak and spurs, ruining her clothes, which Samuel Jacobson, a tailor, testified were worth $125. Incidentally Jacobson was fined $2 for failing to respond to a subpoena.

There were ninety-four marriage ceremonies in Los Angeles Thanksgiving Day, judging from the number of licenses issued Wednesday. This is close to the record.

TO NAME OSTRICHES FOR NEXT PRESIDENT.

Thanksgiving day was observed at the Cawston Ostrich Farm by christening a staunch, reliable, trustworthy pair of the birds "President and Mrs. Warren G. Harding."

This is the first time in eight years there has been such a ceremony, which was performed under the direction of the manager, H. J. Fetcher, Jr.

They succeed "President and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson." The latter pair are to be retired to obscurity at the farm at San Jacinto, while the new birds will be given one of the most prominent pens on the farm in full view of the thousands of visitors who flock to the institution every year.

New Murder Mystery Evidence Linked With Accused Woman.

Nov. 24, 1920.

I, Mrs. Almira Hudson, have seen on several occasions in the R.C. Peete household at Denver a revolver which, if not the same one as pictured on the opposite side of this, was so similar that I can not detect any difference now. The revolver I saw in Denver was kept in Mrs. Peete's dresser and on her bureau. I can not say definitely whether it was Mr. Peete's or Mrs. Peete's. Neither can I say definitely that this is the same gun. I am sure though that the revolver I saw in Denver looks the same as this one.

WIFE LISTS CRUELTY OF RICH OSAGE.

Says Indian Husband Has Love for Other Women; is Eager for Long Trip.

Oakley Andrew Pappan, a member of the Osage tribe of Indians, who has an income of $1000 a month from oil lands and oil leases in Oklahoma, is charged with extreme cruelty in a separate maintenance suit filed Wednesday through Attorney E. L. Martin by Mrs. Marguerita Pappan.

The Pappans were married at Wichita, Kan., Sept. 7, 1916, and are still living in the same apartments. They have an adopted child.

His wife says he met Mrs. Cora E. Hewitt, a married woman, and that on occasion Mr. and Mrs. Pappan and Mr. and Mrs. Hewitt went to the Vernon Country Club. On the return trip, Mrs. Hewitt insisted that she and Mr. Pappan occupy the rear seat of the automobile where, the complaint states, they showed great affection for each other.

Mr. Pappan finally left home, it is stated, and telephoned to Mrs. Hewitt that he intended to go to South America and take Mrs. Hewitt.

SAYS HE WAS LINKED WITH UNDESIRABLES.

PLAINTIFF IN "TIMES" LIBEL CASE CALLS POLICE WHO GIVE HALL BAD NAME.

The second day's trial of the $25,000 libel suit of Charles Merrill, former proprietor of the Rex Pool Hall, against The Times-Mirror Company based on the publication in The Times of Dec. 14, 1919, of an article on the raid by the police and operatives of the American Legion on the Rex Pool Hall, was marked by an endeavor on the part of Mr. Merrill's attorneys to show that their client by innuendo had been held up as an associate of undesirable people. This is denied by the defendant.

Jack Finlinson, L. R. Yarrow and Tom O'Brien, detective sergeants were called by Mr. Merrill. They stated they knew nothing in particular to the detriment of Mr. Merrill, but that among the police the Rex hall was known as a "hang out" for thieves and vagrants. Mr. O'Brien testified he had observed one man in the pool hall who had been convicted of burglary. They said Mr. Merrill told them he would try to clean the place up.

C. R. Johnson, a patrolman, testified that while he was on the beat in which the pool hall was included, he had never noticed anything wrong with the place.

Walter Brinkop, formerly a captain in the Army, now chairman of American Legion Post No. 8, testified to the Legion's activities covering the period in which the raid on the Rex Pool Hall was made.

INSULT BEFORE SHOT?

Lad Wounded in the Leg Denies He Offended Woman.

Thomas Earl, an 18-year-old youth of 6219 Mountain avenue, Huntington Park, was shot through the right leg at Fifty-fourth street and First avenue Tuesday night by H. H. Blan of Fifty-third street and Third avenue, according to a report of Detective Hamlin of University Police Station.

Blan was arrested by Detective Hamlin on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon and was held in the University jail. The wounded youth was taken to the Receiving Hospital.

According to the detective, Blan said he fired because young Earl had insulted a young woman who was passing. The wounded lad denies the accusation.

WEED WAR IS ON.

Seven Fined for Adding to Fire Peril by not Cleaning Lots.

War is being waged by the fire prevention bureau of the fire department on property owners who permit weeds and dry grass to remain on vacant lots.

Since November 1 twenty complaints have been issued by the City Prosecutor and seven owners have been brought into court and have paid fines for adding to the fire peril by violating the law. Property owners are mailed notices to clean up their lots and five days are given for them to do the work. The law provides that owners may be fined $100 or sent to jail for fifty days for each day or portion of a day that their lot may remain covered with dry grass.

Forger Out on Parole Taught Girl to Steal.

It was a young man out on parole from San Quentin prison, where he was serving a term for forgery, who taught Norma Gardiner, the 20-year-old Oakland girl in jail here, how to falsify her employer's bank slips and so embezzle $800, which he assured her they would be able to repay, according to a statement made yesterday at Oakland by the girl's family.

Miss Gardiner was arrested here on Wednesday, and confessed to having embezzled $800 from her employer, Attorney Victor A. Dunn of Oakland, former Superior Court Judge. She said Ernest Booth, with whom she was infatuated, urged her to the crime.

The girl disappeared from Oakland on the 3rd inst., but Mr. Dunn, who soon discovered his loss, did not report the matter to the police for some time. Miss Gardiner had been in his service only eleven days, but was trusted to do the banking.

Members of her family say that the young woman telephoned to them a week ago from Los Angeles that she had been hurt in a street-car accident and was in a hospital here. They wired her a ticket to come home.

MASON PASSES ON.

Funeral Tomorrow for Alexander Nicolson, Chain-Store Owner.

Funeral services will be conducted at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at the Bresee chapel by Highland Park Lodge of Masons, for Alexander Nicolson, a resident of Los Angeles since 1896, who died Wednesday evening at his home, 1546 West Tenth street. Mr. Nicolson was for a number of years vice-president of the Southern California Supply Company, and of late, had been independently in the retail grocery business, having a chain of stores.

A past High Priest of East Gate Chapter, and Past Prelate of Golden West Commandery, Mr. Nicolson had also received the decoration of Knight Commander of the Court of Honor in the Scottish Rite of Freemasonry, a most coveted and rarely conferred recognition of a life of service in the cause of humanity. Pallbearers at the funeral tomorrow will be Nathaniel Hill, Fred Vincent, O. R. W. Robinson, W. H. Gilbert, John Train, and A. G. Beaman, all of whom have received the same decoration. Golden West Commandery No. 43, will act as escort.

Mr. Nicolson was born in Scotland, Feb. 28, 1862, and came to America with his parents, in 1876. He leaves a widow and two daughters, Dorothy Grace and Alice Anstruther.

Interment will be at Forest Lawn Cemetery.

First Ontario Resident Dies; Nearly Ninety.

Leroy Sunderland Dyar, Ontario's earliest pioneer, died at his home in that city yesterday afternoon. Mr. Dyar, who was 87 years of age, came to Ontario thirty-eight years ago, and ever since then he has been an active factor in the development of agricultural resources of that section.

He was the first president of the San Antonio Water Company and one of the men who made possible the system of irrigation which now is the most valuable asset of a vast citrus acreage.

A life-long member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Mr. Dyar became a charter member of the Ontario organization and has since remained one of its most active and influential members. Mr. Dyar leaves his wife, a son and a daughter.

Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the First Methodist Church of Ontario. Rev. Alfred Inwood of Long Beach, one of the first ministers of the church, will officiate. Interment will be in Bellevue Cemetery.

RACES AT SPEEDWAY HELP TO RED CROSS.

THREE HUNDRED FIREMEN AND NURSES BUSY YESTERDAY SELLING BUTTONS.

Yesterday was field day for the American Red Cross annual roll call. At the Beverly Hills Speedway 250 Los Angeles firemen were on the job as they have been every day since the roll call for 100,000 membership started. In addition, there were fifty young women from the county and city nurses' organizations, the Red Cross Chapter, roll call assistants and overseas nurses.

General Chairman Rex B. Clark said last night: "We have encountered unexpected difficulties in raising the Los Angeles Red Cross quota for 1921, but I believe we are going to do it. The apathy that has been demonstrated has been among the well-to-do, the people best able to support Red Cross work, the people who will have to pay for the work of reconstruction in taxes four or five-fold over if the Red Cross is not supported.

"The poor in purse are coming forward nobly with their pennies and dimes and dollars. It is with regret that I must confess that many of those who spend their money on luxuries have shouldered our volunteer Red Cross workers aside.

"The Red Cross needs at least $100,000 to carry on its work in this community in the next twelve months. So far we have raised only $50,000. There are only four days more to go."

MRS. PEETE OWNED GUN LIKE DENTON-CASE FIND.

Denver Woman Says She Often Saw Revolver Exactly Similar Lying on Dresser of Prisoner.

The woman's revolver found near the basement crypt in the Denton home was identified yesterday as being either the same weapon or exactly similar to one which Mrs. R. C. Peete, under indictment for the Denton murder, had among her possessions in Denver previous to coming to Los Angeles and living in the Denton house.

The Times obtained a signed statement to that effect from Mrs. Almira F. Hudson, former Denver woman, who visited Mr. and Mrs. Peete and lived in their house for several weeks during 1916. Reluctant to divulge any information which would in any way cause sorrow to Richard C. Peete, whom she reared from childhood, Mrs. Hudson admitted that she had seen on many occasions at the Peete house in Denver either the same revolver found in the Denton basement or one so like it that she could detect no difference. The very peculiar and distinctive features of the weapon's construction adds strength to the belief that it is the same.

The revolver was kept among Mrs. Peete's possessions in her bureau drawer and at times was on top of the bureau, Mrs. Hudson says. Her identification was made by means of full-sized photographs and a description of the gun hidden in the Denton cellar. She remembered some of the odd details of the gun and mentioned them before seeing the photographs or being told what sort of revolver was found.

Her signed statement, written on the back of one of the photographs, follows:

"I, Mrs. Almira Hudson, have seen on several occasions in the R. C. Peete household at Denver a revolver which, if not the same one as pictured on the opposite side of this, was so similar that I cannot detect any difference now. The revolver I saw in Denver was kept in Mrs. Peete's dresser and on her bureau. I cannot say definitely whether it was Mr. Peete's or Mrs. Peete's. Neither can I say definitely that this is the same gun. I am sure, though, that the revolver I saw in Denver looks the same as this one.

[Signed]

"MRS. ALMIRA F. HUDSON."

The revolver, which was found Monday by Mrs. Rhoda Merryman, sister of Denton, and her husband, was hidden between the furnace pipes within a few feet of the place where the murder victim's body was secreted for more than three months. It is of an unusual make and has an uncommon trigger construction.

Although no official statement was forthcoming from the District Attorney's office that it is believed definitely where the weapon was sold and to whom. Investigations are now in progress in several cities to obtain more accurate information regarding the gun and its owner with a view of throwing more light on this newest puzzle of the complicated murder case.

Mr. Peete called yesterday upon Dept. Dist.-Atty. Doran with a request that Mrs. Peete be admitted to bail. As murder is not a bailable charge; the request was denied.

KNIFE WOUND MAY KILL.

Mexican Stabbed During Row Over Loan; Blames Man He Helped.

Manuel Fiero, a Mexican aged 45 of 521 New High street, was stabbed, partially disemboweled and probably fatally wounded last night in front of his home by another Mexican. He was rushed to the Receiving Hospital, where Police Surgeon Goodrich performed a major operation in the hope of saving his life.

According to Detectives Hamilton, Louis Rico and Tom Rico, who investigated the case, Fiero stated that he was approached in front of his house last night by Bonciano Martinez, to whom he had loaned a sum of money a few weeks ago. An argument arose over the payment of the debt, at the height of which Fiero was stabbed by Martinez, according to his story. Martinez then fled and is now sought by the police.

KICK BREAKS ARM.

The kick-back of an auto crank with which he was trying to start his car broke the right arm of Malcom R. Vandegrift, assistant superintendent of mails, 916 North Normandie avenue, last night. The accident happened in front of the home at 143 North Coronado street of Mrs. Emma Vandegrift, his mother.

The People and Their Troubles

Professional Dancers Set Example for Married Folk.

BY JANE DIXON.

Certain occupations are conducive to keeping partners together.

Certain other occupations are inclined to set partners adrift in opposite directions, especially if the matter of sex enters into the equation.

In the drifting class, Terpsichore should, by all rules of environment, offer the greatest opportunity for separation.

We are accustomed to the marital incompatability of dancers.

Eccentricity, temperament and jealousy are hurdles which nine times out of the proverbial ten catch the light feet of the fox trotting team and send them stumbling into the divorce court.

It is difficult to visualize those flashing two who glide and whirl through the spotlight of public favor taking off the spangles and retiring to the quietude of everyday life.

Their metier seems to be gayety, calcium, alluring music, the clink of glasses, the patter of approving hands.

And yet—

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hyson have proven it is possible to be married though dancers, and to keep married.

Dorothy Dickson (Mrs. Hyson in private life) is one of the most brilliant and successful disciples of Terpsichore before the public today.

Her husband, Carl Hyson, is equally skilled in the art of shaking a nimble shoe.

BEGAN SIX YEARS AGO.

They began their dancing career together six years ago. They have climbed steadily, surely, as true partners always will climb.

Today, having just closed an engagement with "Lassie," a musical success of last season, they are the piece de resistance of the Palais Royal, Broadway's smartest center of Metropolitan high life where they gather in a four-figure salary every week, and keep the velvet rope across the entrance working overtime.

There is a third member of the Hyson family, a little lady of 5 who adores her daddy and is never happier than when she is allowed to watch mother slip on the glistening gowns with which she delights her public in the dance.

Gilded male butterflies of pleasure are present to flatter fascinating Dorothy Dickson. Being a dancer, she is considered fair game by thrill-hungry hunters.

Foolish girls and women with more romance in their systems than good sense and more money than brains fawn on Husband Hyson. He, too, is supposed to be a dragonfly seeking the sun of pleasure.

Wasted effort!

Dickson and Hyson have but two real interests in life, each other and young goldylocks.

How do they do it?

Let them tell you.

DOROTHY DICKSON SAYS—

A sense of humor is a wonderful thing.

Come to think of it, I believe a sense of humor has made my husband and myself the good partners we are today.

We have disagreements of course. Every married couple has them. If they deny it they are worthy of suspicion.

Yes, we disagree over our work. Often, when we are rehearsing a new dance, we will blame each other for a mistake. "You pushed me." "I did not, you lost your balance." Nothing of the sort. You should have caught me." I can hear it all now. Each trying to make the other responsible for a mistake of which we both were guilty.

Now if neither of us had a sense of humor the affair would progress from a disagreement to a quarrel. We would part in anger, our grievance against each other fanned by time and thought.

The sequel might be a change of dancing partners and another choice morsel of gossip for the Sunday supplement.

Fortunately we work on quite another basis.

Before we reach the quarreling stage we stop short and go to something else. By the time we are ready to come back to the subject of dissension both have realized how silly it is to be angry over a mistake, when we are both working toward one goal—the creation of something new in our art.

We laugh together and go on with the dance.

It is just as easy to acquire the laughing habit as it is to fall into the nagging habit.

My rule for a successful business or artistic marriage is: Let both partners keep a keen sense for the comedy in life.

CARL HYSON SAYS:

Never take your work too seriously.

This goes for art, too.

Mrs. Hyson and I have made play out of our work.

We dance for a living, and we dance for fun.

I believe some of the happiest hours of our lives, except those with our little daughter, have been spent on the dance floor.

We never say, even to each other: "It is time to get ready for work." Always the word is "Time to go and dance."

The idea that I must get out on the floor and labor, deliver so many gyrations or acrobatics for a stipulated sum of money, would make dancing abhorrent to me. Undoubtedly Mrs. Hyson feels the same way.

When we fall into the rythm of the music we forget the professional part of it and just enjoy the dance. Audiences do not bother us. We would dance quite as eagerly and as strenuously if we were alone in a deserted ballroom.

HE COULD RETIRE.

If I had collected a thin dime from every person who audibly wondered if we do not get fed up on the bright lights, I could retire today on my income.

Perhaps I can head off a few such inquiries right here by assuring the curious questioners we are not fed up.

"Bright lights," in the accepted meaning of the term, do not bother us. The fact that a man runs a wine press does not make him an inebriate.

My wife and I enjoy the atmosphere of good fun around us. We like the light, the music, the merrymaking. It keeps us diving into the fountain of youth.

Another reason for the lasting quality of art and matrimony.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

Making Gold.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Periodically there appears in some of the newspapers, an article stating that some one had succeeded in making gold. I am surprised that it does not appear under the heading of "Incorporations" that a company has been formed for carrying out the discovery commercially.

Some time ago there was an article in the Herald which stated that Sir Ernest Rutherford, famous for his researches in radioactivity, had solved the problem. Being interested in such matters, I wrote to the gentleman and he replied that he had neither made gold nor seen any for a long time!

The other day the Herald, eager to satisfy the scientific thirst of its readers, mentioned another man who declared he had succeeded in making gold. It stated that his laboratory was a garage, blacksmith shop or bedroom; in fact any old place. He produced a strip of eighteen carat gold, as proof.

It makes a scientific man sick to read such trash.

In the middle ages, the alchemists devoted their attention to trying to transmute base metals into gold by projecting a particle of the philosopher's stone, or "seed of gold" into the molten metal.

In Hepburn's interesting book on Alchemy, there is mentioned the following transmutation:

John Baptist Van Helmont (1577-1644) states that a strange man gave him one-quarter of one grain of the stone of the philosophers and that with it he converted eight ounces of quicksilver into a yellow lump of gold.

About a year ago, I converted heavy metals such as copper and iron into gases, not vapors, and I am now preparing to verify this, collect the gases and examine them spectroscopically. Should the gases be either hydrogen or helium, or both, it will be further proof that atoms are composed of the lightest gases.

In my opinion, gold will be made in the near future by expelling a sufficient number of atoms from elements containing a higher atomicity (atomic weight) than gold, and this knowledge once obtained will enable us to transmute the other metals as well. The achievement will not be made in a garage or a bedroom by a blacksmith, but will be the "magnum opus" of a scientific brain.

The best way to make gold at the present time, is to be a laborer, who is paid three times as much as a school-teacher, or a professional man. GEORGE J. ROCKWELL.

Miss Robertson's Election.

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Your recent editorial, regarding Miss Alice Robertson, elected to Congress, from the Second District in Oklahoma, leads me to write this note to you. The editorial implies that Miss Robertson's only qualification for office lies in the fact that she runs a cafeteria. The following facts may be of interest:

Miss Robertson's grandfather was the first American citizen to suffer long imprisonment in a State penitentiary, because he placed his rights as an American citizen above the assumed rights of the State of Georgia. (See the case of Samuel A. Worchester vs. State of Georgia, Book 8, United States Law Reports.) Her father gave his life, that the Muskogee Indians might be better prepared for the United States citizenship, thrust upon them against their will. Her mother was the first woman in America to receive the honorary degree of Ph. D. from a university. I know ancestry does not count, but sometimes it helps to give people a start upward.

Miss Robertson herself left Elmira College, from which she holds the degree of A.M., to accept a clerkship in the Interior Department at Washington, where, under Secretary Shurtz, she worked up to the maximum salary granted women, only to leave it and go back to the Indians, at a salary too small to mention. Later, she was secretary to Capt. Pratt of the Carlisle Indian School. When the Dawes Commission was sent to treat with the Indians, she served as its secretary. When Senator Owen was Indian agent for the five tribes, she was his trusted clerk. Later she founded a school for girls, in Muskogee, which afterwards developed into Kendall College, funds for which she raised through personal solicitations in the eastern States. The college, moved to Tulsa, is now the educational pride of that city. When the United States government took over the educational system of the Five Tribes, she was appointed superintendent of the Muskogee tribe's schools, and filled the position efficiently until she received from President Roosevelt the appointment to the postmastership of the growing city of Muskogee, a position she held through the Taft administration, and from which she was removed by President Wilson.

Finding herself out of a job, and her resources pretty well used up from helping others, she did start a cafeteria, and in running it, has continued to keep herself poor by giving too much for prices asked. During the war she was no profiteer, for no boy in uniform was allowed to [illegible]

GASOLINE ALLEY—WALT IS GOING TO CELEBRATE THANKSGIVING

Making More Money.

House Shortage Leads to Birth of Woman's "Big Idea" Which Spelled Success.

THE housing problem is one which has led to sleepless nights for thousands of persons who, unable to figure out how they were going to meet the advancing rents or where they were going to live if they didn't agree to pay them, have been forced to resort to all kinds of makeshifts. But this same problem brought financial success for at least one young business woman. If it hadn't been for the shortage of apartments, Miss Elise Moran wouldn't have had her "big idea" and the sign "Public Stenographer" would be still in evidence on the door of her office.

It was shortly after the death of her father that Miss Moran, a graduate of a New York business school, determined to launch out on a career of her own. Being a public stenographer didn't appeal to her very much, but it was the only opening apparent at the moment and she had to have something to tide her over a season which, from the monetary point of view, was far from promising. Right across the hall from her was the office of a young real estate agent who specialized in the renting of apartments, and the sight of his sign reminded Miss Moran that her father had had a lifetime of experience in the same line and that she had picked up a considerable knowledge of the business.

One day Miss Moran gathered her courage in both hands and broached a plan which had been haunting her for some months past.

"Why not get a sufficient number of people to club together and buy an apartment house," she asked, "instead of renting the different sections? Yes, I'll admit that there are lots of difficulties to be overcome, but your knowledge of real estate and my feminine faculty for handling people ought to smooth out all the obstacles. What do you say? Shall we try it?"

Thus it was that the idea of "co-operative ownership of apartment houses" was launched—an idea which led to the solution of at least a part of the housing puzzle and at the same time brought financial independence and five-figure returns to a girl in her early twenties.

Beyond the Limit.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25.—[To the Editor of The Times:] All readers of your paper have been pleased with your attitude in regard to the housing problem. Can you not give serious and earnest publicity to it?

I am a teacher in the public schools and do not make a salary warranting a $35 rise in rent. My father is employed in a large hardware house of the city.

We are not in a position to pay all we have in house rent. We would like to save and also enjoy some of the comforts of life.

Our rent has been raised $35 a month and as the flat has again been sold it will be raised again. ($40 present rent to $75 advance)—and now probably $85 or $100. Imagine anyone believing $35 a month rise justifiable! They flat is nice, rooms comfortable, nice yard, but we furnish our linens and pay for all our extra conveniences. If we removed all our furnishings the flat would be quite barren.

We do not object to a reasonable rise, but $35 is absolute profiteering.

I should like to have some of the profiteers exposed very publicly.

What can a person of moderate circumstances do?

Is Los Angeles not able to control its city in any way? We boost if it cannot meet requirements. People do not like to be fooled—or have people take advantage of them.

DOUGHNUTS! There is nothing more wholesome and delightful than doughnuts or crullers rightly made.

Doughnuts

3 tablespoons shortening
½ cup sugar
1 egg
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups flour
4 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder

Cream shortening; add sugar and well-beaten egg; stir in milk; add nutmeg, salt, flour and baking powder which have been sifted together and enough additional flour to make dough stiff enough to roll. Roll out on floured board to about ½-inch thick; cut out. Fry in deep fat hot enough to brown a piece of bread in 40 seconds. Drain on unglazed paper and sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Crullers

4 tablespoons shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
3 cups flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt
3 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
½ cup milk

Cream shortening; add sugar gradually and beaten eggs; sift together flour, cinnamon, salt and baking powder; add one-half and mix well; add milk and remainder of dry ingredients to make soft dough. Roll out on floured board to about ½-inch thick and cut into strips about 4 inches long and ½-inch wide; roll in hands and twist each strip and bring ends together. Fry in deep hot fat. We Are Going to Clean-up a Lot of Real Money Today

Dirty, shopworn but still very useful U. S. Greenbacks will be thoroughly laundered in the north window of our store today, between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. We will use—

Crystal
Electric Washer & Wringer

No demonstration of the powers of the Crystal could be more complete than the perfect washing—complete cleansing—of grimy currency. Nowadays, money gets well travel-stained before it's many weeks old. Grimy fingers, greasy fingers, dusty counters and tills—all play their part in grinding dirt into paper money. No article of clothing, under ordinary conditions, could become as thoroughly soiled.

But the Crystal Electric Washer and Wringer will show you how easy it is, in just a few moments, to produce a clean, bright bill from a limp, stained, smelly piece of fiber-paper. The Simplex Ironer will complete the job and restore the bill's original crispness.

It will be an interesting public exhibition. We expect you.

BY VIRGINIA WOODS.

Masquerade Dance.

A large affair is the masquerade dance being planned by Miss Anne Dorr Morse of Pasadena at the Midwick Country Club for the near future. Invitations are to be issued to several hundred of the younger set in a week or two. Miss Morse made her debut in the summer at a brilliant reception at the new home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Stanley Morse, on San Rafael avenue, Pasadena.

Mr. and Mrs. Stearns.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Kimball Stearns of Beverly Hills were hosts last eveing at a Thanksgiving dinner party, which included members of the family and visiting relatives.

Thanksgiving Dinners.

Philip Forve was host at a large dinner party yesterday which included Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Gail Miller (Louise Forve,) who have but recently returned from their honeymoon trip to Honolulu.

Mr. and Mrs. Huntington.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Huntington of Oak Knoll were hosts at a dinner party last evening. The Thanksgiving motif ruled in all their appointments.

For a Visitor.

Miss Helen Skinner, a Chicago bud who has come to Los Angeles to live, is the incentive for a dinner-dance that Misses Camilla and Rowena Schneider are to give tomorrow evening at the Los Angeles Country Club. There are to be eighteen in the company including their sister, Miss Margarita Schneider, who returned two days ago from the University of California.

Home from College.

Miss Mona Wood came home from Mills College to spend Thanksgiving with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Modini-Wood, and tomorrow she and her mother and her sister, Mrs. Florence Wood Clark, will go to Coronado to pass the week-end with her brother, Ensign Perry Wood, who is stationed their with the naval aviation detachment. She will return to school on Monday evening.

Admiral Coonts.

Admiral Coonts, who is in California with the Joint Congressional Committee on Rivers and Harbors and who is chief of the bureau of operations of the Navy, motored to Coronado yesterday morning with Commander and Mrs. Henry Norman Jensen and his son, Lieut. Kenneth Coonts, U.S.N. Idaho, and his aide, Commander Hill. He presided last evening at a brilliantly appointed Thanksgiving dinner party at the Hotel del Coronado.

Miss Thompson.

Miss Anne Thompson, one of the daintiest buds in the subdebutante set, is planning a dinner party to be given at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William K. Thompson, before the next junior cotillion on December 17.

Mr. and Mrs. Hillman.

Mrs. and Mrs. Loren Langmade Hillman (Doris Collins,) who have resided at the Fred Hillman country estate in Whittier since their marriage, are moving in town today and are to be domiciled in apartments at 415½ South Catalina street. They spent Thanksgiving in Coronado, motoring there with Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Wines (Mary Hillman,) whose marriage took place in Berkeley a week ago.

For Mr. and Mrs. Chapman.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Chapman, who are leaving in two weeks for Mexico to look after large property interests, were the cause of a charming courtesy, a dinner of handsome appointments at which Mrs. June Braun-Schultz was hostess. The affair was given at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick William Braun. The Thanksgiving motif, with chrysanthemums and fruits in the golden and purple shades, centered the table, at which there were plates for twelve. After dinner the company assembled at the Alexandria to dance.

Mrs. Jones Honoree.

Mrs. John Percival Jones, who is leaving Monday for New York, but is planning a visit en route in San Francisco, was yesterday the honor guest at a Thanksgiving dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jones. Mrs. John Percival Jones and her daughter, Mrs. Robert Farquhar, are to spend the winter together.

Miss Hogan Home.

Miss Amelia Hogan, one of the attractive buds in Los Angeles society circles, returned Wednesday from San Francisco, where she went to attend the coming-out of Misses Barbara and Katherine Sessnons at a brilliant ball and supper party given by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Sessnons. She remained over for the football game and returned in time for the Thanksgiving dinner party at which her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Garrett Lansing Hogan, were hosts. Mrs. Hogan gave another dinner party a few evenings earlier. The Misses Sessnons are not unknown here, having visited Miss Hogan in the summer.

Miss Hogan was also honor guest at a luncheon given at the Woman's Athletic Club by Miss Helen Brack.

Open House.

Mrs. M. J. Grier of Buckingham Road kept open house yesterday for a coterie of friends of her young daughter, Miss Evangeline Grier, whose engagement to William Phineas Banning was recently announced in The Times. A buffet supper rounded out the Thanksgiving festivity there.

Mr. and Mrs. Faulkner.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Faulkner of Glendale entertained fifty guests at a dinner-dance at their home last evening.

MAN AND WOMAN HELD IN STATUTORY CASE.

C. E. Allun, aged 22, and Mrs. Thelma Young, aged 22, were arrested on a statutory charge Wednesday night by Deputy Sheriffs Fox and Nolan. They were taken into custody near 508 Stanford street, where Mr. Allun lives, according to the officers.

The officers stated that Mrs. Young has a 4-year-old child who was present when the asserted offense was committed. The charge may later be changed to contributing to the delinquency of a minor, it is stated.

PAYING THE FIDDLER.

The Republican national chairman is asking contributions to make up a deficit of $1,500,000 in the party campaign fund. There is this to be said: The Republican credit is good. The Democratic committee would never have been trusted to that amount. Likewise, the Republicans have something to show for their deficit.

NO REST FOR WICKED.

The French Chamber of Deputies may pass a bill making a compulsory day of rest for newspaper workers. If it becomes a law it will prevent the publishing of Sunday afternoon and Monday morning editions. The Sunday afternoon paper is quite a feature with the Parisian and is almost as popular as the morning issue, but under the proposed law Sunday newspaper work would be under the ban and the editors and reporters would have to call it a day when the whistle blew at Saturday midnight.

GOING DOWN.

With sugar at 8.75 at the refinery there is chance for a further drop so far as the consumer is concerned. Hogs have sold this week in Chicago, Omaha and Kansas City as low as $9.25 a hundred. On July 31, 1919, they were worth $23.60 in Chicago. They are now virtually at pre-war prices. There are plenty of hogs in the country outside of the two-legged ones, and pork is due for a slump. Flour is down to $8.40 a barrel at some of the mills. It was as high as $18. Not even yeast should make bread rise against these conditions. Another fall is coming.

THE PAPER MAKERS.

It is reported that the Germans are making a superior grade of print paper from the long grass which grows so rankly in the swamps and along the river beds of their country. At the same time, sugar and alcohol are being extracted from the roots. The company holding the patents for the process is being paid a large sum by the Rumanian government to free the swamps of that country of this grass and make drainable lands. At the same time the company is manufacturing fine paper from the waste and is thus making a double profit. Any continuance of the paper shortage will develop new processes and substitutes without number. Paper can be made from a lot of things that are still considered absolute waste. The time may come when moonshine will be compressed and fabricated so that poets may write their odes upon it. As it is, some of them are accused of using liquid moonshine as their inspiration.

NOT WORTH IT.

If the Kaiser is getting a salary of $25,000,000 a year from Prussia, as has been widely charged, he is being paid much more than he is worth and Prussia is being double-crossed. At Kaisering he is no longer worth more than forty marks a month. He has developed into a passable wood-sawyer, but even at $8 a cord he could not make more than $50 a week. He is said to be writing his memoirs on the side. He would probably make more in that way than any other, but certainly Prussia shouldn't pay him a salary for doing it. He might develop into a movie director, but it isn't necessary for Prussia to pay a fancy figure for his keep in the meantime. Leave him alone and make him hustle for himself. We don't blame the Allies for remonstrating against this diversion of the Prussian assets. Germany owes a lot of money in the reparations columns and cannot be permitted to waste a big bunch of it on a moth-eaten and flea-bitten Kaiser.

THE PANACEA OF WORK.

Occupational therapy is the new name for it, but it is our old-fashioned friend, work, interesting, profitable work. And they are applying it with brilliant success in the army and navy hospitals all over the country where disabled men had lost faith and hope. It is proving the arch-cure for a wide variety of physical sorrows, where care, medicine and diet are mere accessories to recovery.

The everlasting monotony of hospital routine, after a certain stage of convalescence, was found to be the most despairing factor in encompassing a complete cure. But now, directly the patient shows any sign of strength and returning interest, he is put to work, definite, constructive and productive work which captures his interest and whets his ambition. Just the lighter, simpler tasks at first, enough to take his mind off of his own troubles for a spell. And the result has been amazing. In one hospital of 392 patients 263 were taking this "occupational therapy" and 129 were not. The 263 prospered and conquered their ailments, while the 129 all remained disappointing cases. And this is but one hospital where the work interest has been tried out.

If work, productive and creative effort, can prove so entirely efficacious with invalids, it is obvious that it is the best panacea for well people's troubles and the finest preventive extant. Idlers and wasters are a nuisance to themselves and everybody else and have altogether too much time to magnify trifles into tribulations. Moreover, the world is crying out for producers, and parasites today are an affront to civilization and are in dire need of special and peculiar justification. If our war-maimed heroes can work and benefit thereby, everybody can work who is not completely paralyzed or insane.

DOUBTFUL CREDITS.

Among the letters to The Times in yesterday's issue was a communication from F. E. Powell, head of the European branch of the Standard Oil Company, outlining a policy of credit exchange to aid in marketing in Europe a part of the $2,000,000,000 surplus of foodstuffs in the United States. By reason of the position that Mr. Powell occupies he can speak of his own knowledge of existing conditions in Western Europe. He has seen the necessity for those foodstuffs on the other side of the water and he has suggested a plan by which an exchange might be made.

Mr. Powell says that American foodstuffs and manufactured articles might be shipped to the countries whose governments are most to be trusted, that 80 per cent cash should be exacted and the other 20 per cent taken as deferred credits in ten-year government bonds. He says that a Cleveland metal company is now trading with Great Britain, France and Belgium on that plan.

While the plan would be safe enough from the point of view of a commercial transaction, perhaps, as the American shipper would be risking only his profit, the inescapable objection is that the foreign exchange rate would more than eat up the 20 per cent credit and that only the most favored European countries would be able to make the cash payment demanded. Frankly speaking, the peoples of Europe are not in condition to pay 50 per cent of the value of the foodstuffs, cotton and steel in cash. Take the case of France. Before the war 5 francs would purchase in the American market goods valued at $1 in American money. At the present time it would require 18 francs to purchase a dollar's worth of American goods. Before such a deadly exchange rate the 20 per cent credit suggested by Mr. Powell would afford only limited relief. It is a step in the right direction, however, and as such is to be commended.

If any immediate relief is to be given to the starving women and children of Europe it must be in some system of trading that will not be affected by the condition of foreign exchange. If a cargo of steel can be exchanged for a cargo of nitrate it matters not whether the respective cargoes are valued in dollars or marks. Under a commodity clearinghouse system a quantity of dyestuffs valued at $100,000 could be placed in a Belgian warehouse and the owner given a certificate of deposit, stating its value in American dollars. An American vessel could carry a cargo of wheat of equal value to that clearinghouse and bring back the dyestuffs.

That plan may be cumbersome, but it is practical. International bankers will say that, IF CREDITS WERE AS THEY SHOULD BE, the exchange could be made on the same basis as before the war. But credits are not as they should be. When 18 francs can be bought for a dollar, the evidence is conclusive that something is radically wrong with foreign credits. The trouble with it is not difficult to discover. A small part is due to a balance of trade in our favor AND NINE-TENTHS OF IT IS DUE TO WAR IMPOVERISHMENT AND LACK OF CONFIDENCE IN THE STABILITY OR THE HONESTY OF PURPOSE OF MOST OF THE EUROPEAN GOVERNMENTS.

When the Wrangel forces were winning victories in Southern Russia the exchange rate on the French franc stiffened perceptibly; but when it became apparent that the Wrangel movement must collapse the franc fell to a new low level. The French had been backing Wrangel heavily and timid investors feared that his collapse might cause some kind of revolution in France. We cite the case of France because it is one of the three preferred nations mentioned by Mr. Powell.

Spokesmen for the international bankers are already clamoring that the plan for a system of commodity exchange is revolutionary, that it would make matters worse. But we fear these gentlemen are looking at the situation through the glasses of self-interest. The condition by which we are confronted in this country is stated by Mr. Powell as follows: "If this country cannot sell its surplus, prices will fall, wages will be cut, industry will slacken and thousands will be thrown out of employment."

That statement sets forth the American case. How about Europe? While industry is slackening in this country and $2,000,000,000 surplus is going to waste in our warehouses millions of women and children, according to Herbert Hoover, will be starving over there. The solution offered by the international bankers will leave them to perish. For the bankers say foreign exchange cannot be brought back to a pre-war basis until the balance of trade swings back in favor of Europe.

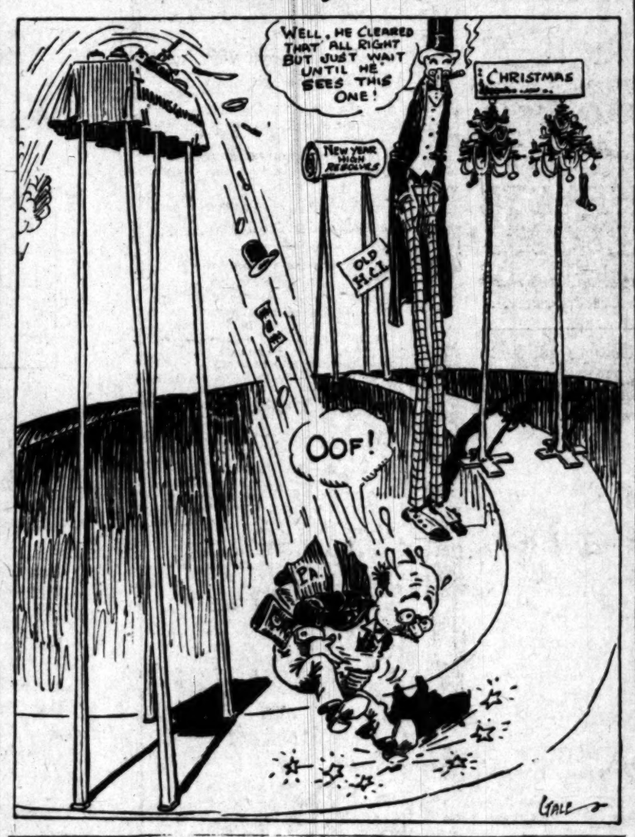
The Times is of the opinion that, if the balance of trade were to favor those European countries next week, the value of the French, German, Austrian and Italian currency would still remain away below par. Bonds of governments are worthless if the governments are insecure. Two-thirds of the value of foreign exchange rests on confidence; and until there is confidence that the European governments are not going to succumb to radicalism the rate of exchange will be so heavily adverse to them that profitable trade with this country will be extremely difficult, except on a basis of commodity exchange.

For the good of America, for our own economic safety and industrial prosperity, we must work out some plan that will enable us to dispose of our excess products in markets where they are so sorely needed. If we were to put aside the debt we owe in the name of humanity to the underfed women and children of Europe the fact would still remain that it would be a sound economic policy to arrange a system of commodity exchange and long-term credits with Europe that would keep our own workers employed and prevent a demoralization of home markets by overproduction. As for the humane appeal—that in itself is one to which a deaf ear has never been turned by the free people of the United States.

ALL POLITICS.

There is going to be a fight in the Senate over the confirmation of President Wilson's appointees in the Shipping Board. Most of the appointments are entirely political and none was made for any especial qualification for the place. As there is no money available for salaries some of those named may decide that the honor is empty and not worth a long-drawn struggle. That eminent shipper, Chet Rowell, has intimated that he could find another job if he has to.

The Holiday Hurdles.



WAR'S AFTERMATH.

After all the suffering and turmoil, after all the stirring deeds of almost superhuman endeavor, after the heights of lofty patriotism, service, sacrifice and ennobled sorrows come the graft scandals, the sordid revelations of personal greed, intrigue, jealousies—bribery, corruption, meanness, disgusting exploitations of the woes of nations.

Not only the United States, every country is going through this sordid aftermath, these dreadful, unthinkable, incredible exposures of human pettiness. While half the nation is exalted to glorious sacrifice the other half gnaws its vitals. While half the nation gives, gives royally, heroically, sublimely, the other half takes, sneaks, steals, betrays.

Nothing could be more utterly dispiriting than the post-war revelations that are besetting every country today. Army, civilians are all in it. There doesn't seem any department of any government that was free from some murky scandal, some dirty underhand exploitation of the nobility of its heroes. If the suffering and devastation are not a sufficient argument against the wanton wickedness of war, then surely the ensuing loathsome revelations are mighty and conclusive. When it can be said that war turns poltroons into heroes and raises nations to great spiritual heights the suffering, sacrifices and devastations can be endured for the nobility they entail. But when we see that it as surely transforms comparatively decent citizens into parasites, leeches, vultures and pampered criminals, who seize the opportunity of the nation's anguish for personal greed and aggrandizement, belittling and discounting all the heroism and splendid renunciation, where, then, is the virtue in endurance?

We see in Count Ludendorff's published memoirs how the German people were fooled, cheated, exploited and through them finally every country involved in the war, so that the vast majority of those German soldiers, even as our own, honestly thought they were fighting a noble cause. Revelation after revelation is turning the whole great war into a mockery, a bitter tragic farce, a wanton gamble with human souls for stakes. Which of us reviewing the daily exposures can say in our hearts that wars must be, that a League of Nations will be futile and must therefore be strangled at its birth?

Surely the whole world must see the pitiful futility of war, the utter degradation of it, the waste and cruelty of it, and realize that some great concerted effort must be made to halt such recurring bitternesses. Surely if the same exalted effort can be mobilized towards peace as was mobilized for war it could not wholly fail. And it is now, while the war is still a vivid, hideous memory, while the dirty aftermath is stinking in our nostrils, that the supreme opportunity for laying the foundations comes.

The incomplete League of Nations is now sitting at Geneva, the beginning of a great endeavor. And already every debate and argument is headlined in the newspapers of its opponents as a "hot clash," "a row," "a fight." These opponents would deny to the sublime experiment even a trial. They want to see it fail; they seize every little sign of disagreement as evidence of their confirmed cynicism, stir up racial prejudices, gloat over glimmers of reviving hates and yell with triumph when the absence of the United States promises impotence. Yet, if there were no disagreements, no points to argue, no prejudices to overcome, no hates to dim, there would be no need for a League of Nations, no danger of future wars. It is just the fact that a League provides a safety valve, an outlet for these pent-up differences of opinion, gives them all an airing and thus dispels the strength of their venom, which proves the value of and necessity for a League.

When the United States joins the League, with the necessary reservations, but joins it nevertheless, with earnest co-operation and influence, this great endeavor, this noble experiment for the abolition of war, will at least have a preponderating chance for success. Perchance all the nations are not quite honest, perchance there is still a distressing modicum of selfish greed and racial prejudice, but there is such an infinitely greater amount of these influences at large and untrammeled without a League that any effort to harness and restrict them is worth while. The League is at least a mighty attempt in the right direction—and never was the attempt more urgently needed. In the meantime, whether the United States is in it or out of it, the least this country can do is to give the League every encouragement and withhold our cheap and cynical sneers until we have formulated a better plan. We may not help, but we need not hinder, and God knows any such undertaking is entitled to the utmost respect.

NEW STYLE PEERESSES.

During the month two Scottish peers have announced their engagement to working girls. The Master of Kinloss, younger son of a duke, is to marry a blacksmith's daughter who will now rank among British aristocrats. Viscount Melville of Melville Castle, Edinburgh, is to marry Miss Todd, a shop assistant. Both girls are described as superior members of their sex.

This looks like an interesting innovation. Time was when the peers sought their brides among chorus girls, barmaids or American heiresses, when they stepped outside of their own titled class. But in these practical days the self-supporting working girl of solid, respectable stock is coming forward, and rumor hath it that in both the above cases the families of the respective bridegrooms entirely approve of their choice. Moreover, during and since the war hundreds of titled girls have married commoners, often men from the ranks, whom they met in war service. All of which looks as if British aristocracy, at any rate, is seeking new blood in a practical democratic way, in which neither tinsel nor gold plays any part. They are evidently looking for good wives, not ornaments nor bank accounts, and the vogue is to be highly commended. It is also worthy of comment that both the blacksmith's daughter and the shop assistant are described as devoid of artificial aids to beauty, that their complexions are their own, their hair guiltless of peroxide blondine and their clothes markedly conservative. If the peerage starts getting sensible like this it will shed the indictment of "effeteness" and win a renewed lease of life.

THE COURTEOUS COP.

The Los Angeles police are expected to be diplomatic, urbane and cultured on $180 a month. The regulations of the new Chief insist upon courtesy and clean speech. Even when the corner cop is ordering a bunch of hoodlums to move on he must do it in chaste and refined language. It is matter of proof that politeness and firmness go hand in hand. The silken glove conceals the steel-like grip and an officer does not have to curse like a pirate in order to be impressive or effective. The policemen are not to be quarrelsome or officious. If the stranger gruffly demands information the cop must not return him in kind, but is expected to patiently and gracefully furnish the knowledge and carry a bland smile as a part of his stock in trade. It is said to be as easy to be considerate as coarse, and the Los Angeles police are expected to prove it. Even when winging a runaway burglar the officer is expected to do it in a genteel and ladylike manner. The mixture of courtesy and courage makes a fine cop. The force in Los Angeles is inadequate for the population and area of the city and it is hoped that quality may in a measure compensate for quantity.

WAR OF WIRES.

The United States government appears to have declared war against the Western Union Company and threatens to cut cables and one thing or another. Maybe the administration is keeping in practice. It hasn't had a war for a couple of years and was not conspicuously competent in the one it had. A war with the telegraph company would be about its size. The War and Navy departments will probably begin by jumping on the messenger boys and work up to the point where a tank will be sent after Newcomb Carlton, the telegraph executive. There was a time when the administration might send forth a flock of words that would melt the wires, but that has passed. It would be funny, however, if we had to call in the League of Nations to settle the embroilment between Uncle Sam and his favorite cable company.

OUR SUNNY FRIEND

After the Cataclysm.

Jim Smith says he read in a book
Of a guy that was climbing a mountainside,
When all of a sudden something shook
And the whole durned thing began to slide
And buried that poor bird where he stood,
And Jim says you can bet your socks
He knows just how the fellow felt
Since the morning after he voted for Cox.

Jim says one time the papers told
How a mine caved in and caught a man
And for weeks they fed him on stuff they poured Through an iron pipe from an iron pan
And he thought at the time he'd never heard
Of a man that was caught in a tighter box,
But now he feels like that poor bird
Had nothing on him, he voted for Cox.

Jim Smith says when he was a kid
He went to Sunday-school and learned
How the rain poured down for forty days
On Noah's neighbors and how it turned
The face of their earth to a vasty deep,
Which covered the plains and the hills and the rocks,
Poor souls, he knows how they must have felt,
Since the morning after he voted for Cox.

Hez Cushenberry says when he had stomach trouble a while back the doctor he consulted sent him to an oculist and said there was something wrong with his eyes and later he had a sort of gout in one of his feet and the doctor told him to see a dentist and now he has a touch of neuralgia in his jaw and he guesses he will go to a chiropodist first and save a double fee.

My Cousin Anne says a fancy name on a boy is like a vaccination scar, it don't always take, and her cousin who married Bud Brown used to be a Burlingame and proud of it.

In order to perpetuate her maiden name she called her firstborn James Burlingame Brown, but the first thing she knew everybody was calling him Jimmie.

When the second appeared on the scene she called him John Burlingame Brown. In spite of everything she could do the name of Jack settled down on him and became a fixture.

The third one she called plain Burlingame Brown.

"I guess that'll hold them for awhile," she said the morning of the christening.

He's the one the town calls "Buster."

Of course, the motive that impelled the Michigan widower of 105 to take unto himself a new wife of twenty summers may not have been altogether infatuation. His children may have needed a mother's care.

The Surer Way.

I wooed Pranella with an ardent ode
And saw the eager blushes as my accents fell,
Her red lips parted and her dear eyes glowed
As the words' magic touched her with their spell.
And yet my rival won her budding charms,
He wooed her with his lips, also his arms.

Prof. Dink Beeson says isn't it wonderful how much can be made out of how little just by varying the combination of the ingredients.

Philosophers tell us there are only about a dozen possible jokes in the world and yet he read recently the experience of a jokesmith who had written thirty thousand of them and had quite a bit of his lifetime left in which to write more.

And,

Look at the short stories and novels that are ground out every year besides the tons of them that are to be found stored away in any city library and consider that philosophers limit the possible plots of fiction to little more than a dozen.

And,

He says he guesses you could take and reproduce the greater part of the music of the world that really counts and not run the gamut of more than two octaves in doing it.

And,

He says to consider the multitude of shades and tints and colorings that God has spread upon the canvass of nature for us to admire and the fact that they are all formed from the seven primary colors of the spectrum.

How Our Hearts Thrilled When First We Read Them!

A long, rakish craft stood in the offing.
Fifteen million dollars with which to corrupt the electorate.
Oh, Richard! oh, my king, this world has all forsaken thee.
Every traitor in the land will vote for Harding tomorrow.
The thing that I do is better than any I have ever done, the rest I go to is better than any I have ever known.
Peace and prosperity, Cox and Roosevelt. THREL FALL.

Some Folks Never Learn from Anything.

Due to the present shortage of places to live in, it became incumbent upon a school-teacher to board in a very illiterate family. At dinner one evening the small son addressed his father thus:

"Pop, I had my picture took at school today."

Don't say took, say taken," corrected father. "Aren't you never going to learn nothing? Don't it do no good to have a school-teacher in the family?"

Bring with them new strength and vision
For the day's perplexities.
"I've just come over to help you!"
Oh, sweet little maiden true,
What better help could you possibly give
Than just to live and be You?
For we still can carry onward
Through a few more years to come,
Ere we fling to you the torches
Of the race that you must run.
But the path is ever brighter
And shorter seems the way,
When you run across to help us
Through the problems of the day!

SHOP EARLIER

In fairness to the thousands who ride street cars after the day's work, the Los Angeles Railway requests that you do your Christmas shopping early in the season and early in the day. By adding to the rush hour travel you will delay yourself and unnecessarily inconvenience people who must ride the cars at that time.

Christmas shopping and heavy travel will set a new record this year. Earlier shopping is necessary or it will be practically impossible to reach the store counters.

Every available street car is being put into operation to give the best possible service under present traffic conditions. Your convenience depends largely on your fairness and co-operation.

TRAILED RICH MAN TO ITALY.

Daughter of Local Woman in Fight for His Estate.

First Wife Asserts Danger of Prison Divided Home.

Asked Divorce to Avoid Move Pending Under Mann Act.

A Los Angeles woman and her daughter, formerly a resident of this city, are the chief figures in the bitterest will contest ever waged in the Northwest. Mrs. W. C. Hill, wife of a local rancher, and the daughter, Mrs. Anita Laurence Laberee, are opposing the suit of Mrs. Rose Laberee of Spokane, which is being tried in Klamath Falls, Or., to break the will of the late Oscar G. Laberee, Alaska railroad builder and pioneer of the Yukon.

Mrs. Rose Laberee is the first wife of the dead man. When Laberee died she received no part of the estate and her two children received only $5 each. Mrs. Anita Laberee, the second wife, formerly Laberee's secretary, was left an estate of $150,000.

In her suit to break the will, the divorced wife contended that the will is invalid because Laberee married Anita Laurence four days before the six months' limit fixed by the State of Washington had expired after the divorce. The defense asserted that the full time had expired before the wedding took place.

Mrs. Rose Laberee introduced evidence to show that Laberee had induced her to get a divorce after he had had an affair with Miss Laurence. Numerous hotel employees, in person and by deposition, from Seattle to New York, Chicago, Paris and London, testified that over a period of years before Laberee's divorce and remarriage, he and Miss Laurence had traveled from city to city, always stopping at the same hotels.

MANN ACT THREAT.

Evidence was also produced to show that Anita Laurence pursued Laberee from the Yukon to Italy, from Seattle to London, from New York to Paris until he finally yielded and, to escape prosecution, which she threatened under the Mann Act, he persuaded his loyal wife to get a divorce "to save the family from disgrace."

Anita Laberee, on the stand, admitted intimate relations with Laberee, which continued over a period of several weeks prior to his divorce, when she found that motherhood was approaching, she testified, Laberee promised to procure a divorce and marry her. She also told of the preparing of a bogus marriage certificate to protect the illegitimate child. For this certificate, she confessed, she and Laberee invented an imaginary husband whom they named "Laurence," declaring he was the father of her baby, "David Laurence." The imaginary "Mr. Laurence" conveniently died in Paris, according to her story.

Mrs. Hill, the second wife's mother, stated on the witness stand that she had no knowledge of improper relations between Laberee and her daughter and said that instead of encouraging their friendship she disliked Laberee and cautioned Anita against him. Counsel for the plaintiffs attempted to show that Mrs. Hill, the Los Angeles woman, was a party to, if not the instigator, of her daughter's asserted plant to trap the aged and ill Laberee and to wreck his home.

HAPPY IN EARLY DAYS.

The first wife told a story of poverty and happiness in the first years of her marriage to Laberee. His affections, she said, disappeared with the opening of the Klondike and the scent of easy fortunes to be made there. In 1908 Anita Laurence met him in Alaska. Later, the first wife testified, he confessed his guilty liason with Miss Laurence and asked his wife to get a divorce from him. He told her that Miss Laurence threatened to send him to the penitentiary for violation of the Mann Act if he refused to marry her.

"I told him," said Mrs. Rose Laberee, "that I would rather be the wife of a convict than to be a divorced woman."

She finally consented to divorce him and they parted in 1915. After the divorce and Laberee's marriage to Miss Laurence, they went to Klamath county and purchased a huge stock ranch. He built a magnificent home and furnished it luxuriously, but lived only a short time. He died in 1918. Testimony at the hearing indicated that Laberee amassed three fortunes of $1,000,000 each and then lost them all. He was penniless a few years before his death, but recovered a part of his fortune through an Alaskan railroad deal.

The case is now under advisement and Judge Bunnell is expected to return a decision within a few days.

BURIAL AT BEACH CITY.

Services Tomorrow for Mining and Oil Corporation Law Expert.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at Todd's mortuary chapel at Santa Monica for Alton M. Cates of Ocean Park, a noted expert on oil and mine corporation law, who died at his beach home last Wednesday. Mr. Cates, who was 48 years of age, has been an attorney here for the last twenty-four years. He leaves his wife, Claire A. Cates, and a son, Vincent Cates, who is in Boston attending the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Mr. Cates was prominent in Masonic circles, and the Ocean Park Masonic Lodge will conduct the funeral services.

FIND DRUGS IN FOOD.

Police Arrest Wife of Prisoner at Door of Station.

Drugs found cunningly concealed in a loaf of bread and in some apples which Mrs. Florence Orosco, 26 years of age, was taking to her husband, who is held in the Lincoln Heights Police Station, resulted in the arrest of the young woman yesterday at the door of the jail. Mrs. Orosco, whose husband is held on a petty larceny charge, declares she did not know that the drugs were concealed in the food.

POLICE SEEK COLTON CROOKS.

Search was begun yesterday by the Los Angeles police for six men suspected of having been implicated in robberies recently at Colton. The men were driven from a freight train, bound this way, when it stopped a few miles east of this city.

GAY HOLIDAY IN PASADENA.

Varied Program of Entertainment Offered Visitors.

California Tech Ranks High in Government Report.

Peddles Cold Tea for Five Dollars a Quart.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, Nov. 25.—Pasadena enjoyed a bountiful Thanksgiving Day today, marked by glorious weather. Thanksgiving church services were held in the morning—a union service of the Protestant Evangelical churches at Pasadena Presbyterian Church, special services in All Saints' and St. Mark's Episcopal churches. Thanksgiving masses conducted by Monsignor J. M. McCarthy at St. Andrew's Catholic Church, and special exercises at the First Church of Christ, Scientist.

The Oregon-U.S.C. football game brought large crowds to the city in the afternoon, augmented the local populace and the large number of winter visitors now in the city. The hotels were very gay, the Vista del Arroyo having a brilliant Hawaiian entertainment tonight and the Maryland a Thanksgiving ball. The Pasadena Golf Club opened its new course in Altadena today.

"TECH" RANKS HIGH.

A report just received at the California Institute of Technology from the Chief of Engineers of the United States Army at Washington shows that the engineer unit of the R.O.T.C. at the Institute stands very high among the nineteen institutions in the country at which engineer units are maintained.

California Tech holds first place among these institutions in percentage of its total student body enrolled in the R.O.T.C. unit—68 per cent of the student body being enrolled in the unit.

"Tech" has the second largest enrollment in the basic course, having 200 students so enrolled, this number being exceeded only by the University of Illinois, where out of an enrollment of 1556 engineering students, there are 300 enrolled in the R.O.T.C. engineer unit. California Tech also has the third largest enrollment in the advanced course, being exceeded only by Virginia Polytechnic Institute and Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

A fourth point of distinction is that the Institute had the largest number of students in attendance at the 1920 engineer camp at Camp Humphreys, of any institution.

WHISKY PROVES COLD TEA.

Pasadena police are looking for a slick negro who has been vending bottles of cold tea at $5 a quart on the representation that it was bonded whisky. The negro told his victims his name was James Lee, that he was fearful of arrest and was anxious to unload his bonded booze at the ridiculously cheap price of $5 a quart. He found many gullibles among the thirsty. Some reports have it that he has disposed of several hundred quarts of the spurious "hooch," there being many of the thirsty distributed among Pasadena's decorous population.

ROLL CALL EXTENDED.

The membership quota for the Pasadena chapter of the Red Cross has not been reached, so the chapter officials, have extended the drive to include Friday and Saturday. It will be wound up Saturday evening.

Dates for the eleventh annual poultry show of the Pasadena Poultrymen's Association have been set. The show will be held December 8 to 11, inclusive, in one of the vacant store buildings on West Colorado street. H. E. Emerson of Burbank and J. L. Harrison of Pasadena have been named as the judges. Many entries are expected from poultry fanciers in other cities.

Beautiful ones for dressers, kerchiefs, brushes, veils, hair pins, buttons, jewelry, talcum, salts, cards, bridge sets, cigars and cigarettes, snuff, sewing, candy mits, and scores of other useful boxes made in Miss Nicholson's own shops. They make wonderful gifts—or if you are a collector of rare boxes there are antiques in ivory, horn, silver, brass, copper, enamel and old lacquers from China, Java, Korea, Spain, Japan, Burma, Tibet and the Philippines.—[Advertisement.

RIVERSIDE FAIR TO ASK FOR STATE AID.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 25.—The question of securing State aid for the local fair was discussed at a meeting of the board of directors of the Southern California Fair Association last night, and a committee was appointed to bring the matter before the next session of the Legislature. This committee consists of Senator S. C. Evans, E. P. Clarke, J. R. Gabbert, H. A. Hammond, Assemblyman Chester Kline, C. L. McFarland, Mayor Horace Porter, John L. Bishop, Ross L. Hammond and J. J. Pendergast.

The present value of the property of the association is $40,000, according to a statement presented by the auditor, W. H. Fertig. Improvements costing $13,000 were made during the year.

BOOSTS BOY SCOUTS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA ANA, Nov. 25.—Every Elk lodge should arrange the formation of Boy Scout troops, as the scout movement is one of the best for developing good Americans, according to Charles Donlon of Santa Barbara, president of the State Elk Association, in an address here. The occasion was a ceremony participated in by 600 "Bills" upon the first official visit in the south of E. J. Field of San Bernardino, new district Deputy Exalted Ruler for the south.

ON SERIOUS CHARGE.

Santa Barbara Officers Hold Man Wanted in Bakersfield.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 25.—Alden Willett of Santa Barbara and Bakersfield was arrested here on telegraphic instructions from the Sheriff of Kern county, a complaint having been sworn to at Bakersfield charging him with a statutory offense. Willett was married in August at Los Angeles to Miss Vera Gillum of Summerland. At the time of the marriage a pathetic but anonymous letter appeared in the Los Angeles papers, written by a woman who claimed to be his wife, which said:

"My husband and I have been separated for a short time. We have a divorce, but I love him. I want him back.

"If the girl wants to marry him after I am dead, she can have him. Oh, God, I pray help me find the young girl.

"I live in Los Angeles; have lived here all my life. Please help me before it is too late; can't you help a heart-broken wife."

The Los Angeles girl, who it is said has sworn to a complaint against him, Willett claims, was taken into his home after he married the Summerland girl, and had remained with him until recently when twins were born. He says he and his wife have been willing to adopt the twins.

FORMER MAJOR SUES FOR LARGE DAMAGE.

CLAIMS AIRPLANE COMPANY IS GUILTY OF MALICIOUS PROSECUTION.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 25.—S. C. Parr, a former major in the British Royal Flying Corps, who is awaiting a court decision in a case in which he is charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, has filed suit against the Curtiss Airplane and Motor Corporation of Garden City, N. Y., seeking damages in the amount of $62,575. Malicious prosecution is charged in the complaint.

Parr was arrested last March on a complaint filed by the Curtiss corporation, charging him with the embezzlement of $2800. At the time Parr was head of the mechanical department of the corporation at March Field. The case was later dismissed and Parr was arrested on the same day on a charge of embezzling an airplane. The jury which tried the case found him not guilty. A third complaint, which has not yet been disposed of, charged Parr with driving a car while intoxicated.

SERVICE SAVES VETERAN.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA ANA, Nov. 25.—Two years of service in the Navy during the war today saved Emil Verges from a prison term and instead brought his release on probation when he appeared before Superior Judge R. Y. Williams for sentence. Verges had pleaded guilty to a grand larceny charge in connection with the theft of an automobile from J. E. Haskins at Seal Beach last May.

Says Husband Made Trips With Rival.

Miss Rose Miller.

Named as co-respondent in a divorce suit brought by Mrs. Oddie May Saxon against John A. Saxon, former court reporter here.

A HANDSOME young woman, until recently employed by a local insurance company, is named as the other woman in a divorce suit filed by Mrs. Oddie May Saxon against John A. Saxon, formerly court reporter in Judge McCormick's department. The co-respondent, Miss Rose Miller, is now said to be in Needles. Mr. Saxon is in San Francisco, working as a reporter for a State commission.

The complaint, filed through Attorney H. H. Harris, sets up a story of Mr. Saxon's infatuation for Miss Miller, but it is said the testimony of Mrs. Saxon will show that when her husband first began to take an interest in Miss Miller she did not know he was a married man.

When Mr. Saxon's infatuation became pronounced, Mrs. Saxon will declare, it is understood, that Miss Miller learned he had a wife. Notwithstanding this fact, the complaint states that the acts complained of continued until the commencement of the divorce suit.

Trips to the Yosemite, Lake Tahoe, Riverside and San Francisco, on which Mrs. Saxon was accompanied by Miss Miller, are mentioned in the complaint. The reputed acts of misconduct are based on information and belief.

Through her attorney Mrs. Saxon declares that Miss Miller shared her husband's new automobile on many evenings when he told his wife he would be working late in his office.

As a court reporter Mr. Saxon earned approximately $500 a month. As a side issue he wrote scenarios, a number of which he sold at good prices. The papers in the suit were served on him in San Francisco by Attorney Harris.

Mr. and Mrs. Saxon were married April 23, 1909. The separation occurred on the 7th inst.

A Danger Signal—Tender and Bleeding Gums

Healthy teeth cannot live in diseased tissue. Gums tainted with Pyorrhea are dangerously diseased. For not only the teeth are affected, but Pyorrhea germs seep into the body, lower its vitality and cause many ills.

Pyorrhea begins with tender and bleeding gums. Then the gums recede, the teeth decay, loosen and fall out, or must be extracted to rid the system of the poisonous germs that breed in pockets about them.

Four out of five people over forty have this disease. But you need not have it. Visit your dentist often for tooth and gum inspection. And keep Pyorrhea away by using Forhan's For the Gums.

Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea—or check its progress—if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's keeps the gums hard and healthy, the teeth white and clean. If you have tender or bleeding gums, start using it today. If gum-shrinkage has already set in, use Forhan's according to directions, and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

Season Fire Loss Small, is Report of Forest Chief.

There were just 100 fires on the Angeles Forest Reserve during the past season, according to a report just completed yesterday by Supervisor Allen. Of this total, sixty-six burned over less than a quarter acre; twenty-two over less than ten acres, and twelve over more than ten acres each. One-half of the number of fires started on private land. Fifty-seven were started by the carelessness of smokers and campers. Fifteen only were unpreventable, these being fires started by lightning. Eleven were caused by careless brush burning, and the largest fires arose from this cause. It is believed that the new county ordinance requiring brush burning permits will assist in eliminating this source.

The total acreage burned over was 1742, but of this only 303 acres were national forest land. The cooperation of the public and rigid law enforcement are responsible for the excellent record made during the past season in the opinion of Supervisor Allen.

Valuable assistance was rendered by the Arcadia Balloon School, whose skycrafts had a cruising and observation area of about twenty miles, from La Canada to the mouth of San Gabriel Canyon.

HOLLY PICKERS HAD BETTER USE CARE.

Supervisor Allen of the Angeles Forest Reserve declared yesterday that he does not wish to interfere in the taking of holly by the thousands of hikers in the woods, provided due caution is exercised. However, he does object to the indiscriminate tearing up of the brush from the roots or splitting off great limbs. It requires three years to raise a holly tree to a bearing size, Mr. Allen stated, and unless there is an improvement in the habits of the mountain visitors, he may have to take steps to stop the securing of holly altogether.

CHEVROLET, THOUGH DEAD, IS SPEEDWAY CHAMPION.

His Record Unbeaten in Race in Which He Forfeits Life; Dramatic Story of Hurricane Speed Fight.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Gaston Chevrolet is the dead speedway champion of America. He paid the supreme price in the slaughter of time and of men at the Beverly track yesterday when in this contest, as grisly as a gladiatorial combat, the Frontenac in which he was striving to hurl himself to victory, hurled him into eternity.

Seventy thousand stood stupefied as two great racing machines were tested out. Joe Thomas in his blue Frontenac had the pole at the upper turn. Chevrolet at the wheel of the green Frontenac Special was just alongside him, with Eddie O'Donnell driving the gray Duesenberg Special a greater speed on the outside.

The three had fled past the stand like phantom monsters, and thundered into the curve almost as one, repeating their huge battle challenge. Chevrolet's Frontenac seemed to be crowded, and was seen for the fatal moment to swerve as Wishon swung slightly into the rail. The front right wheel of the Frontenac struck the rear left wheel of the Duesenberg Special. The gray machine turned turtle with O'Donnell, while Chevrolet's car careened wildly to the top of the track, where it tore the boards from 100 feet of heavy fence. Then, like a mortally wounded thing of steel, it rolled over and over until it lodged heavily at the bottom of the track beside its shattered rival.

SHOOTS OUT OF WRECKAGE.

The Thomas machine, like a thing of charmed life, shot out of the wreckage and vibrantly on into the turn.

What seemed an eternity of blinding chaos, was crowded into this tragic instant. Dimly the thousands of strained eyes recorded the last impression of a hard crash, as great machines hurdling over and over—at a distance they seemed like two big bugs in a playful mood—a spray of splinters, a smudge of dust, a splotch of blood, and only the fragments of a broken fence remained to mark where two lives had been crushed out.

Except for this red realization of the hazards of the racing game, the new world's record might have been born in the hour of death. Aside there was no appreciable lessening of the mad pace of the five cars remaining on the track. Each car as it approached the upper turn on the last lap seemed instinctively to sheer away from the death spot.

Roscoe Sarles, at the wheel of the Duesenberg Special, drove a masterful race. Under his guidance the 250 miles were ground away in 2h. 23m. 20s. for an average of 103.2 miles per hour—dazzling, but not quite a world mark.

Sarles seemed a part of his machine, which with rhythmic throb of its steel heart set the pace for every fleeting foot of distance. Literally flying round and round the great bowl, each lap a hurricane of speed, Sarles showed no more emotion than a farmer winding an eight-day clock.

But the past points of Sarles were not sufficient to threaten the title of the now dead French driver, nor were those of Edward Miller in another Duesenberg Special, who romped across a good second, less than two minutes behind the leader and made an average of 102.8 miles an hour.

Eddie Hearne, ReVerve Special, took third money in 2h. 27m. 14.3 s. and Jimmie Murphy, who won the Beverly championship in its first baptism of speed, was fourth in 2h. 31m. 41.9s. Murphy also drove a Duesenberg Special. In fact, the affair might easily have been mistaken for a reunion of the Duesenberg family.

Early the field of twelve began to be thinned by the hazards and vagaries of motor racing. Here a wheel whirled off sprays of tattered rubber, or a hood thrown back with feverish haste as a car swung into the pit told eloquently of engine trouble, or the pungent odor in the wake of a machine indicated a broken gas lead. Sarles, alone of all who finished, was not forced to see precious seconds slip past him in the pits. His mechanicians flashed cryptic messages of encouragement to him as he shot past, but their skill was not needed.

Chevrolet had not visited the pits when death eliminated him from the race, but except for a few sensational brushes, as the one at the fatal moment, he was not driving at a pace

LONG BEACH IS TOO FAST FOR PASADENA.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONG BEACH, Nov. 25.—In a bizarre offering of Thanksgiving football, Long Beach Poly collected forty-eight points at the expense of the Pasadena High Bull-pups before the largest crowd that has been fitted into the Seaside Athletic plant. The Red and White failed to score, the first half was tightly fought, Long Beach accomplishing but one touchdown during that period.

The second session was a bit more contrasty, the Jackrabbits galloping across the Pasadena goal as fast as time would allow. The third quarter gave them two touchdowns and the final quarter brought on four more.

Long Beach appeared without the services of Lefebvre, star halfback, who was injured in the San Diego game. The beach high-lights of interest were Price, quarterback; Drury, center; Lawson, end, and Darby, guard. Pasadena had good workers in Payne, halfback; Horrell, centre, and Barton tackle. The game was the eleventh annual Thanksgiving event fought between Long Beach and Pasadena.

MISSOURI STATE HUMBLES KANSAS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

COLUMBIA (Mo.) Nov. 25.—Missouri State humbled the University of Kansas, 16 to 7 today and became the runner-up in the Missouri Valley conference race.

The Kansas line was unable to withstand the assault of the Tiger backfield, Lincoln, Fullbright and Lewis going through for heavy gains.

Missouri also presented a defense that was almost impregnable, repeatedly throwing the enemy back for losses on attempted line plunges. This forced Kansas to depend almost entirely on an aerial attack, the yardage gain of which was generally small.

DENVER WALLOPED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DENVER (Colo.) Nov. 25.—The Colorado Agricultural College today clinched the championship of the Rocky Mountain conference by defeating the University of Denver in a spectacular game, 14 to 0. The Aggies scored two touchdowns in the final period.

OHIO THERE IN THE AIR.

Football Champions Have Forward Pass Down to a Fine Point.

[This is the first of a series of articles written for The Times by Grant F. Ward, on the coaching staff of the Ohio State football team. Mr. Ward will give details of Ohio's style of football and statistics on each member of the team that meets the best of California in the East vs. West grid battle New Year's Day.]

BY GRANT F. WARD,

Line Coach and Scout for the Ohio State Football Team.

COLUMBUS (O.) Nov. 25.—When the Ohio State champion eleven shows at Pasadena on New Year's Day, California gridiron followers will see in action an eleven which in play is not similar to the Harvard aggregation which a year ago triumphed over Oregon by the margin of a single point. Ever since Dr. John Wilce became head coach of the State University team the Buckeyes have been adepts in the open game. Practically all of their games this year have been won by use of the forward pass, in which they have no superiors anywhere.

Ohio football fans are prone to refer to the Buckeyes as the "fighting-est" eleven which the Central States have ever seen. Their record this season stamps them as a game aggregation and one which can come from behind and win out.

The four most important games on the Ohio schedule this year were the Wisconsin, Chicago, Michigan and Illinois contests and it is significant that each one of these games was won in the final period of play. There were only a few minutes left for play when the winning counters were put over against Wisconsin; in the Chicago game the Maroons led the Buckeyes until the closing minutes of the game; "Hurry Up" Yost's Michigan Wolverines were the first to score in their game with the Wilce men, only to be tied in the second quarter and to lose out in the final period.

In the Illinois battle, on which the championship of the western conference hinged, neither team had scored and only four seconds of play remained, when Quarterback "Hoge" Workman threw a long pass to "Truck" Myers, end, who scurried seventeen yards for the only touchdown of the game, the time having expired while the ball was in the air.

There may be some teams that boast of more stars than Ohio does, but that is a matter of doubt. Few, if any, play more intelligent football than do the Buckeyes, who have outguessed and outgeneraled every team they have met this season, who have seldom been fooled by any trick play and who, in every game, have pulled off at least one play which completely fooled the opposition and resulted either in a long gain or a touchdown for the winning points.

TROJANS SLAUGHTER AND CRUSH OREGON ELEVEN.

Henderson's Warriors Simply Carry Invaders Off Feet; Defense of Webfooters is a Myth.

BY PAUL LOWRY.

Five years ago Oregon won a football game from U.S.C. in Los Angeles. Since that time the two had not met until yesterday, when Elmer Henderson's splendidly drilled collection of young giants wiped out the stain of that ancient defeat and utterly ruined Oregon.

Between the dream of U.S.C.'s revenge and the fact there is a story and the story as it ended involves a 21 to 0 triumph for U.S.C.

SMASHED 'EM.

U.S.C. swept back the Oregon tide, crushed it under foot and annihilated it, demonstrating to the entire satisfaction of the 20,000 persons who thronged the Pasadena grounds the absolute superiority of the Trojan eleven in every department of play.

U.S.C. smashed the Oregon line, circled the ends, criss-crossed for huge gains and fought her way down the field for three touchdowns, one in the first quarter, and two in the fourth period, from all of which Swede Evans, the giant tackle, kicked goal.

University of California football men who sat in the bleachers were wagering before the game that Oregon would win because they thought the Northwesterners knew more football. Before the first quarter was over they knew better. Before the mystic maze which Gloomy Henderson put on the field in the guise of a football team yesterday Oregon was powerless. It was U.S.C. that knew the football and not Oregon.

WAS A MYTH.

The Oregon offense was a myth. It vanished a few minutes before the game started, and never developed after the fray got under way. True, Bill Steers, a big cog in the Oregon backfield did not play, but even a Steers couldn't have gotten through the U.S.C. line yesterday.

Oregon made exactly twenty-eight yards from scrimmage, and failed to make a single first down. When a team is so completely overwhelmed as was Oregon yesterday there isn't much that can be said in its favor. U.S.C. made fifteen first downs.

SMITH THERE.

Dean, U.S.C.'s wonderful line smasher, pulverized the Oregon line for two touchdowns, and Jimmy Smith was on the end of a successful forward pass for the final touchdown.

Leading up to the exploits of the Trojan backs into the scoring realm is the story of their resistless marches down the field with Dean, Butterfield, Leadingham, Kincaid, and latter in the game Lockett and Eddie Leahy joining in the attack. Working back of a stanch line that outcharged the Oregon line from the beginning of the game to the end they whirled their way to a majestic victory.

COSTLY BOOTS.

Two costly fumbles in the first quarter by the overzealous Butterfield was all that robbed U.S.C. of another touchdown.

Oregon won the toss, and chose to receive the kick in the south end of the field with the sun at the players' back. Swede Evans carefully arranged the ball on a huge mound of earth and U.S.C. deployed in kick formation. Evans booted to the goal line, Meade ran to the 20-yard line, where he was downed. Three line plunges netted five yards, and Spike Leslie punted to the U.S.C. 46-yard line.

NEAR THE SIDE.

The ball was near the sideline and Butterfield went off tackle for one yard and was thrown outside. Leadingham, who was one of the outstanding stars of the game, made five yards around left end, and Kincaid make it first down with a smash through left guard for five.

Leadingham gained nine on an off-tackle buck. Butterfield fumbled on the next play and Oregon recovered the ball on the 21-yard line. Chapman gained three yards. Calland threw Meade for a five-yard loss. Leslie punted.

The Choice Prizes of Life Are Won By the Healthy and Strong

The weak, soft, flabby-muscled—those who are deficient in vigor and vital force—have ever had to suffer the humiliation of being ruthlessly shoved aside by their stronger rivals.

A clear, ruddy complexion; bright eyes; hardened muscles; and a well knit-together body of elastic step and sway, constitute a trump card in any game—whether of love or business.

If you feel that you are outclassed, lacking the stamina to stand up and claim your own, don't delay another day in commencing to take

The Great General Tonic

It will restore that confidence you need to combat the ever opposing forces of social and business life; it will give you the heart and spirit to do and the courage to challenge the world to your right to a place in the Sun, because it will rebuild your physical strength and mental power to a state of perfect health, strengthening your run-down system with better nourishment because of its great aid to digestion.

"LYKO" is a refreshing appetizer and an exceptional general tonic in those abnormal conditions of the physical and nervous systems, such as muscular and mental fatigue, nervous exhaustion, general weakness, or debility following a protracted illness or the result of a wasting disease. It's truly Nature's first assistant as a restorative agent—a really remarkable reconstructive. All druggists have LYKO. Get a bottle today and begin at once to feel and look better.

THE LOW COST OF TRUST SERVICE.

It is one of the lowest priced commodities purchasable today.

Although wages, the cost of food, clothing, rent, building materials and practically everything else has increased heavily in price, trust service fees remain substantially unchanged.

And yet it is a fact that the experience, facilities and general efficiency of Title Insurance and Trust Company are greater and more valuable today than when the dollar had its normal purchasing power.

Every man or woman who has property—one thousand or one million dollars' worth—should name a trust company as his or her Executor.

The cost is insignificant when the character of the services rendered is considered.

PENNSY DOWNS CORNELL SQUAD.

One-Sided Battle is Fought in Sea of Mud.

Wray and Ward Feature for the Winners.

Football Struggle Pulled Off in Rainstorm.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 25.—Battling in a sea of mud, the University of Pennsylvania defeated Cornell today, 28 to 0. A drenching rain fell throughout the game, but failed to drive the crowd of approximately 3000 from the stands.

Cornell was able to advance the ball past midfield into Pennsylvania's territory but once during the entire game and presented a ragged defensive.

The Red and Blue line was impregnable and succeeded in blocking the three Cornell kicks.

Red Wray, the midget quarterback, and Ward, the big tackle, were the outstanding lights of the Pennsylvania eleven. The work of Carey and Kaw stood out for the Ithacans.

EARLY IN FIRST.

The first score came early in the first period when, after a series of battering line plunges, Wray took a pass from Joe Strauss and scampered forty yards for a touchdown. Cornell held until late in the second period, when several long gains brought the ball to the 5-yard line, after two unsuccessful tries at the line Whitehill tossed a pass over the goal line to Wray for the second touchdown.

Miller, taking the ball on a fake-kick formation in the last period, dashed thirty-eight yards for the third touchdown. Wray kicked goal after each of the first three touchdowns. Fritz Straus made the fourth on a plunge from the 5-yard line. Harvey kicked goal. Line-up:

Pennsylvania (28.)		Cornell (0.)
Carey	L.E.	Finn
Ward	L.T.	Krauss
Cochran	L.G.	Pendleton
Day	C.	Boynton

Santa Clara is Victor in Last Minute of Play.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—Santa Clara University, by scoring a touchdown within the last two minutes of play, defeated the University of Nevada, 24-21, here today, in what was considered one of the best football games of the season.

Leadership in the game changed several times in the last period. At the opening of the quarter, the score was tied, 14-14. Santa Clara worked the ball to Nevada's fifteen-yard line, where Baker sent over a drop kick. Nevada then scored a touchdown a few minutes later when Fairchild took a forty-yard forward pass from Bradshaw and ran fifty yards to the goal, with two minutes to go. Santa Clara made the deciding score by advancing the ball from the center of the field, with forward passes, to Nevada's ten-yard line, where Baker circled an end for the winning tally.

Lineup and summary:

Nevada.		Santa Clara.
Martin	L.E.	Kercher

SANTA BARBARA VICTORS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 25.—Twenty-four to six in favor of Santa Barbara, was the way the local high school eleven put it over the Harvard Military Academy team this morning in one of the best football games witnessed so far this year on the local gridiron. The Los Angeles team put up a strong battle, but were outpointed by the heavier team.

OHIO ACCEPTS THE INVITATION.

COLUMBUS (O.) Nov. 25. Ohio State University tonight definitely accepted an invitation to play a football game at Pasadena, Cal.

CHEVROLET IS DEAD CHAMP.

to impose unendurable strain on his machine.

DARE DEVILS EMERITUS.

Prior to the race, Barney Oldfield and Lieut. Eddie Rickenbacker, did a conservative lap for the delectation of the crowd. Their pace was one becoming men mellowed with middle age, and the two dare devils emeritus were literally sprinkled with applause.

After that Barney passed the afternoon eating cheroots in the grandstand. Friends are going to get Mr. Oldfield a feed bag filled with Bull Durham, so that he can munch his tobacco with less effort.

Sarles was given a big ovation, but the finish of the race was really an anti-climax and chastened with sorrow.

The Gargantuans of gasoline were given the starting gun at 1:30, and as they swung around the big track the distant humming of their motors dwindled until they seemed strange animals with bumble-bee bodies.

Sarles shot into the lead and held it although challenged indomitably by O'Donnell in another Duesenberg Special, and with Eddie Miller, Eddie Hearne and Jimmie Murphy less than a lap behind.

O'Donnell clung to Sarles like a gray nemesis until forced into the pits for twenty-five minutes with engine trouble in the fifty-sixth lap.

The mysterious Miller relentlessly continued the pursuit and never was out of the race. He was a gray shadow in the wake of Sarles, alert to profit by the slightest misfortune of the latter. Hearne drove a spectacular race as did Murphy, but it was not their day. Murphy's crew worked as fast as American artillerymen feeding ammunition into French guns in the Argonne. Their change of a front tire on the Murphy machine in the 146th lap was almost too fast for the moving picture camera. They made the shift in twelve seconds.

Melcher Special seemed to have a world of trouble, and appeared to be suffering with asthma, while Jim Crosby's Patterson Special had the hook worm and passed the afternoon trying to wear the white line into a dotted one.

It was a species of tortoise which didn't win the race because all the rabbits were having insomnia.

Anaheim High is Annihilated by Redlands.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

REDLANDS, Nov. 25.—Redlands High annihilated Anaheim High in a Thanksgiving Day football game here this afternoon by a score of 70 to 0. At no time in the game did the visitors get closer than the 20-yard line.

Rau, fullback, made so many touchdowns for Redlands that Coach Daniels jerked him out of the game toward the last of the third quarter. Rau made five of the touchdowns and kicked one goal. Huffman made three, Cornwall made one and Rowe made one. Sturtevant kicked nine of the goals for Redlands. Toward the last of the game Anaheim opened up with a series of long forward passes that netted some goor gains.

Redlands used her aerial attack with good effect. The line-ups:

Redlands.		Anaheim.
Roth	L.E.	Tapgan
Rowe	L.T.	Houseladen
Klintf	L.G.	Dittet
Bell	C.	Tanner
Page	R.G.	Romaine
Carwyn	R.T.	Hile
Cornwall	R.E.	R. Brown
Sturtevant	Q.	Calos
Clark	R.H.	Kitchen
Huffman	L.H.	Seubridge
Rau	F.B.	Williams

Substitutions—Mark for Rowe; Wilcox for Cornwall; Tillery for Roth; Daniels for N. Sturtevant; G. Sturtevant for Clock; Yocum for Huffman, and Scritch for Rau. Anaheim—Gaines for Tanner. Officials—Jonat, referee; Broderson, umpire, and Davel, head linesman.

KERR TURNS IN LOW.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DEL MONTE (Cal.) Nov. 25.—D. Kerr of Portland, Or., turned in the low qualifying score of 84 in the annual Thanksgiving Day golf tournament here today. J. V. Garvis of Los Angeles, won the set honors with a score of 73 holes.

SOX BOWL OVER STARS.

BY ED O'MALLEY.

The L. A. White Sox (colored) baseball team are sure bacon gatherers and the most tantalizing phase of their prowess is the fact that any kind of bacon looks alike to them.

All Star nines mean nothing to them for they bruised Bobby Fisher's aggregation yesterday afternoon at the Sox grounds, 2 to 1.

CURRY IS KING.

King Curry was on the mound for the Sox and heaved his customary effective game. The only member of Fisher's club that coul gauge the King was Pete Schneider.

Pete inclined on one of Curry's offerings in the first of the seventh inning and the last seen of the pill it was on its way to Long Beach with "Gangway" written on it between the seams.

DELL AT HELM.

Wheezer Dell was at the helm for the All Stars, but was hardly at his best. Apart from the second and sixth cantos, however, he held the colored lads down fairly well.

The Sox slammed one over in the second as follows: Rogan ambled and Moore sacrificed, Dell to Alcock. On a missed third strike Ward went out, Hannah to Alcock, Foxy Rogan shooting to third and beating Alcock's peg to Smith. Ray picked out a nice one for himself and prodded the apple for a beauty single to center, scoring Rogan. Hawkins forced Ray at second, Mitchell to Fisher.

WAS TOO HOT.

In the sixth McNair jolted one too hot for Smith to handle, and reached first. Carr beat out an infield single to Fisher. It was a star effort, and Carr is sure some running fool. Woods came along with a timely single to center, tallying McNair. Chadbourne got busy—heaved the pill back to Mitchell, who touched Carr out, between second and third. Mitch then pegged to Fisher, who trapped Woods at second. Rogan busted a single to center, but Moore stopped the rally by fouling to Smith.

The afternoon's sport was featured by two entertaining episodes. Just before the game started, a damsel that looked like the Queen of Sheba, blacked up, swept past Howard Lorenz, who was grabbing kale at the gate. "Ticket," shrilled Howard. "Man alive," objected the Queen, as she kept on moving, "I'se a royal rooter, and me and ticket do no business together in dis park," and she beat it for the grand stand.

Shine Scott, after the game, declared that he wouldn't be safe in visiting Central avenue for a week. "They sho would make me see the Chinese flag if I went down there tonight," sighed Shine. The score:

EDINGTON'S CLUB IS TO PLAY WHITE SOX.

STUBBY CLAIMS HE HAS THE NINE TO STOP THE FAST COLORED LADS.

It seems that nothing in this neck of the woods can stop the Los Angeles White Sox (colored) team, yet Stubby Edington declares he has the combination to do it. So confident is the Vernon right-fielder that he can turn the trick that he has gotten a nine together, which will cross bats with the Sox at the latter's grounds, Fourth and Anderson streets, tomorrow and Sunday afternoons.

Why Essex Set a World Sales Record

In 21 months since it was introduced more than $77,000,000 has been paid for Essex cars. Its first year set a sales record never equalled by any other car.

There is no secret back of the Essex triumph.

It made the issue on finest car quality, without useless size or weight. That issue is uppermost today. For fine performance, durability and economy of upkeep and operation are more important now than ever.

And with the Essex you sacrifice no pleasure, comfort or performance ability that the large, high-priced car can give. Judge it by trial. Match its speed, hill-climbing ability and riding ease with any.

Your own experience will confirm the endurance and performance by which Essex accomplished its unrivalled records of travelling 3037 miles in 50 hours and in 4 times breaking the transcontinental record between San Francisco and New York, its fastest trip being 4 days, 14 hours and 43 minutes.

The Essex has won its position because it fills a want that can be supplied nowhere else. It has met no competition because it fills a field to itself. Everyone who has ever ridden in an Essex knows why no rival challenges its leadership.

MOSELY WINS RACE HONORS.

Los Angeles Aviator Makes a Fast Flight.

Wins Pulitzer Prize, Making 178 Miles an Hour.

American Planes Show Great Speed in Contest.

MINEOLA (N. Y.) Nov. 25.—Flying at a speed of virtually three miles a minute, Lieut. C. C. Moseley, piloting an American-made Verville-Packard army plane, won the first Pulitzer trophy aeronautical race today against a field of thirty-four starters. He covered the course of slightly more than 132 miles in 44m. 29 57-100s, an average speed of approximately 178 miles an hour.

Officials of the Aero Club of America, which conducted the race, first having estimated the course as 140 miles in length, announced after the race that Moseley's average speed was 122.4 miles an hour, a new world's record. However, a careful rescaling of the official map tonight showed that the laps were slightly more than thirty-two miles in length, instead of 35, the average speed on the corrected length being cut down ten miles an hour.

HELD BY FRENCH.

The present world's aviation speed record is held by Sadi Lecointe, winner of the recent Gordon Bennett trophy race in France, who averaged 187 miles an hour in a special contest at Villa Coublay, near Paris.

Capt. H. E. Hertney, flying an American army Thomas-Morse machine, came in second today, flying the course in 47m. 3-100s. Albert Acosta, civilian, won third place with his Italian-made Ansaldo SVA machine. His time was 51m. 57 62-100s. This was the only one of the eleven foreign-made machines entered to finish among the first ten.

SEVEN MISHAPS.

Seven machines met with accident and were unable to finish, although no pilots were seriously injured. Just before the race started, an army plane piloted by Lieut. O. G. Kelly, piloted with a navy plane piloted by Lieut. J. F. Wolfer, who was about to "take off." Three of Kelly's teeth were knocked out and Wolfer's hand was cut.

A Loening special machine, piloted by Lieut. D. G. Bradley of the United States Marine Corps, made a forced landing within 600 yards of the finish line on the last lap. A water connection had broken and the plane dropped to the ground but the pilot was uninjured. Bradley was a strong contender for second place when the accident happened.

ENGINE TROUBLE.

Maj. Davenport Johnson, U.S.A., in a De Havilland; Lieut. W. D. Culbertson, U.S.M.C., in a Curtiss plane; Lieut. F. A. Johnson, U.S.A., in a JN-4, and Lieut. F. O. Rogers, U.S.M.C., in a De Haviland, also made forced landings because of engine trouble or other minor difficulties.

Lieut. Leigh Wade, U.S.N.; Capt. H. D. Mims, U.S.M.C.; Ensign W. J. Daly, U.S.N., and Lieut.-Commander W. B. Haviland, also failed to finish. Lieut. L. A. Smith descended after covering the first three laps, mistaking the length of the course, and Willis C. Taylor, civilian, was disqualified for "cutting corners." The course was from Mineola to Wantagh, thence to Babylon and back to Mineola.

OKLAHOMA CHAMPION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DES MOINES (Iowa) Nov. 25.—Oklahoma clinched its claim to the Missouri Valley conference football championship today by defeating Ames 44 to 7. The visitors used the forward pass frequently and successfully for long gains, but often failed to make required gains by line plunges.

MISSOURI IN FRONT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

COLUMBIA (Mo.) Nov. 25.—Missouri's line plunging proved too much for the Kansas University football squad, the score being 16 to 7.

TROJANS CRUSH OREGON ELEVEN

Butterfield fumbled Leslie's boot when tackled, and Oregon retrieved the ball again, this time on the U.S.C. 46-yard line. Evans got through and threw Rinehart for a four-yard loss. Chapman and Rinehart were stopped in their tracks, and Leslie had to punt. Leadingham ran back ten to the U.S.C. 25-yard line.

From this point U.S.C. marched to her first touchdown without a half. Dean made a yard. Leadingham dashed fifteen yards around left end from a fake punt formation. Butterfield went through center for five yards. Kincaid and Dean contrived to make it first down on the Oregon 49-yard mark.

Leadingham sprinted fourteen yards around the Oregon left flank, and the Trojan rooters became fanatic in their enthusiasm. Jimmy Smith galloped eleven yards on an end around play. Smashes at the Oregon line were gaining repeatedly for U.S.C. The ball reached the four-yard mark.

LIKE STEEL BANDS.

The Oregon line stiffened. Human flesh became strangely metamorphosed. Two lines stretched taut like bands of steel. Calland bent over the ball, Leadingham barked his signal. There was a crunch as Dean hurled his body forward. The ball was one yard from the Oregon goal line. The din was ear-splitting. Suddenly there was silence. The ball was passed. It went to Dean again. It was a criss-cross. Out of the tangled mass of legs and arms crawled a Trojan warrior. He waved his head helmet in the air. The U.S.C. bleachers understood. Dean had scored a touchdown. The rooters became delirious with joy.

Leslie punted to open the fourth period, Leadingham circled end for ten yards. Dean made four, then five. U.S.C. was penalized fifteen for holding. Leadingham punted. Leslie did likewise. It was U.S.C.'s ball on the 40-yard line. A forward pass Leadingham to Dean netted fourteen yards. Leadingham went around the end in two successive tries for thirteen yards. Dean gained four, Lockett four and then three. The ball was on the 2-yard line. Dean flung himself across and the din was terrific. Evans kicked the goal.

FORWARD PASS.

Oregon kicked off. From her own 32-yard line U.S.C. carried the ball on resistless crushes to the 10-yard line, where Leadingham shot a pass to Jimmy Smith in the extreme corner of the field, Smith piled over the line and the Oregon men piled on Smith. Evans kicked the goal and the stands roared tumultuously. Henderson sent in a lot of subs to get a share of the glory.

Sam Dolan did a good job of the refereeing and earned a cheer when he did a swell back spin in the last period and came up with his shirt nicely grimed.

MINISTERS SCARCE.

AT LEAST DEL RUTH FINDS THEM HARD TO LOCATE.

By Grace Kingsley.

Some persons say it's harder to get unmarried than it is to be married, but that isn't the truth, take it from Hampton Del Ruth and his bride, who until yesterday at 2:30 p.m. was Alta Crowin, the picture player. And Mr. Del Ruth declares that he should know.

However, he did succeed in having the ceremony performed a day sooner than he expected, owing to the overwhelming chorus of congratulations from his friends, not to mention the raid they were making on his private stock in order to drink the health of himself and bride, though it did look, until 2:30, as if Mr. Del Ruth and Miss Crowin would have to postpone their wedding until the time they had intended, which was today.

For the paucity of preachers was marvelous indeed.

In fact, before Mr. Del Ruth found a preacher he began to fear the souls of the community were not being cared for as they should be. Incidentally, Miss Crowin changed her religion several times during what might be called the holy chase. And now she doesn't know what kind of minister married her!

At first she was set on having a Presbyterian minister, because when she was a little girl she used to go to a Presbyterian Sunday-school, where they gave her bright-colored cards for being good.

So the couple looked up a certain Presbyterian minister's name in the telephone book, called up his church, but the assistant pastor gave her the sad news that the man she sought had passed to his reward six monts ago. Then, still set on finding a Presbyterian, they tried another, but he said he was going to the races, and unless they could be at his house in five minutes he couldn't tie the knot.

They were three miles away from him, so they couldn't make it. Right there was where Miss Crowin changed her religion. She almost became an Atheist, but thinking better of it, she and Mr. Del Ruth tried St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral, but the janitor was the only man at home, and he said the clergyman had gone to the football game. Time was fleeting. Del Ruth decided he wouldn't have a drop of the sacred Hootch left if he went back to the Athletic Club last night still an unmarried man. So he called on his old friend, Carl Downing, and once more they went a-ministering.

Mr. Downing suggested they just drive nonchalant-like down Sunset Boulevard and sneak up on the first church they came to, in the hope of thwarting what seemed a determined adverse fate. Three churches were visited, and at one place they did find the pastor, but just as he was getting on his robes of office, the telephone called to tell him he was a daddy, and away he went.

Finally, wearied and jaded, the two had grown so tired and cross, Miss Crowin said, they had almost decided they didn't want to be married at all, when they spied a little brown church, which gave the cheering news that the pastor lived next door. His name was Dr. P. P. Carroll, and he was in cheerful and quiescent mood. So the two lovers were wed.

And at the end of the ceremony Mr. Del Ruth just stopped himself from inquiring: "What'll you have?"

Julanne Johnston.

It looks as though there were going to be another wedding.

Julanne Johnston, who is making a big hit at Pantages this week, appearing with Paisley Noon, is wearing a diamond on the third finger of her left hand, but she won't admit a thing about it.

However, close friends of hers, state she is shortly to wed a wealthy local man, whose name is being withheld for the present.

Olga Gray as Was.

Without pausing to wrinkle even one minute over the question, Frank Egan made up his mind the very minute the curtain rang down, on "Rosmersholm," on the opening night, at the Little Theater, that Anna Zacsek would do well in a series of Ibsen matinees, in New York, and therefore, being a man of decision, he means as once to make arrangements to that end. So New York may look out for a highbrow invasion.

Miss Zacsek is the same brilliant young actress whom we used to know in pictures, as Olga Gray. She always had a great desire to play Ibsen, even in the old days, in Triangle mellers.

Ever since her first appearance in Ibsen plays, a year or so ago, at the Little Theater, she has shown unusual brilliancy and aptitude for such roles.

Sounds Reasonable.

Constance Binney, Realart star, claims to have run into a streak of hard luck on a recent location trip to Cuba.

"The food was so atrocious," she tells her friends, "that I lost over ten pounds. We had to subsist on raw fruit."

"Huh!" remarked Walter Hiers, on hearing this, "why bother about eating, over there?"

MODERN AND CLASSIC ARIAS ON PROGRAM.

FANNY LOTT TO SING GLUCK AND PUCCINI NUMBERS AT POP CONCERT.

Two interestingly contrasted operatic numbers will be sung by Fanny Lott, soloist with the Philharmonic Orchestra, at the popular concert to be given under Walter Henry Rothwell's direction, Sunday afternoon at Philharmonic Auditorium. Miss Lott has selected an aria from the opera "Alceste" by Gluck—"Divinites du Styx," and the prayer from "Tosca" by Puccini.

It is anticipated that these two solos will give Miss Lott opportunity to display the dramatic qualities of her soprano voice, which qualities have won her leading roles in opera companies, both in Europe and America. She has also been favored as a soloist at eastern festivals since her return from abroad.

The orchestral program selected by Conductor Rothwell will introduce a group of favored composers and, beside, give music lovers another opportunity to hear an American composer's notable overture namely "Comes Autumn Time," by Sowerby, played at the first symphony concerts with such success that demands for its repetition were numerous.

"The Coronation" march (Meyerbeer:) "Scenes Alsaciennes" (Massenet;) Two Spanish Dances (Moszowski) and Wagner's Overture to "Rienzi," are to be presented.

Plays Melodious Shadow Role.

Eva Novak,
Who will appear in "The Testing Block," new "Bill" Hart picture, next week at Grauman's.

RADIOS.

POPULAR OPERA.

GALLO COMPANY IS DUE HERE IN JANUARY.

By Edwin Schallert.

Another operatic organization's anticipated visit is drawing near. This is the San Carlo Company, Impresario Gallo's troupe, which is scheduled to reach Los Angeles in January for a two weeks' engagement. From the present outlook this will be the only popular-priced company to come to the Coast this season.

The San Carlo Company has played a series of performances for two successive seasons here, and this year will probably continue its policy of giving the favored repertoire. Several guests stars are to be among the singers.

Scotti's Balance Sheet.

In regard to operatic affairs, Antonio Scotti on his return to New York made known details concerning his western profits. The total receipts on the week in Los Angeles were $54,025.

The heaviest were on the "L'Oracolo" and "Cavalleria Rusticana" matinee—aggregating $7574.

These ran even higher than the "Tosca" performance. "Tosca" netted the largest returns, however, in San Francisco. "Faust" (Saturday night) also exceeded the "Tosca" receipts here. In San Francisco this brought among the highest returns.

"Madame Butterfly" proved the least remunerative locally, whereas a season or two ago it was regarded as the most popular opera in the repertoire.

This affords an interesting commentary on taste in this city.

His Second Independent.

His adaptation of Harold MacGrath's "Parrot & Company," having been completed and previewed, Sidney Franklin is preparing to start work on his second independent picture production based on Andrew Soutar's story, "Courage."

Telegraphic advices have been received from Joseph M. Schenk that negotiations for the screen rights have been closed, and Sada Cowan is to begin work on the continuity.

Miss Cowan wrote the scenario for Cecil De Mille's "Why Change Your Wife."

Albert Kaufman is sponsoring the production.

Athletes in Bright Spot.

An acrobatic act is to draw top-line position next week at the New Pantages. This departure, it is said, is the result of the notable character of the attraction presented by the Six Harlequins.

Jean Paige Going East.

Jean Paige, who has just completed the principal feminine role in "Black Beauty," will leave in a few days for New York. She will spend Christmas with her parents in Illinois.

One of the prime themes of her journey is a shopping tour in New York.

"Letty" Herself.

They're to present an excerpt from the second act of Oliver Morosco's popular musical show, "So Long Letty" to add pep to the program accompanying the feature picture of the same name made by Al Christie, City for at least fourteen weeks, rebeginning tomorrow at the Kinema turning through the Panama Canal.

Theater. The bungalows of the two married couples are to be shown in the setting on the stage, and musical numbers by Earl Carroll will be sung by the principals in the act.

Kastner Recital Tonight.

Alfred Kastner, the harpist of the Philharmonic Orchestra, will appear in three different roles at his concert tonight at the Gamut Club Auditorium. Mr. Kastner will first of all be heard in a group of harp solo numbers; he will also act as accompanist for Maurine Dyer, the singer, and finally will take part with eight of his pupils in a harp ensemble.

A number of his own compositions are to be given.

Sylvia Bon-Voyages.

Immediately upon her return from the East, Sylvia Breamer left for San Francisco to bid her stepfather and mother, Judge and Mrs. Plunkett, bon voyage on their trip to Australia. While in New York Miss Breamer is said to have had an attractive offer to appear on the stage.

Her first theatrical success was in Australia, and her premier engagement in America was with Grace George in New York, appearing in George Bernaru Shaw's play, "Major Barbara."

Ticket Market Easier.

The man waiting in line at the Orpheum is going to have all kinds of chances now to obtain seats for the show, according to a bulletin sent out by that office regarding new regulations for holding tickets on order.

The substance of the new ruling is that telephone orders for seats will not be held more than one day, and for Saturdays, Sundays and holidays only until the night before.

Manager Raymond estimates that this will release ahead of time some 50 per cent of Orpheum tickets.

Ray Entertains.

Charles Ray is busy on his fifth independent production for the First National, this being an adaptation of Charles Van Loan's story, "Scrap Iron," by Finis Fox, the scenario writer.

Mr. Ray gave a dinner party in honor of Arthur S. Kane of the Arthur S. Kane Productions last Saturday evening at Beverly Hills Hotel. A cluster of picture stars were present, among them Mr. and Mrs. Carter De Haven, Bessie Love, Mary Miles Minter and Margaret Shelby, beside a large number of persons financially interested in the films.

Mr. Kane is sponsor for the Ray pictures.

Dancers Please.

Ruth White, Mary Fanjoy and Ruth Raymer recently appeared with success in a dance novelty at Grauman's Theater. They have also taken part in a number of picture productions.

Universalities to Cuba.

Application for passports has been made by Universal for Magda Lane and Inez MacDonnell, the two pretty girls who will accompany J. P. McGowan, the Universal director, to Cuba. Miss Lane will play opposite Eddie Polo in "The Seal of Satan," a serial in which Polo will enact his fearless feats of strength against the historic backgrounds of Morro castle and San Juan Hill.

The company will leave next week and will be away from Universal City for at least fourteen weeks, rebeginning tomorrow at the Kinema turning through the Panama Canal.

Christmas is Coming

MAKE IT A SEASON OF UNUSUAL JOY

You cannot properly celebrate Christmas without music.

And the only kind of music that satisfies your desire is the kind you yourself prefer.

Consider the satisfaction of owning a Columbia Phonograph, where there is no limit to your selection of records—reproducing every intonation of voice or instrument with a fidelity that is absolutely marvelous.

The demand for Columbias is going to be enormous this season, and we earnestly advise you to make your selection early.

All the latest models to choose from—all equipped with the non-set automatic stop. Never stops before it should. Always stops at the very end.

A small deposit will hold any phonograph in our entire stock, and payments may be arranged either weekly or monthly, just as you desire.

Don't think of buying a phonograph until you have seen us.

It does make a difference where you buy your phonograph.

HATS—4320 in a Single Order!

—showing the magnitude of the City Dye Works' equipment—the capacity of its service.

This great pile of men's hats is the largest single order ever sent to a single hat renovater. Our hat renovating department handled it with its customary efficiency and promptness—it did not disturb the routine of the department nor interfere with its regular work.

No order is too large, none is too small to command that same careful, painstaking attention, promptness and efficiency that has made City Dye Works service famous all over Southern California.

Our new uptown store at 417 W. Seventh St. is centrally located near the principal stores and office buildings.

EXPECTS BOOZE QUIZ TO WIDEN.

District Attorney Looks for Further Indictments.

New Evidence Will Go Before Grand Jury Next Week.

Forty More Persons on Lists to Give Information.

More indictments in connection with the same supposed conspiracy to violate the Federal prohibition law, which has enmeshed F. Ray Groves, secretary of the Democratic State Central Committee, and his two brothers, Edward C., and Ralph Groves, and Joe Goldberg, may be expected when the Federal Grand Jury, conducting the investigation into the activitives of the local so-called "booze ring" meets again on December 3. This was intimated yesterday by U. S. Dist.-Atty. O'Connor.

He did not indicate how many would be involved in the new indictments, but damaging evidence is said to have been presented to the grand jury in which from ten to twelve persons, several of whom are politicians of lesser degree, figure as having received money through the transfer of wine for "sacramental purposes." The testimony linking these persons with the asserted conspiracy is understood to have developed immediately after the grand jury had finished checking up the evidence upon which the indictment of F. Ray Groves was based.

It is not believed that the Groves brothers and Goldberg will be arraigned on Monday next, as was expected when the indictments were issued. Paul Schenck, who, with Frank Domingues and Richard Kittrelle, has been engaged to defend the indicted men, said yesterday that he would ask for a continuance if the case was called on Monday, and Mr. O'Connor intimated that he would not oppose a brief delay. Mr. Schenck explained that owing to other matters he had not had time to examine the indictment. Meantime the accused men will remain at liberty, each under a $1000 bond, fixed by United States Commissioner Long.

Federal investigators declared yesterday, their intention to go deeply into the activities of the booze ring and make their inquiry reach those who have expected to find protection behind so-called political influence. It was said that the grand jury has a list of not less than forty persons, who will be quizzed in its effort to get at those who have been reaping profits from the illegal sale of wine and whisky.

No action was taken yesterday to relieve F. Ray Groves of his duties as secretary of the Democratic State Central Committee, pending the outcome of the case against him. It was said by Dr. Randoph Hill, chairman of the Democratic County Central Committee, that any such action, it contemplated, would originate with the State organization. Mr. Groves indicated that he would hold on to his position indefinitely, and several of his political friends who were consulted, were disposed to feel that he should do so until the settlement of the charges against him.

FOR THE PILGRIMS.

Governor Calls on All to Join in Sunday Observance.

Proclaiming November 28 as a day for celebrating the arrival of the Pilgrim Fathers, and calling upon everyone to join in observance of the occasion, Gov. Stephens last night sent the following telegram to Rev. Stauffer of the Church Federation of Los Angeles:

"Replying to your letter of Nov. 17, 1920, I beg to say that the religious zeal of the Pilgrim Fathers gave them their heroic qualities. Praising God is today as much as it was then the source of worthy inspiration. The example of those brave men and women who came on the Mayflower lights the way of achievement and progress for all generations. It was the worship of the Almighty that gave them the spirit and courage to conquer.

"Sunday, November 28, will be observed as memorial day in honor of the Pilgrim Fathers. Religious devotion will mark the day. I am glad to join in the State-wide appeal for a large attendance at our churches in appropriate celebration of the occasion."

TO HELP DUARTE HOME.

Jolly Bachelors Club Gives Dance on Tuesday for Jewish Relief.

To raise a fund for the Jewish Consumptive Relief Association to be used for building a thirty-two-bed infirmary at Duarte for pulmonary tuberculosis sufferers, the Jolly Bachelors Club will give a dance next Tuesday evening at 1601 South Flower street.

The infirmary will be equipped with an X-ray room, an operating room, a dental department and other modern features.

At the dance Tuesday evening, balloting will be conducted to determine who is the prettiest Jewish girl in Los Angeles.

POLICE SEEK MISSING HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT

Search was instituted yesterday by the police for 14-year-old Katheryn F. Lull, 1140 West Thirty-first street, who disappeared while on her way to school Wednesday morning. Miss Lull, a student at Polytechnic High School, was last seen boarding a street car at Jefferson and McClintock streets. She is a brunette with very pink cheeks, and weighs 160 pounds. She wore a blue plaited skirt and white middy blouse.

HANDLEY COMMEMORATION.

Resolutions in commemoration of the life of Lorin A. Handley, State prohibition director, who was found dead after an automobile accident near Lodi in September, were adopted yesterday at a meeting of the Sons of the Revolution, of which organization Mr. Handley was a member. The resolutions tell of the work accomplished by Mr. Handley and declare that he was "a sincere, true American, and one whose name shall always be held in memory with respect and honor."

EVERYBODY PROSPEROUS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 25.—Santa Barbara has no poor. This was emphasized today when the annual custom of distributing among the poor baskets laden with good things was dispensed with.

For the past twenty years this annual distribution has been made under the auspices of the Associated Charities and as many as 100 baskets filled with roasts, chickens, pies and other articles for the feast have been distributed.

Today the Associated Charities had nothing to do as the poor list has faded away under the prosperity of the past few years, bringing high wages even to the lowliest worker. As another evidence that poverty has flown, markets men say they sold more turkeys at 70 cents a pound than were ever sold here before for the national feast day.

NEW FACTORY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

GLENDALE, Nov. 25.—A permit has been issued for the first unit of factory buildings for the manufacture of window shade cloth. The factory will be located in the Grand View district. When completed the buildings will be worth in excess of $50,000. Fred E. Meneely, 328 Salem street, is the president of the company.

SCOUTS PREPARE CAMP.

Go Into Hollywood Hills to Make Ready for Three-day Event.

A hundred Boy Scouts hiked out of Los Angeles late yesterday afternoon to the Scout camp in the Hollywood hills and made preparations for the reception of other hundreds who will be encamped in their canyon retreat today, tomorrow and Sunday.

Early this morning the boys in large numbers will file over Cahuenga Pass to the permanent camp and the three days of festivities will be started. The fife, drum and bugle corps will be present to provide music around the nightly camp fires and the days will be filled with out-of-door studies and games. School holidays make possible the length of this encampment. Many of the boys are in training for the Christmas hike into the Sierras, where they will camp in the snow.

ACCIDENT EPIDEMIC VISITS BOYS' SCHOOL.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

POMONA, Nov. 25. — Three George Junior Republic boys enjoyed their Thanksgiving dinners in bed today, following accidents this morning. Two of the boys, Neal Morris and Roy McCormick, attempted to ride a bad mule and as a result Morris is suffering a broken arm and hoof marks about his body, while McCormick has a sprained ankle and several healthy cuts and bruises.

The third casualty of the institution was Leo Groves. He was hooking a ride on a disc plow drawn by a tractor when he lost his balance and was thrown off. One of the sharp blades ran over his leg midway between the ankle and knee, inflicting a deep gash. He suffered a great loss of blood and his condition is considered serious. Six stitches were necessary to close the wound.

BEACH HOLIDAY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDONDO BEACH, Nov. 25.—Thanksgiving Day was generally observed here. Many private dinner parties were held. The Elks' Club gave a large dinner party to members and their friends. Wednesday evening.

El Paseo was thronged with visitors all the afternoon, and the newly repaired pier had a full quota of fishermen. The grand bal masque, given at the pavilion in the evening was largely attended, and was a very successful affair.

PLANT FLAG POLE.

Present from Boy Scouts Waves from Rubidoux.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 25.—To George Scott of the Crocker National Bank will be assigned the honor of selecting the spot on Mt. Rubidoux for the placing of a flag pole for a huge American flag presented to Frank A. Miller of the Mission Inn by the Boy Scouts. Mr. Scott is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Miller over the Thanksgiving holidays.

The scouts were recently the guests of Mr. Miller at the inn and could conceive of no better way of returning the compliment. The flag will fly only one day in the year, and then from its lofty perch on the mountain on Armistice Day.

UTAH GREEKS LOYAL TO FORMER PREMIER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SALT LAKE CITY (Utah) Nov. 25.—Utah Greeks, members of the Liberal party, tonight pledged their allegiance to the deposed Premier, Venizelos, and sent petitions to the premiers of France and Great Britain, to Secretary of State Colby and to United States Senators Reed, Smoot and William H. King, asking that they use their influence to prevent former King Constantine from resuming the throne of Greece.

GET GAS NOW.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, Nov. 25.—The Citrus Belt Gas Company has finally been straightened out to where it is believed that continuous service can be given now.

The directors of the company met yesterday and decided to relieve Z. T. Bell of the managership of the local plant. It is placed under the supervision of G. S. Hinckley with C. H. Webber as plant manager. Mr. Hinckley is the city manager.

The city will collect all the bills and will disburse the money, turning over to the company all that is left over and above the expenses.

It is hoped that now the city will be able to have gas all the time. The main trouble recently has been that the company has had no oil with which to operate.

BUYS CHURCH PROPERTY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 25.—The Goleta farm center has bought the First Methodist Episcopal Church at Goleta for a meeting place for the center members and an assembly hall for the district. At a meeting of the residents $1775 of the necessary $4000 to make the purchase was subscribed. The Methodist parsonage is included in the transaction. It is said the Goleta farmers are probably the only men of their calling actually owning their own church and parsonage.

Yellow Taxi Cab at $11.75

Pittsburg, Pa., with a population of only 574,138 is reported using 225 Yellow Cabs.

The Yellow Taxi Cab Company of L. A., is now operating 50 Yellow Cabs and earnings are reported to be remarkable. Some idea of the possible growth of the Company's fleet and earnings may be realized when it is considered that the population of Pittsburg and Los Angeles are practically the same.

As Yellow Taxis increase, so should the Earnings and Stock Values.

Those who obtain stock interests now, are in a position to derive the greatest benefits from increased earnings, growth and such market appreciation as may be experienced.

DAILY TRADE TALK.

Blue Sky Overhead; Financial; Business Comment; Price News.

BY CHAPIN HALL.

William A. Law, president of the First National Bank of Philadelphia, is a bull on America, and the outlook of this noted financier is finding reflection in a growing degree throughout the business structure of the country. It is especially noticeable here in Los Angeles, where, in spite of some untoward circumstances and conditions of a transient character, the spirit of optimism prevails.

"There is actually," says Mr. Law, "more sunshine and blue sky in the outlook than the average American citizen has been able to discern for many years. The prospect inspires confidence, for it is clear that a new day has dawned. The silk shirt period has passed, and the average worker is realizing the necessity of doing more for the wages he receives.

"Readjustment of prices in mercantile lines is gaining headway, and the probability is that retailers will find it necessary to lower prices in order to attract public buying on a scale sufficient to materially strengthen their cash position.

"The Federal reserve system is functioning well, the country is on the up grade and everyone is breathing easier because the election has passed and the great change, one of the greatest within the memory of men now living, has come to pass."

REAPING HIS REWARD.

The United American mine at Oatman, where a rich vein has just been uncovered, is managed and controlled by Billy Ridenour, former owner of the Arizona Stores, and the man who furnished Long and McIver with ham and eggs when they were struggling to make a mine out of the United Eastern.

CREEPING UP.

Los Angeles is gradually cutting down the lead San Francisco has held in bank clearings, the only spot on the business, commercial or financial map not dominated by the metropolis, a circumstance due to the strategic position of the Bay City in export and import clearings and the fact that several heavy corporation accounts are still handled through the banks of that city although the greater part of the business originates in this part of the State.

Each month, however, the percentage of increase is reduced, and Los Angeles more nearly approaches the goal of 100 per cent supremacy, for instance, for the week ending November 18 the increase in Los Angeles bank clearings is $36,720,000 against $20,100,000 for San Francisco.

How clearly the two big cities dominate the situation is revealed in the totals, for with clearings of $103,152,000 for the week reported by Los Angeles the next city in point of volume is Oakland with only $12,650,837. Then come Fresno, Sacramento, Long Beach, Pasadena, San Diego, San Jose.

DUCK SHOOTING.

It sometimes pays to belong to a gun club, as witness the Bolsa Gun Club, of Los Angeles, on whose property at Huntington Beach the Standard Oil Company recently brought in a 6000-barrel well. The club owns a considerable acreage in the vicinity and geologists are very sweet on the possibilities of the new field, a sweetness which finds practical indorsement in the new well. There are said to be only forty members in the club, and as the lease calls for the payment of an attractive royalty, duck shooting seems likely to give way to more exciting potting of oil wells. The oil is of an excellent grade, being about 25 deg. gravity. Further development work is being planned.

SLOW PRICE MOVEMENT.

One hears much these days about falling prices, and as a matter of fact, prices are falling, news of sharp declines in flour and eggs being received with appreciative enthusiasm by Los Angeles housewives. Just the same foods, shoes, drugs and many other essentials are still retailing at prices not so very different from those which have been in effect for several months. There is still a long way to go before the consumer receives substantial benefit.

AUTOMOTIVE INDUSTRY.

In a letter to stockholders the Standard Parts Company, manufacturers of automobile parts says that the saturation point has not been reached and that the present softening of the market is due to the readjustment going on and a feeling of uncertainty on the part of the public as to its extent. The demand for motor trucks, the letter says, is greater than ever, but is being held in abeyance. In conclusion:

"Our view of the situation warrants the belief that when these contributing causes are removed, the industry will come back with a sudden rush which may be fraught with danger unless we are prepared for it. As we see it, resumption of buying will take place and the depression will be over by about March, 1921. We have every reason to believe that the industry will pick up then and will continue for a number of years, not at its frenzied speed of 1919 and the early part of 1920, but on a more sound and profitable basis."

WHOLESALE PRICE DROP.

According to Dun's calculations the wholesale cost level is at the lowest point in eighteen months. The widest changes appear in breadstuffs, clothing and meats. The breadstuffs group, owing to severe declines of cereal prices, is now at a point not reached since January, 1917, while the clothing class, resultant in the depressions in raw cotton, wool, hides and leather, is at the lowest level since May 1, 1919. The index number of all food declined 4.9 per cent during October.

UP IN SMOKE.

United Cigar Stores report a new high for October with total sales of $7,607,668, a gain of 34 per cent over 1919. Business for the first ten months totals $64,184,987. Stores and agencies operated by the company now approximate 2000. A departure from the time-honored custom of sticking to busy centers, is about to be inaugurated and a new chain of smaller shops in less populous sections is to be developed.

URGING ECONOMY.

In urging economy in all departments, the Southern Pacific bulletin says:

"Suppose that the 2,000,000 men in the railroad service, from the water boy on the extra gang to the highest executive, could save 5 cents a day, by greater and more intelligent effort, by greater care of plant, materials and fuel, by the elimination of waste, and the adoption of improved methods, the total saving would be $30,000,000 for a 300-work-day year. This is enough to buy 400 heavy locomotives, or 10,000 freight cars. Suppose only an average of one hour a day could be saved by shippers in loading and unloading the 2,400,000 freight cars; this time, for a 300-work-day year, would be 720,000,000 car hours, or 30,000,000 car days or 100,000 cars per year added to the available supply of the country without the investment of new capital.

THE RUBBER SITUATION.

Notwithstanding the immediate depression in the rubber industry the India Rubber Review in its next issue will strike a note of hopeful inspiration, and ventures the prediction that 1921 will see production restored to 85 per cent of its total 1920 volume.

A great international banker, says the Review, recently compared the world today to a sick man, suffering from the aftermath of an acute attack, an illness, long chronic—war. Many doctors prescribed—different remedies. For a while he took some of each.

Finally sick Mr. World ceased gormandizing, exercised more, got out and caught some inspiration—and lo and behold, with rational living, he recovered. Industry is human. Go to the heart of any business, and what do you find—a machine, a patent, a scheme? Never these, but always behind it all—a man, or a group of men, intelligent, keen—who know how to work together as one.

So human industry—the rubber industry has been ill. Its medicine is being prescribed by its own family physician—the heads of companies. It will respond. The bottom has been reached and the improvement is well in sight.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE RULES.

Finland—The control of exchanges in Finland is based on the decree of Dec. 19, 1919, establishing a currency board under the supervision of the Minister of Finance. The main provisions of this decree are:

(a) Foreign currency can be purchased only with the permission of the currency board.

(b) No payments from abroad may be accepted in Finnish marks without the special permission of the currency board.

(c) Payments for imports into Finland in Finnish marks are likewise prohibited.

NEW GOLD DEVELOPMENT.

Mining men and a considerable group of Los Angeles investors are interested in the impending development of the Tarantula and Reits and Gold Ridge group of mines in the mother lode. The company has its headquarters in this city where the American Securities Company is handling the stock and exhibiting specimens of the ore. It is claimed the samples run from $25 to $300 per ton in free gold. While the present condition of the mining situation is not such as to appeal to investors, those interested in this development are enthusiastically advancing the proposition, in the expressed belief that results will warrant their judgment.

MORNING THOUGHT.

It is a time for clear thinking and courageous acting, and in the proportion that such factors are brought to bear will rewards follow when this spell of reaction has run its course.

A Sound Land Mortgage Bond

The Miller & Lux, Incorporated, First Mortgage 7% Ten-Year Bonds are backed by approximately 1,000,000 acres of land. About 800,000 acres of this land, with water rights and improvements, are in 16 counties of California. Its appraised value is more than $40,000,000.

About 200,000 acres with water rights and improvements lie in neighboring Western States. The present estimated worth of these lands is $10,000,000.

Further security is found in personal property, including some 137,000 head of cattle, 168,000 head of sheep, 20,000 hogs and 9500 horses. Total quick assets are conservatively estimated to exceed $15,000,000.

Thus you see that the appraised value of total assets against which these bonds are an obligation totals over $65,000,000. The amount of the mortgage is $12,500,000.

We recommend this security as a sound investment for your funds. The price is 101 and interest to yield about 6.85%.

A 10-Year 8% Gold Note

THE PENNSYLVANIA-OHIO POWER AND LIGHT COMPANY is one of the most progressive and efficiently operated public utilities in the Middle West. Its customers represent a large variety of activities and are of a character that make an ideal combination on which to build a prosperous business. Gross earnings, net earnings and output have all doubled in the last five years and it has been the Company's experience that it scarcely completes the installation of a unit to take care of demands before another unit of the same size is necessary.

We own and are offering a limited amount of the Ten Year 8% Bond-Secured Sinking Fund Gold Notes, due Nov. 1, 1930. These Notes are a direct obligation of the Company and are additionally secured by deposit with the Trustee of General Mortgage Bonds of the Company as collateral in the ratio of 150% of bonds to 100% of these notes. The Public Service Commission of Ohio has approved this issue and the Pennsylvania commission approves it as regards the subsidiaries in that state. Net Earnings for the year ending August 31, 1920, were over 1½ times interest charges on the total funded debt including this issue.

We believe these Notes are an exceptional opportunity for investors to obtain a high yield security with an equally high degree of safety.

THE NEW.

IN STORES AND HOMES.

NOVELTIES, IDEAS AND PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS.

By Olive Gray.

Up-to-Dates!:

The use of lace or embroidered tulle for the close-falling subskirt of the evening gown diaphanous.

The sports skirt of loosely woven wool, accompanied by a scarf of material to match and sometimes a hat faced back with the same. Castor or beaver are favorite colors for these comfortable suits, which find their way into the downtown streets as well as out upon the golf links.

The wired tunic for evening will not leave the picture. It is so becoming, especially to youthful figures!

The harem skirt and the mouave jacket are features particularly well suited to gowns intime—if one could term them "gowns" when lacking all skirt semblance.

Now is the Time to Buy:

The most important gifts upon the Christmas lists. The flight of time between Thanksgiving and Christmas is so rapid as to elude the sharpest eye.

Linens for both table and bedroom uses. Prices on these necessities—for long almost prohibitive—have taken to lower levels, most welcome to the economic housewife and to those who would giftily supply her wants.

The wool scarf for emergency use when the heavier wraps would be burdensome—for that between-while, when it may grow cold before your return to your domicile and, when you do not care to port a heavy coat or fur.

A Suit Smart and Luxurious.

One of the newest suits for winter wear is of oxford veldyne. Builded upon tailorish lines—yet not too mannish for the fabric—one shown recently in a specialty shop on Broadway was collared and cuffed with natural caracul—a fur quite popular this season.

Occasions and Gloves.

There is as much necessity for discrimination in the choice of gloves for occasions, as in the selection of the dress, the wrap, the shoes. The woman who knows would not think of donning gloves with heavily stiched backs for evening, or, in fact, for formal wear in the afternoon. The gradation in gloves is thus: For street and tailored use, the heavy skin, quite heavily embroidered in contrasting color or in colors, if one chooses; for afternoon, the more elaborate, embroidered glove of white, fawn or pearl—and a lighter skin than that selected for the tailored glove; for more dressy wear—evening or matinee, tea or other daytime function, the glove of finest, softest, lightest kid, with a light tracery of stitching upon the back and—if so desired—a mousquetaire effect. Of course, the woman who discriminates will use this quality in the choice of colors to harmonize with her dress or to afford a pleasing contrast. At present, there is a fad for gloves, hose, shoes and hat in a color contrasting with the suit or dress for wear upon the street. The present importation of gloves from abroad far excels in quality those coming in a year or so ago. Glove-making is getting back to its former standards, even though prices are somewhat reduced.

The Best of Gloves.

In that store where one goes to buy not merely gloves, but—well, we'll say the best of gloves—I was shown the most recent importations which disport a variety of fancy gauntlets.

Some of these glove toppings were plain, the kid being faced with woven silk; others were heavily embroidered in contrasting tints; the most beautiful of all had appliques of suede in a darker tone than the glove itself—which was a glace—and these appliques were outlined with antique gold metallic threads.

Gloves for afternoon or theater wear were of white kid with the back stitchings blossoming out in flormal effects—goldenrod, grass flowers, dainty lavender posies. Such embellishments make a contrast more than ever vivid between the glove for street and tailor wear and that for dressy use.

In the Domain of Ribbons.

Were someone public-beneficently inclined, it might be a good idea to create a ribbon museum, for the preservation of the wonderful ribbon creations now offered in the stores. There is no denial that the ribbon weaves of now are genuine works of art. At that store not seventh in ribbon discrimination, I enjoyed a morning symphony, looking over the newest of these deluxuries. Ribbons there were of gold, silver, coppery metallic warp, over-set with blossomry, or intertwined with intricate Chinese symbolism; ribbons fit for use, and in fact intended for the making of hats, handbags and scarves; ribbons for forming the supreme feature—the trailing sashes of handsome evening gowns; ribbons for topping the fair heads of dancing little girls; ribbons for cashing party frocks and for entering into partnership with frilly furbeloved attire of every lovely sort. In fancy work, ribbons—but "that's another story"—as interesting as our Kipling's.

Comes Back.

Crepe de chine has returned to favor. Its use in fashioning blouses, tailored shirts and even for the one-piece is popular. This silk, durable, soft and adaptable marks a preference for the practical—in its new-old vogue.

Double.

Many of the new frocks for street and afternoon are furnished with a double set of girdles—one of the self material, and one of brilliant colored beads made into intricate strands and terminating tassels.

Investment Facts or Fads?

THE unsettlement caused by the war seems to have spread foibles and fads in the investment field. Too many look at the price rather than the quality—at the promised income yield rather than at the two real first essentials—safety and prompt payment of principal and interest in cash.

It is worth while pointing out once more that the first mortgage bonds, safeguarded under the Straus Plan, have behind them an unequalled record of safety—38 years without loss to any investor—and especially that the last six years of war and readjustment have tested all classes of securities as never before.

Can you afford to delay investigating the Straus Plan? We have just published a booklet telling how and why it has protected thousands of investors, with complete safety and prompt payment in cash for thirty-eight years. A copy is yours for the asking. Write or call, and specify

IT'S not a bit of trouble to have plenty of good things to eat on hand all the time, when you use Calumet Baking Powder.

It never allows baking trouble. You don't "dread" to bake. There is nothing to worry about—and that really is the hardest part of it.

Mix up a batch of biscuits—or the finest kind of cake—it's all the same. There is never but one result—the sweetest and most palatable of foods.

There is not as much worry over baking costs either. Because Calumet costs less—when you buy it—the price is moderate.

"—the Kind Mother Uses!"

CALUMET BAKING POWDER

It costs you less when you use it—because you don't use as much of it—it has more than the ordinary leavening strength.

You get more out of the flour, sugar, eggs, shortening, etc., because there are no failures—no waste.

The most critical of baking powder judges gave it highest awards, World's Pure Food Exposition, Chicago,—Paris Exposition, Paris, France.

The largest selling brand in the world.

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 oz. Some baking powders come in 12 oz. cans instead of 16 oz. cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

Calumet Doughnut Recipe

4 cups of pastry flour, 3 level teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder, ½ teaspoon of salt, 1 cup of sugar, 3 eggs, beaten together, 3 tablespoons of melted butter, 1 cup of milk. Then mix in the regular way.

THANKSGIVING PRAISES RISE.

Day's Church Services Are Attended by Hundreds.

Dean MacCormack Bids Us Hold to Ideals of Puritans.

Colorful Ceremonies Mark Catholic Observances.

Thanksgiving Day services drew thousands to the churches of Los Angeles yesterday, attendance being heavy at both morning and evening services. Features of the day were union services in various parts of the city, under the auspices of the Church Federation of Los Angeles. Impressive services were conducted as usual in the leading Episcopal churches and there were special masses in the Roman Catholic churches.

Pleading for a return to the Puritan ideal in American life, Dean William MacCormack delivered the sermon at the service at 10:45 a.m. in St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral. The service was preceded by the celebration of Holy Communion at 8 a.m. Dean MacCormack described Plymouth as the "cradle of American democracy." He deprecated the present-day tendency toward luxury and the selfish pursuit of material pleasures, and pointed out the danger to the political and social life in America by failure to follow the Puritan ideal of simplicity and high morality.

Dr. George Davidson, rector, preached the sermon at the services in St. John's Church. He also celebrated Holy Communion at the church in the morning.

Union services were conducted in Trinity Methodist Church, South, and at the First Baptist Church, downtown. Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher presided at the Trinity services and the invocation was offered by Dr. W. S. Dysinger. Rev. H. C. Shaffer read the scripture and the President's Thanksgiving Proclamation was read by Dr. E. J. Lickley. Dr. Hugh K. Walker spoke on the church federation work. Dr. James A. Francis preached the sermon; Dr. W. A. Betts offered the prayer, and Rev. R. P. Shuler pronounced the benediction.

Dr. Herbert Booth Smith presided at the services at the First Baptist Church. The scripture was read by Rev. Tilman Hobson, and Charles A. Baskerville read the President's Proclamation. Prayer was offered by Rev. G. Bromley, and Dr. Edgar F. Daugherty preached the sermon. Dr. James A. Francis presented the church federation work, and Rev. Robert H. Jones pronounced the benediction.

Union services were conducted also in churches of various denominations in the Echo Park, Hollywood, Wilshire, Westlake, South Vermont, Angeles Mesa, Robers Park, Vernon and Florence avenue, Southeast, Boyle Heights, Belvadere Heights, Highland Park, Lincoln Heights and Eagle Rock districts.

PORK, PIE AND SONGS FOR INMATES OF JAIL.

COUNTY PRISONERS GET GOOD THANKSGIVING DINNER AND SERANADE.

Thanksgiving cheer was not wanting yesterday in the County Jail, where 340 prisoners are now confined, as compared with 211 on the same date in 1919. In addition to an excellent dinner, with roast pork, candied sweet potatoes and mince pie, the inmates of the jail were treated to numerous lively songs furnished by the "plantation four," a colored quartet, including Ralph Bilbrew, George C. Copeland, Rexford Harris and William Harris. These four visited every tank, from the boarders' quarters to the darker cells in the basement of the jail, where, because of the crowded conditions, prisoners are kept.

A crowd gathered to listen to the music and afterwards to partake of the Thanksgiving dinner. Mrs. Maybelle Roe and Mrs. Julia Doane, who are awaiting a verdict on the charge of murder against them, and Albert Sichofsky, so-called Polish count, accused of embezzlement, were among the spectators.

A sample menu is that of the women's ward. It follows:

Soup
Ripe olives, green onions, radishes, celery, cucumbers.
Roast pork, brown gravy and apple sauce.
Cauliflower. Candied sweet potatoes.
Combination salad.
Mince, raisin and apple pie—plum pudding—fruit cake.
Raisins, nuts, apples.
Milk, tea, coffee.

There was little variation from this for the male prisoners in the jail.

It was stated by Jack Henry, in charge of the jail, that of the 340 persons in the County Jail, all but twelve are in for major crimes, including nearly every charge from grand larceny to murder. There are eighty Federal prisoners, accused of illegal entry to this country, violations of the Prohibition Act, use of narcotics and similar crimes. He stated that prisoners, if the present rate of increase is maintained, will have to sleep in the jail halls.

LAST TOUCHES TODAY ON PILGRIM PAGEANT.

FINAL DRESS REHEARSAL BY IMMENSE CAST SET FOR THIS MORNING.

Final dress rehearsal for the Thanksgiving pageant, "The Landing of the Pilgrims," to be presented by the Community Park and Art Association tomorrow at the Community Art Center, Highland avenue and Bolton Road, Hollywood, will be held today by the 1500 persons who will appear in the spectacle.

Carrying out the community spirit which the association represents and fosters, and in harmony with the atmosphere of the pageant, which is to celebrate the three hundredth anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrim fathers, the small army of actors, including 1000 school children, will gather around bonfires for their luncheon, after the first parts of the rehearsal are over.

The final touches to the decorations and scenery were being added yesterday by a force of artists from the Famous Players-Lasky studios, under direction of Rudolph Bylek. When the performance starts at 2 o'clock tomorrow, the beautiful canyon, which is to be turned into a community center and park, will present a fascinating sight, the directors of the affair say.
